CITY UNDER GUARD AGAINST RED PLOT THREATENED TODAY

RENT STRIKES FORBIDDEN

360 ARRESTS IN CHICAGO

Boston Guardsmen and Machine Guns in Readiness—Agitators Busy in Detroit and Milwaukee.

May Day will dawn upon a New York on guard as never before in its history against assassination and violence. Stirred by Attorney General Palmer's warning of an international plot in interest of Soviet Russia, in furtherance of which, he said, national figures the country over were marked for destruction, every force of law and order which the National, State and City Governments and private organizations could muster was made ready last night to protect those threatened and to strike swiftly in the event of Red hostility.

The authorities determined that not only should every ounce of force in the machinery of government be directed toward protecting those whose overt Americanism had made them outstanding targets for radical venom, but that the tiniest little "revolution" that might be started in this city, long the centre of Soviet activities, should be crushed with such telling decisiveness that not even momentary success would be allowed to give a false picture of American sentiment.

Extraordinary care is to be taken to prevent such bomb outrages as terrorized the country last June, when Mr. Palmer himself was the principal object of the radicals' rage, and this city felt its effect when an explosion occurred outside the home of Judge Charles Cooper Knott, killing a watchman on guard.

To Curb Trouble at Root.

Vigilance will be general throughout the five boroughs, with a particular watch maintained upon every announced gathering of a radical nature and every meeting place where such meetings are habitual. Special attention, however, is to be paid to two possible centres of trouble. One of these is the threatened rent strike in the Bronx and the Brownsville section of Brooklyn. This strike, while the authorities believed it would not occur, is to be suppressed rigorously if it does start. Both police and Government agents realized that the foreign-born, among whom it would spread if once it got under way, furnished the ripest sort of soil for anarchistic demonstration, and they were determined there should be no nucleus of this sort from which serious trouble might spread.

Another angle of watchfulness will lie in keeping guard over the loyalty parade of boys under the sponsorship of the Rotary Club, designed as an exhibition of the city's welfare activities in the interest of the young and as living proof of the younger generation's adherence to American principles. While the parade columns are marching, its route along Fifth Avenue will be bristling with uniformed policemen and detectives ready for instant action to suppress the faintest attempt at a counter demonstration.

All Police Force On Duty.

The police arrangements worked out by Commissioner Enright have not been paralleled since the department prepared for eventualities when the country stood on the threshold of war. Every one of the 11,000 patrolmen, officers and detectives went on duty or in reserve at midnight last night and will remain ready for any emergency until eight o'clock Monday morning and longer if needed. Ordinarily one-third of the men are off duty, one-third on patrol and one-third in reserve, but the Commissioner decided that all leaves should be cancelled and every available man either should be actively policing or on call inside a station house. Thus the entire department could be mobilized on the streets within a few minutes.

The order which put the whole force on the alert instructed all precinct captains that men on patrol were to keep keen watch on every home and haunt of troublemakers. They were directed to allow no men on reserve to leave the station houses for more than the few minutes necessary to eat in the neighborhood. The order affected detectives as well as the uniformed force and the extra vigilance of the specialized bomb squad will be reinforced by the watchfulness of all the seven hundred plain clothes men in the department.

Extra patrolmen were assigned to guard the Public Library at Fifth Avenue and Forty-second Street, the Pennsylvania Station and the General Post Office. J. P. Morgan had private detectives on guard inside and outside his residence at 231 Madison Avenue.

State Guard Is Ready.

The State Guard is ready to reinforce Federal and city officials in the event of disorder. While it was not actually mobilized, sufficient preparation was made so that its 8,000 men could be assembled in their armories inside of two hours. Colonel Edward McAleer, Adjutant to Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan,

Guardsmen Out in Hartford on Rumor of Wide Bomb Plot

HARTFORD, Conn., May 1.—Colonel Charles W. Burpee of the First State Guard Regiment here called his staff out at 1:10 o'clock this morning.

There was much secrecy about the summons and the cause for the call.

It was given out by Colonel Bupree that the call was sent to the Guard because of a telephone tip that the Capitol building, State Armory and East Hartford Bridge were to be blown up before dawn.

Telephone calls for members of the Guard were put in and within half an hour about seventy-five men had responded.

The Capitol was heavily guarded and at 2 o'clock a cordon was thrown around the armory, while a detail was on its way to the East Hartford Bridge.

FLIES HERE FROM FLORIDA IN A DAY

ONE STOP IN 1,500 MILES

Driving Rainstorm Fails to Hamper Flight—Descends on Hudson in Darkness.

Miami, Fla., and New York City became less than a day traveling distance apart when at 8:35 last night an H S 2-L flying boat landed in the Hudson River off Eighty-sixth Street, having made a straightaway flight from the Southern city in 15 hours and 35 minutes flying time, allowing an hour's difference for local daylight saving. The plane, whose coming was practically unheralded, left Miami at 3 A. M yesterday morning and come down only once for gasoline at Morehead City, N. C.

The flying boat was piloted on the journey, the greater part of which was in a driving rainstorm, by Harry Rogers and Sidney Schroeder. Edward P. Bohn, a mechanic, also accompanied the craft on its flight northward. The landing of the huge craft in front of the Columbia Yacht Club landing was a tribute to the skill of Rogers and Schroeder, as total darkness had set in when the whirr of their motors was heard by residents of Riverside Drive.

Those who witnessed the descent of the plane were apprehensive lest in the darkness, the pilots might misjudge the distance to the river, but their fears were allayed when a few minutes after the green and red lights on the craft were observed, they saw the plane gracefully rest on the surface of the river. The pilots then taxied their plane inshore where Nicholas Reinhardt, General Manager of the Aero, Ltd., owners of the craft, and a few friends were on hand to congratulated the aviators on their feat.

Brought Greeting to Mayor.

The aviators brought with them a letter of greeting from Mayor William P. Smith of Miami to Mayor Hylan. E. G. Sewell, President of the Miami Chamber of Commerce, sent a message to the officials of the Chamber of Commerce here. Copies of The Miami Herald of yesterday morning's issue, addressed to THE NEW YORK TIMES, and other newspaper were also carried in the plane. T. D. Dunn, a jeweler in the Southern city, availed himself of the opportunity of sending an eight-karat diamond ring, addressed to his Atlantic City store, by the HS—2L.

"We left Miami at 3 o'clock this morning, standard time, for the fifteen hundred mile hopoff," Rogers said. "It seemed to us as if the entire population of the city had stayed up all night to see us off and wish us bon voyage. We flew along the coast line and ten and a half hours later we came down at Morehead City, N. C., to replenish our fuel supply. The limit of our fuel capacity was 400 gallons. Had we had the necessary space there is no doubt that we could have come all the way without a stop.

"We left Morehead City about 2:30 this afternoon. When we got up near Virginia we ran into a heavy rainstorm which, while it made our trip slightly rough, did not impede our progress northward. The trip in the main was uneventful. Of course, it was dark when we arrived in New York, but we had no difficulty in making a safe landing. The behavior of the craft throughout the whole trip was splendid."

Rogers said that he based his actual flying time between the two cities on the Standard time, which made his landing here at 7:35 P. M.

Six-Passenger Plane.

The H S 2-L is a six-pasenger plane of the type used by the navy in the war. It is equipped with a 400-horsepower Liberty engine. It has a wing spread of sixty feet. "Miss Miami," as the plane was christened before leaving Miami, was brought here by the Aero, Ltd., to be placed in passenger service between New York and Boston. The same company has been operating lines between Miami and Bimini, the nearest "wet" spot to Florida.

The Miami Herald sent the following greeting to New York:

"From the youngest, liveliest and most enterprising of all cities of the Southland, from the metropolis of the palm-shaded, wave-lapped shores of sunny Florida, in the early hours of this morning there started an airplane to the metropolis of the nation—New York, the wonderful—and with it go the good wishes of this far-south city.

"The Herald has the honor of sending

Four-Hour Session Ends at Midnight with No Decision Reached.

SHARP DIFFERENCES SHOWN

"COWARDS!" CRIES FORDNEY

But Members Refuse to Take Action and More Delay Is Certain.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—After a long and sometimes stormy session, the Republican members of the House of Representatives adjourned a caucus not long before midnight tonight without coming to any decision on the bonus bill reported today by the Ways and Means Committee to provide bonuses for former soldiers and sailors of the World War.

The climax of the session was a speech by Representative Fordney of Michigan, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, in which he charged his party associates with cowardice in not acting on the measure. He wanted action then and there, but the opposition to the bill was too great, and an adjournment was taken, subject to the call of the caucus Chairman.

This means that the bill will not be brought up in the House on Monday, as was planned, and that its consideration has been indefinitely postponed. When it will be brought forward in the House is problematical.

Sixty-eight Republican members signed a round robin opposing the sales tax proposed in the bill, and it was evident that, with this great dissension, the caucus would not indorse the measure in its present form.

Opposed to Sales Tax.

Chairman Fordney, principal sponsor for the Ways and Means Committee bill, offered a resolution in the caucus to indorse the measure as it was reported from the committee. A substitute offered by Representative Little of Kansas provided for deleting the sales tax section and substituting provisions for raising the necessary revenue to pay the bonus by increasing income surtaxes. Representative Johnson of South Dakota, who served in the war, offered another proposal for the elimination of the sales tax and directing the Ways and Means Committee to find other means for raising the bonus revenue.

Mr. Morgan of Oklahoma put forward a substitute for the land and homes feature, which would provide a fund of $100,000,000 to enable ex-service men to buy farms and homes.

No vote was taken on any of these proposals. Many members said they had not had time to study the Ways and Means Committee measure, and did not care to vote until they had had the opportunity to do so.

The opinion of many well-informed Republicans is that a mistake has been made in taking up bonus legislation at this time, and that the party adherents in the House have placed themselves in a position that will embarrass them in the coming national campaign.

Bill Reported to House.

The bill to provide bonuses for ex-service men, carrying the largest appropriation of any single legislation since the armistice of November, 1918, and levying approximately $1,000,000,000 a year through increased and new forms of taxation, was reported to the House by the Ways and Means Committee early in the day. The vote in committee was 11 to 10.

Two Republicans of the committee joined with the minority—Representatives Young of North Dakota and Frear of Wisconsin; both of whom are opposed to the taxation plans. Two Democrats, Kitchin of North Carolina and Carey of New York, and two Republicans, Treadway of Massachusetts and Copley of Illinois, were absent.

Led by Representative Garner of Texas, the Democrats tried unsuccessfully to substitute a retroactive war profits tax for the sales tax. This fight

Limit Judge's Board to $5 a Day Despite High Cost of Living

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 30.—Regardless of the high cost of living, $4.50 to $5.50 per day for meals is too much for even a Judge to pay, State Auditor Donahey ruled today in disapproving the expense accounts of two Cleveland Appellate Judges.

The accounts had been presented by Judges Willis Vickery and T. S. Dunlap as part of their expenses while holding court in Akron.

Donahey wrote to them that they would be limited to $5 per day for meals and lodging "the same as is allowed other State officials."

DANIELS TO SPEAK BY RADIO TODAY

Navy Secretary, on Flagship Pennsylvania, Will Address Times Square Crowds.

MESSAGE DUE AT 10 A. M.

Amplifiers in Times Building to Make Tones Audible Above Traffic's Roar.

At about 10 o'clock this morning Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, will address the people of New York in Times Square, speaking by wireless telephone from the deck of the battleship Pennsylvania as the Atlantic fleet steams through the Narrows on its way here from Winter manoeuvres in Cuban waters.

Navy wireless experts were busy all day yesterday in the Radio Receiving Station of THE NEW YORK TIMES in the tower of the Times Building, installing a formidable array of instruments designed to amplify the reproduction of Mr. Daniels's voice so that it can be heard above the traffic noises of Times Square. A receiving horn, resembling that on the old-fashioned phonograph, attached to a "magnavox" will be placed in the second story window of the north side of the Times Building to project Mr. Daniels's greetings from Admiral Wilson's flagship.

Secretary Daniels boarded the Pennsylvania yesterday afternoon off the Virginia Capes, and early today operators in THE TIMES receiving station have been tuning their instruments with the Pennsylvania's wireless. Some local disturbance has been encountered through the high office buildings which render it necessary for the Pennsylvania to be within a few miles of the city before the experiment can be conducted. Two other radio stations, the navy plant at Rockaway and the Brooklyn Navy Yard, will pick up Mr. Daniels's speech, and in case local interference in the neighborhood of the Times Square antennae causes trouble, arrangements have been made so that telephone wires running from the Rockaway station to the "magnavox" at Times Square will carry Mr. Daniels's voice.

First Talk to Street Crowd.

The navy has carried on "duplex" telephone conversations between ship and shore, Secretary Daniels, on board the George Washington, at one time speaking with the Navy Department, but this is said to be the first experiment conducted by the navy where a speaker on board a vessel had addressed a street crowd.

As soon as the Pennsylvania reaches Ambrose Channel Lightship, the instruments of all three stations at Times Square, Brooklyn and Rockaway will be in constant tune with the flagship's wireless until the time of the experiment, which is scheduled for 10 o'clock. It may be necessary, navy wireless officials admit, for other radio plants in the vicinity of New York to remain silent, except in case of emergency, until after Secretary Daniels has finished speaking. If the radio telephone conversations with the Pennsylvania are interrupted by other messages, either voice or in telegrapher's code, it will only require a moment for the District Communication Superintendent of the Third Naval District, Lieutenant Commander R. B. Coffman, to authorize a message asking temporary cessation of wireless activities in the vicinity of New York until the experiment has been completed.

The special "magnavox," which intensifies the voice reproduced by radio

Mrs. Archibald Roosevelt Is Quizzed At Revolver Point by Chicago Detective

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Mrs. Archibald Roosevelt, daughter-in-law of the late ex-President, was stopped on Michigan Boulevard today at the point of a revolver in the hands of an overzealous city detective who suspected her of being a burglar—possibly the mysterious "woman in black," who has been discussed in the case of Harrigan, the burglar, who was shot to death by the police on Sunday night.

Mrs. Roosevelt was not arrested, but the statement of her identity was received with considerable doubt.

Mrs. Roosevelt was on her way to the La Salle Street Station in her automobile to take a train for New York, whence she will sail for Panama to join her husband. At Randolph Street and Michigan Avenue the car was halted by the crush of traffic, and caught the eye of Detective Sergeant Donnelly of Chief Garrity's office. He noticed a pile of suitcases and a fashionably dressed young woman, and he stepped over to investigate.

When he found that the car had no license plate he drew his pistol and issued a sharp command to the chauffeur to pull over to the curb. A crowd of pedestrians halted to witness what promised to a spectacular arrest.

Donnelly, with visions of the "woman in black," opened the tonneau door.

"Who are you, Madam?" he inquired.

"I am the daughter-in-law of Theodore Roosevelt, former President of the United States," said Mrs. Roosevelt in surprise.

The detective showed his star. He did not relinquish his hold on his pistol.

"Have you any cards that will prove your identity?" he asked.

"Certainly," said Mrs. Roosevelt, producing her handbag and exhibiting several letters and visiting cards.

The detective was nonplused but not convinced. After a moment's hesitation he consented to let her proceed, but ordered the chauffeur to report to Chief of Police Garrity as soon as the woman had been taken to the La Salle Street Station.

Later the chauffeur appeared as instructed. He gave his names as James O'Sullivan and explained that Mrs. Roosevelt was really Mrs. Roosevelt. The license tag, he said, must have been lost in the trip from her home to the Loop.

CARRANZA TO FLEE FROM MEXICO CITY, WASHINGTON HEARS

American Agents Are Instructed to Watch for His Possible Appearance Here.

VERA CRUZ FEARS TROUBLE

American Residents There Ask for Warship to be Held in Readiness.

REBELS HOLD CHIHUAHUA

Obregon Is Considered Likely to be Organizing for Attack on the Capital.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Information regarded as of the most reliable character has been received in Washington to the effect that President Carranza is preparing to flee from Mexico.

The Government was so much impressed with this intelligence that it is understood to have sent instructions to Federal agents along the border to closely watch for the appearance of Carranza

The information reaching here indicated that Carranza might leave Mexico by way either of Vera Cruz or the American border. That it has a sound basis is not doubted.

What would be the course of the United States Government should Carranza seek to cross the international boundary into this country, or arrive on a ship at an American port, is not known. The supposition is that he would be given asylum.

The advices concerning Carranza's reported plans for flight, taken in connection with other information reaching Washington, indicates that the revolutionary movement which began in the State of Sonora has become widespread and is likely to be successful. Every day brings news of some fresh revolt against Carranza's authority.

Want Warships at Vera Cruz.

WASHINGTON, April 30 (Associated Press).—The State Department received an exhaustive report today on conditions in Vera Cruz from an American in that city.

The report urged that warships be kept in readiness for dispatch to Vera Cruz should the need arise. Although Vera Cruz was said to be quiet, there were grave possibilities of trouble there, the report said.

Official advices today from various parts of Mexico indicate a steady growth of the revolutionary movement and rapid co-ordination with the Sonora revolt of many of the rebel bands which have been operating independently.

The possibility of General Obregon taking the field in person for an attack on Mexico City was forecast in these reports, which said that the rebels of Michoacan, Querrero and Morelos had declared themselves a unit with the Sonora Army.

Through official channels it was learned today that Federal forces still hold the port of Frontera, the only part of that section of Mexico not controlled by the rebels since General Carlos Greene, Federal Commander and Military Governor of Tabasco, revolted.

AGUA PRIETA, Sonora, April 30.—Chihuahua City is definitely in the hands of the revolutionists, it was announced by General P. Elias Calles tonight.

Chihuahua is one of the largest cities in Northern Mexico. It has a population of approximately 40,000.

General Ignacio Enriquez, candidate for Governor of Chihuahua, according to General Calles, was at Santa Ysabel with 4,500 State militia marching toward Chihuahua to reinforce General Eugenio Martinez and Colonel Francisco del Arco, former Federal commanders who deserted with their troops.

Telegraphic communication was established between Chihuahua City, Santa Ysabel, Hermosillo, capital of Sonora, and military headquarters here shortly before 7 o'clock tonight. General Calles said he was in direct communication with General Enriquez.

General P. Elias Calles, commander of the revolutionary forces in Northwest Mexico, said today that the rebels were doing little in aggressive campaigning until the fullest strength possible was mustered.

He said the plan was based on two reasons, one being the desire to be fully prepared for any military situation which might arise and the other to gain all the strength possible without bloodshed.

EL PASO, Texas, April 30.—With Chihuahua City still cut off from telegraph communication, both the Mexican Federal authorities and the Obregon junta today claimed control of the city.

Confirmation of the capture by the revolting troops of General Emilio Salinas, brother-in-law of President Carranza and acting Governor of Chihuahua, was said to have been received by the Sonora junta here. Salinas is still held prisoner, the report stated, by General Eugenio Martinez, who, it is claimed, is in possession of the city.

The dispatch of reinforcements for the Chihuahua City loyal troops and also for the revolting garrison, which went over to the Sonora revolutionary movement, presented possibilities for a serious clash, said observers here today.

Possession by the rebels of the Chihuahua State capital would mean a seri-

OLD GUARD BRINGS OUT KNOX FOR PRESIDENT TO MAKE THE ISSUE ON THE PEACE TREATY; PENROSE PUTS HIM UP AFTER CONFERENCE

Knox Called 'Best Equipped International Statesman' By Penrose in Suggesting Him as Candidate

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—Senator Boies Penrose, breaking his silence today on Republican Presidential possibilities, declared for Senator Knox, his colleague from this State. Mr. Penrose made his declaration after a review and analysis of the recent primaries in various States.

"The primaries do not seem to have developed any paramount candidates," Senator Penrose said at his home. "If we are to be asked to take up a candidate of the type of the Governor of Illinois, we have a right immediately to turn in with all our strength for Governor Sproul.

"My own personal opinion, after considerable reflection and without consulting the principal party concerned, or any one else, and without any knowledge as to whether he would take the place, has recently persuaded me that Senator Knox is the best equipped, all-around international statesman to meet the requirements of the present situation who is available in public life.

"While doubtless several other candidates could be nominated and elected, I especially believe a unanimity could be secured on Senator Knox with considerable ease and facility."

BRING IN KNOX DRAFT OF PEACE RESOLUTION

DEBATE OPENS WEDNESDAY

Pennsylvania Senator to Speak First—Hitchcock Concedes Passage, but Predicts Veto.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—By a strict party vote the Knox peace resolution repealing the declarations of war against imperial Germany and the Austro-Hungarian Empire was reported favorably from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today.

Senator Lodge, the majority leader, announced that he would call up the resolution in the Senate next Wednesday. Senator Knox gave notice that he would deliver a set speech in opening debate on that day.

The adoption of the resolution in the Senate was conceded by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, Democrat, but he predicted that the President would promptly veto it and possibly send the Versailles Treaty back to the Senate at the same time. Democrats, with one or two exceptions, would oppose the resolution, Senator Hitchcock said.

The attitude of the mild reservationist Republicans is in doubt, but it is expected that they will limit any possible opposition to efforts for amending the Knox measure. Senator McCumber of North Dakota, Republican, may move to substitute his pending resolution which would restore commercial relations but not declare a state of peace. According to one report, Mr. McCumber said privately that he would oppose the Knox resolution and that he expected the same stand to be taken by others of the "mild" group.

Hitchcock to Lead Opposition.

Senator Hitchcock will lead the opposition to the Knox resolution. Senator Underwood of Alabama, recently elected Democratic leader, announced that he would back up Mr. Hitchcock in every move.

The Knox resolution, as revised, provides for repeal of the two declarations of war and retention by this Government of all enemy property seized during the war until American claims are settled by enemy Governments, requests the President to open negotiations looking to resumption of friendly relations and commercial intercourse with Germany and the countries formerly a part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, fixes the time when the resolution becomes effective as the date of the termination of the war for legal purposes, and retains for this Government all rights, privileges, indemnities and reparations granted by the armistice and the Treaty of Versailles. It does not repeal wartime legislation, but permits it to expire as provided by individual statutes.

The Senate substitute does not contain the provision in the House resolution declaring a trade embargo penalty unless Germany accepts the resolution within forty-five days.

Text of the Resolution.

The resolution reads:

"Joint resolution repealing the joint resolution of April 6, 1917, declaring a state of war to exist between the United States and Germany, and the joint resolution of Dec. 7, 1917, declaring that a state of war exists between the United States and the Austro-Hungarian Government.

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, that th joint resolution of Congress passed April 6, 1917, declaring a state of war to exist between the imperial German Government and the Government and people of the United States, and making provisions to prosecute the same, be, and the same is herey repealed, and said state of war is hereby declared at an end:

MOVE BY PENROSE STIRS PHILADELPHIA

Taken by Some as Hit at Sproul, but Governor Himself Backs Knox.

TIMED WITH LEADERS' VISIT

Virginia and Kansas Committeemen Had a Talk with Penrose.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—Profound interest was excited in political circles today by the publication of an interview with Senator Boies Penrose wherein he indorsed with emphasis his colleague, Senator Philander C. Knox, as a candidate for the Presidency.

Among the friends of Governor Sproul the statement of the Senator was not regarded as a slap at the movement to make the Governor the nominee, although that was the view taken in some quarters.

Later, however, Governor Sproul came out in an interview cordially indorsing Knox's candidacy.

"These suggestions of Senator Knox have been made in a great many influential quarters," the Governor asserted. "In Washington a great many people, representative of various sections and various lines of thought, are turning toward him.

"The well-known friendship between him and Senator Johnson has aided in turning attention to Senator Knox's availability. It seems to me that Senator Johnson's strength, as shown in the primaries of several States which have recently voted, would indicate that his support will be a powerful factor in the convention.

"Close observers think that much of the unexpected strength shown by Senator Johnson is due to his stand on the League of Nations. Senator Knox represents the same point of view, and I agree with Senator Penrose that he is probably the best equipped international statesman and ranks with Senator Lodge in his position in the Senate."

Senator Penrose's indorsement of Knox was regarded as significant, because of visits made to Penrose today by Representative Bascom Slemp, National Committeeman from Virginia, and David Mulvane, National Committeeman from Kansas.

Hays to Visit Penrose Today.

The Virginia delegation is pledged to Lowden, while the Kansas delegation is unpledged. The Senator tomorrow will be visited by Will H. Hays, Republican National Chairman, and possibly Harry M. Daugherty, Senator Harding's campaign manager.

Senator Penrose believes the various State primaries virtually have eliminated the "small fry" candidates for the Republican nomination.

Senator Penrose was asked his views on the California Senator's alleged radicalism.

"From some points of view Senator Johnson is a radical," he replied.

Commenting on the Virginia delegation's allegiance to Lowden, Mr. Penrose said "They were driven to indorse Lowden by the attempts of General Wood to get the State."

Representative Slemp, after his conference with Penrose, eulogized Knox.

"Senator Knox is perhaps the leading outstanding character in the United States," the Virginian asserted, "and has a national and international reputation. He occupies a peculiar position in that he is acceptable to the progressives of the West and the business elements in the East."

W. C. Osborn Out for Senator.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 30.—Announcement was made here today that William Church Osborn, of Garrison, is to be a candidate for the nomination as United States Senator from New York State on the Democratic ticket at the September primaries. Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was indorsed for the nomination by the Dutchess County Democratic Committee, has not yet decided as to entering the race, it was said.

SENATORS BOOMING KNOX

The "Whispered" Dark Horse Is Brought Into the Open.

JOHNSON'S CANDIDACY AIDS

They Hold His Campaign Has Shown the Unpopularity of the Treaty.

HARDING NOW ABANDONED

Candidacy of the Pennsylvania Senator Is to be Pushed with Great Vigor.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Developments today indicated that a new deal is in progress with reference to naming the Republican candidate for President of the United States. Coincident with the publication of an interview in Philadelphia with Senator Penrose advocating the nomination of Senator Philander C. Knox for President, Republican Senators and Representatives began talking seriously of Mr. Knox as the dark horse of the Republican contest. This talk was begun before Mr. Penrose gave out his interview.

The situation was also made interesting by the fact that Mr. Penrose was visited in Philadelphia today by Representative Bascom Slemp, National Committeeman for Virginia, and David Mulvane, National Committeeman for Kansas.

Senator Penrose has been recognized as the leader of that contingent of the Republican Party known as the Old Guard. Congressman Slemp and Mr. Mulvane are of the Old Guard. The sudden switch of the Old Guard tactics is of the greatest significance, and the fact that its members have come out openly for Senator Knox makes the situation of the utmost interest.

The progress made by General Leonard Wood for the Presidential nomination, and to a less extent the progress made in the same direction by Senator Hiram Johnson of California, have worried the Old Guard considerably.

At the outset of the pre-convention campaign the Old Guard virtually committed itself to the aspirations of Senator Harding of Ohio for the Republican nomination. It was not a full commitment, however. Senator Harding, it is understood, was told by Old Guard leaders that they would be for him if he could "make good," and he was told to go before the people and see what sort of reception he got.

His recent experiences in primaries and particularly the fact that he will have to divide with General Wood, the delegation of his own State at the Chicago convention convinced his supporters that he could not be nominated. They are saying so openly and the announcement of Senator Penrose today that he was for the nomination of Senator Knox shows that Harding has been abandoned by the Old Guard.

Sought to Weaken General Wood.

Another chapter in the Republican pre-convention situation was begun when General Wood's strength with the voters of the country was first shown. It is being asserted that Senator Johnson was encouraged to make his campaign for the Presidential nomination in order to weaken General Wood. Johnson began making a vigorous campaign and attacked Wood on the ground that he had accepted large contributions for campaign expenses from "big business."

The progress made by Johnson, a bitter opponent of the Peace Treaty, in State primaries gave the Old Guard the impression that it would not hurt Republican chances in November to have the Peace Treaty made an issue with the Republican Party committed to the action of the Senate in practically rejecting the League of Nations covenant. The Old Guard felt that the support that he had received in primary elections showed that President Wilson's challenge to make the treaty a campaign issue might well be accepted. But the Old Guard does not want Johnson. He is regarded as an ultra-radical in Republican politics, and generally he is not popular with Republican Senators, even those who do not subscribe to the Old Guard leadership.

Making an Issue of the Treaty.

The problem confronting the Old Guard, particularly after the primaries in New Jersey and Ohio last Tuesday, was how to head off both Johnson and Wood. Suggestions were made that the bitterness between these two candidates had become so pronounced that neither would consent to the nomination of the other, and for this reason it would be necessary to choose a dark horse. The espousal of Senator Knox by Senator Penrose and others who were considered to be favorable to Harding indicates that the dark horse is Knox and that the Old Guard leaders have decided that it is best to bring him out now instead of waiting until the Chicago convention is in session before pressing his candidacy.

As the situation is now presented the Republican Senate leaders are seeking to put forward as their standard bearer a man who will make the treaty an issue in the campaign. Senator Knox was one of the foremost opponents of the League of Nations. He is the author of the resolution offered in the Senate today declaring the state of war with Germany at an end. He is also one of Senator Lodge's principal lieutenants on the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, which loaded down the League covenant with reservations that ultimately brought about its rejection, and along with it the rejection of the Versailles treaty.

All these developments, and especially those of today, go to show that the Republican leaders in the Senate have laid their plan to nominate the party's candidate for President of the United States regardless of the expression of Republican voters through the primaries. In Senator Knox they feel they have a strong candidate, for Mr. Knox was a member of President Roosevelt's Cabinet and has the good-will of many of the progressive element of the party. He is a close friend also of Senator Johnson, who ran for Vice President with Colonel Roosevelt, when the latter was the Progressive Party's candidate for President in 1912.

It is apparent that in bringing Senator Knox forward, Senator Penrose and the Republican leaders hope to wean from General Wood a considerable portion of the strength he has developed among the admirers of Colonel Roosevelt, who was his close friend and to whom Wood always gave his support.

Knox Candidacy to Be Pushed.

From now on the Knox candidacy will be pushed with great vigor. He has not been named in any State primary contest but those Republican chieftains who have entered into an arrangement to espouse his candidacy are evidently of the opinion that the situation will force many delegates to the Chicago convention who are committed to Wood, Johnson, Harding and Lowden to come over into the Knox camp.

It had been the intention of Republican leaders in Pennsylvania to send an uninstructed State delegation to the Chicago convention with the understanding that they would cast a complimentary ballot or two for Governor Sproul, and thus keep their attitude in the dark until the situation justified them in committing themselves to some other aspirant for the Presidential nomination. However, the elimination of Harding and the strength developed by Wood and Johnson have obviously forced a change of plans.

From all indications the Old Guard intends to accept President Wilson's challenge to make the peace treaty an issue in the campaign and will put Senator Knox forward as the exponent of the Republican position as shown by the opposition to the League covenant on the Republican side of the Senate.

In the talk among Old Guard leaders Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas is mentioned as a possible candidate for Vice President on a ticket with Senator Knox.

Governor Allen was in Washington this week and saw a number of Republican Senators and Representatives, upon whom he is said to have made an excellent impression. His vigorous handling of the Kansas coal strike situation has brought him many compliments. In Republican politics Governor Allen has always been a pronounced Progressive and a sympathizer with labor, and his stand against labor radicalism is looked upon as showing him to be a man of great courage who puts the general good above the political advantage that might be gained by catering to the labor vote.

Lowden Faces Thompson Strength.

Governor Lowden's candidacy will be put to the test, according to Republican politicians, when the Illinois Republican Convention assembles on May 10. Over this assemblage looms the shadow of Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago, whose attitude during the participation of the United States in the World War and prior to it, and the accusations against him of following machine methods, have made him unpopular with a large element in his party and the State and the country.

Mayor Thompson controls seventeen delegates to the National Convention, all from Chicago, and probably three others from other parts in the State. This will give him a degree of power in the national councils of his party. Governor Lowden is believed, however, to be strong enough to control the State Convention if he will assert himself against Thompson and prevent the latter from dominating the Republican political machinery of the State.

Thompson aims to control the Republican State Committee and to have himself re-elected as the member of the National Committee from Illinois. If he should be allowed to control the State convention he would be able to name the delegates at large to the national convention, eight in number, for in addition to her two Senators, for whom four delegates at large are allowed, Illinois has two Congressmen at large, who will be represented by four delegates at large.

Illinois will have fifty-eight delegates in the Chicago convention, so if Thompson controls the eight at large, seventeen from Chicago districts and three from other districts, he will have twenty-eight votes, or only two less than a majority of the delegation.

Should Governor Lowden permit Thompson to have his way in controlling the State convention, choosing the delegates at large and naming himself as national committeeman he is certain, it is said, to lose favor with many of those who are now loyal to his candidacy but who will not tolerate anything that looks like a deal with the Mayor of Chicago.

KNOX THE 'WHISPERED' CANDIDATE IN WEST

First Heard of After Nebraska Voted and Johnson Began to Loom Up.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Political leaders haunting those corridors of the Congress Hotel known as "Presidential Row" were discussing an entirely new slate of Presidential candidates, and with some degree of favor. The latest suggestion is that the Republican ticket chosen at the National Convention will be headed by Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania and that the Vice Presidential candidate will be Henry J. Allen, Governor of Kansas.

It is considered significant that Lieutenant Governor John G. Oglesby of this State is one of those who have discussed with approbation the Knox-Allen ticket, although with reservations. He put it this way:

"If Governor Lowden is not nominated, it will be Knox and Allen. Mind you, I have not given up the idea that Governor Lowden will be nominated, but if it isn't Lowden it will be Knox, and if it is Knox, Allen will be his running mate."

It is pointed out that the growing strength of Senator Hiram Johnson of California has served to bring Senator Knox's name more prominently to the front. There are reports that there has been talk about Knox in the East since the Michigan primary.

According to the view here, the Old Guard sees a way to nominate one of its men without causing Johnson to bolt again. They figure that on the first ballots Johnson is going to show much strength, and they intend to prolong the convention and grind him down slowly. Then they will bring forward his personal friend, Knox, and they believe Johnson will support Knox as he would support no other Old Guard man.

Governor Allen has been working for the nomination of General Wood. He is a Progressive, and was for Roosevelt in 1912. There is not much friendship between him and Johnson, however, it is said, but it is believed this can be patched up and that Johnson would agree to Allen if Knox wished it.

While there is no evidence here of a concerted plan by members of the Old Guard to boom Knox for the nomination at this juncture in an effort to eliminate Wood, it is regarded as curious that with the first publication in Chicago of the suggestion that Knox might be an acceptable dark horse candidate in the event of a long drawn out struggle in the National Convention an interview with Senator Penrose should come out in Philadelphia in which he declared Knox to be his choice for the nomination.

Senator Knox's name has been whispered along "Presidential Row" for several days, but there was nothing tangible to the suggestion until Lieut. Gov. Oglesby made his prediction today that "if Lowden isn't nominated it will be Knox and Allen." Then the mention of Knox's name became significant, for if Lowden fails to carry the Indiana primary on Tuesday his chances of capturing the Presidential nomination are thought here by many to be remote.

The day's developments led to inquiries as to how, when and where Knox's name was projected into the campaign, and tonight it was learned that it was immediately after the close of the Nebraska primaries, when Johnson won. Then the Old Guard sat up and took notice. They came to the conclusion that Johnson's candidacy was dangerous to their plans, and the word went forth to whisper the name of Knox as a probable dark horse. The whispering was conducted successfully, and reached most of the Western States. It even extended to Oregon, and then back to "Presidential Row" in the Congress Hotel, where today it took concrete form with Oglesby's announcement.

"Senator Knox's name has been popping around the West ever since the Nebraska primary," said a man tonight who had thorough knowledge of the political situation and had just returned from the coast. "It has even been whispered around in Oregon that Mr. Knox is the dark horse who will win. The Old Guard, the standpatters of the Boies Penrose type, are alarmed at the strength displayed by Senator Johnson and are going to do their best to eliminate him by grinding him down slowly. But they realize that in order to have a strong ticket they have to nominate somebody whom Johnson will support. In other words, they find that the Johnson strength is a militant strength and must not be angered unnecessarily. When they throw him out they will have to nominate somebody that Johnson won't bolt. In fact, it is some of Johnson's old friends who have been whispering Knox's name. So far, it has been only a whispering campaign, based on the theory that Johnson would not bolt Knox."

One of the reasons of turning attention to Knox, it is said, is the close friendship between him and Johnson. When the Californian went to Washington as a Senator he was shunned by nearly all the Old Guard leaders, who remembered the "Bull Moose" bolt in 1912. Knox, it is said, was one of the few who was civil to Roosevelt's running mate. Out of this civility grew a friendship which survived the defeat of Hughes in 1916, when California's votes went to Wilson, partly because Hughes ignored Johnson when he visited California.

The Knox and Johnson families visit back and forth at each other's homes in Washington, and are very close.

Knox discovered that Johnson really wore no bull moose antlers and Johnson found that Knox had no horns.

If Mayor Thompson controls the Illinois delegation, as is expected, it seems certain that Knox will have to be nominated without this State's votes. Knox represents ideas which Thompson has fought.

The suggestion of Allen as Knox's running mate is not taken seriously here. It is regarded as a sop to General Wood, since he and Allen are close friends. The American Federation of Labor is violently opposed to Allen and his policies and many hold that the party could not afford to put him on the ticket unless it wished to antagonize the labor vote.

SAYS JOHNSON WON'T BOLT.

Eastern Campaign Manager Declares Senator Seeks Party Harmony.

If Senator Hiram W. Johnson is not nominated at the Republican National Convention he will not hold any grudges and will not head a third party ticket, no matter how much William R. Hearst or any one else may urge him, was the assertion made yesterday by Angus McSween, Senator Johnson's Eastern campaign manager.

Mr. McSween said any talk of a "bolt" by Senator Johnson was "absurd and unwarranted." It might as well be charged, he said, that the California Senator intended robbing a bank.

One report that Senator Johnson intended to head a third party ticket came from Harry Chandler of The Los Angeles Times. It was asserted that William R. Hearst was behind the movement to make Senator Johnson the Republican nominee and, if this plan fell through, to undertake the formation of a third party which Senator Johnson would head.

Mr. Chandler said that if Senator Johnson was nominated and elected, Mr. Hearst would dominate him as completely as he dominates Mayor Hylan.

"When Senator Johnson opened his campaign three months ago he declared in substance that, whatever was the outcome of the Chicago Conventio, the Republican Party must continue in harmonious agreement in order that there should be no question of the establishment of a Republican Administration," said Mr. McSween. "From time to time statements have been issued by opponents of Senator Johnson, the effect of which might easily tend to destroy in the party that very harmony for which Senator Johnson has so strongly declared.

"The charge that he intends to bolt the convention is so absurd and so unwarranted that it should not be dignified by any attention from us. The authors of it might say with just as good basis after the campaign that Senator Johnson planned to go and rob a bank. If there is a third party, Senator Johnson will have nothing to do with it, but he cannot stop it organization any more than can General Wood."

"What about the appeal of the pro-Germans to support him?" Mr. McSween was asked.

"Any voter, whether born here or naturalized, has a right to express his preference," said Mr. McSween. "If he is denied that right, then we had better change our form of government."

RECOUNT IN JERSEY IS ASKED OF COURT

Counsel for Senator Johnson Makes Application to Chief Justice Gummere.

Complete Returns Give General 52,497, Johnson 51,405—Nugent-Edwards Break Expected.

Application for an order granting a recount of the votes cast at last Tuesday's Presidential preference primary in New Jersey between Major Gen. Leonard Wood and United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson was made last night before Chief Justice William S. Gummere at his home in Newark by Harry Kalisch, a Newark attorney, representing the managers of Senator Johnson's campaign. Justice Gummere took the application under consideration and said he would make known his decision in court this morning.

It is the first time in the history of New Jersey that an application has been made to have the votes cast in the entire State recounted, and as it is the first time that a preferential election has been held, many legal questions are involved which the Justice said he would have to consider carefully. In their application, the Johnson managers do not charge fraud was committed, but allege that errors were made in the count of the ballots by election district inspectors.

The various county boards of elections will be asked to furnish an estimate of the cost of such a proceeding, if a recount is granted. It is estimated that such a proceeding will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, but the Johnson managers hope to avoid this expense by having the ballots in five counties counted first. If it should be shown that no errors or fraud was committed, it is then purposed to drop all further proceedings.

The five counties in which the Johnson people want the ballots examined first are Essex, Morris, Gloucester, Camden and Cape May. If it should be shown that Senator Johnson defeated his rival the State will be obliged to pay the expense of the recount. In the meantime, however, the Johnson managers will be required to file a bond with the State authorities covering the possible expense.

The Johnson managers decided after many conferences to ask for a recount, even after a complete tabulation of all the votes cast in the State had been made and which showed that General Wood led Senator Johnson by more than 1,000 votes.

With the hope of obtaining a basis for their charges of fraud Angus McSween, Eastern campaign manager for Johnson, and several New Jersey Johnson men went to Philadelphia last night to investigate a story that repeaters had been sent to Camden from Philadelphia by Wood supporters to help out their candidate on Tuesday. The Johnson forces believe that the votes cast in Camden, more than in any other county, should be scrutinized. Frank J. Pfaff, a New Jersey attorney, will have charge of the Camden recount if one is allowed.

Complete returns from the entire State gave General Wood a lead of 1,092 votes over Senator Johnson. The vote was Wood, 52,497 and Johnson 51,405. It had previously been reported that complete returns showed a margin of 1,207 for Wood, but corrected returns from Camden county showed a gain of 116 votes for Johnson and a loss for Wood of four. Practically complete returns for district delegates indicate that Wood will have 15 and Johnston 9. By obtaining the preferential vote General Wood is assured of the State's four delegates-at-large, so his New Jersey strength in the National Convention will be nineteen delegates.

While three of the district delegates ran unpledged, two stated that they would abide by the preference vote, while the third is known to favor General Wood.

The complete vote for the Republican Big Four was as follows:

Senator Joseph E. Frelinghuysen (Wood), 61,751; Senator Walter E. Edge (Wood), 60,583; Edward C. Stokes (Wood), 53,795; William N. Runyon (Wood), 46,852; Thomas L. Raymond (Wood), 44,048; Mulford L. Ballard (Johnson), 43,457; Thomas R. Layden (Johnson), 43,028; John W. Griggs (Wood), 42,734; Isaac H. Nutter (unpledged), 9,409; Sylvester L. Corrothers (unpledged), 7,706.

The Wood managers declared yesterday that they had nothing to fear from a recount and would not oppose one.

New Jersey politicians are looking for a "break" between James R. Nugent, Democratic boss of Essex County, and Governor Edward I. Edwards as a result of Nugent's action in swinging eleven Essex Assemblymen to vote to override the Governor's veto of the Pierson Election bill, which restores the party column on the election ballot and makes voting harder for the independents. The Governor declared that Mr. Nugent had "betrayed the people of New Jersey."

When asked about the Governor's remark Mr. Nugent said he doubted if the Governor had made any such statement, but when later informed that the Governor had admitted making it, Mr. Nugent refused to make any comment, except to say he thought the election bill was a good thing. Mr. Nugent said Governor Edwards would be chosen Chairman of the New Jersey delegation to the San Francisco Convention and would carry his fight against prohibition to the floor of the convention.

DRY LEAGUE BACKS GOV. LOWDEN ONLY

Anti-Saloon Chief Declares That Prohibitionists Can Consistently Support Him Alone.

WESTERVILLE, Ohio, April 30.—Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois is the only Presidential candidate so far whom the Anti-Saloon League of America has approved as suitable to the prohibitionists.

In a statement given out tonight Dr. P. A. Baker, General Superintendent of the league, says, after a brief review of Governor Lowden's record on prohibition, that "Prohibitionists can consistently support him if he is nominated."

Senator Warren G. Harding's prohibition record is reviewed at considerable length, but no definite statement as to his acceptibility or non-acceptibility is made. "Senator Harding of Ohio usually votes with the drys but alwoys talks for the wets," the statement says. It adds:

"When the eighteenth amendment was pending in the Senate, Harding announced from the floor that he was not a prohibitionist, that he failed to see in it a 'moral question' and that he favored compensation of the liquor traffic. Of course, any man who favors compensating the liquor traffic would not be able to see in it a moral issue."

The statement goes on to say that Harding voted for the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, but voted against prohibition in the District of Columbia.

Senator Hiram Johnson, the statement says, "is being solidly supported by the liquor interests of California not because of any particular service he has rendered them, but because he seems to command the support of the discontented, and the liquor people just at this time are very much discontented," and also possibly because a Sacramento paper "has announced Mr. Hoover's dry convictions."

Commenting on Governor Lowden, the statement says that he was opposed for election as Governor by many of the Prohibitionists of Illinois, "but since his election as Governor he has been so eminently fair and friendly to the prohibition laws and their enforcement that Prohibitionists can consistently support him if he is nominated."

The statement reiterates the position of the League as regards Governor James M. Cox of Ohio and Governor Edwards of New Jersey, as announced some time ago, by declaring that Governor Cox "is thoroughly wet," and that Governor Edwards is not really a candidate, but "simply running as a side partner to Governor Cox in the hope of accumulating some wet strength that may be turned over to Cox at an opportune time."

The statement concludes by declaring that further reports "of interest" will be made from time to time.

SAY LENROOT IS DARK HORSE

Senator Declared to be Strong Second Choice of Republicans.

If the occasion should arise in the Republican National Convention at Chicago next month for the nomination of a dark horse for President, Senator Irvine L. Lenroot of Wisconsin will have friends on hand to press his claims. William Alvin Dudley of Milwaukee, manager of the Wisconsin Press Bureau, who has been touring the Middle West during the last few weeks, said yesterday that Senator Lenroot was the second choice of a great many delegates in that part of the country, and also had a following in the Eastern States among conservative Republicans.

"Senator Lenroot will have some votes on the first ballot and a good many, more on the second and following ballots," said Mr. Dudley yesterday at the Hotel Prince George. "We expect that some delegates from New York will cast their votes for Senator Lenroot on the first ballot."

Taft Speaks at Hampton Exercises.

HAMPTON, Va., April 30.—Former President Taft, Robert R. Moton, Principal of Tuscegee Institute, Homer L. Ferguson, President of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company and John F. Moors of Boston, spoke today at the fifty-second anniversary exercises of Hampton Institute. Mr. Taft declared that with clearer vision and greater hope men of the South have come to take a very different view of the race problem, and that negroes are learning to overcome prejudice through intelligent, patient service.

SAY BORAH HAS LOST CONTROL OF IDAHO

CLAIM 156 DELEGATES

Instructed for General Against 82 for Lowden and Only 39 for Johnson.

While campaigning throughout the country for United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson in his fight for the Republican Presidential nomination, United States Senator William E. Borah lost control of Idaho, his own State, and appealed to the managers of Major Gen. Leonard Wood's campaign to allow him to go to Chicago as a delegate, according to information received yesterday at the local Wood headquarters in the Hotel Imperial.

Colonel Thomas W. Miller, Assistant Eastern Manager for General Wood, asserted that the Idaho delegation which was selected at a Republican State Convention on Wednesday was controlled by friends of General Wood. In making up the delegates' slate, he said, they had accepted six candidates who are known Wood men, one other who insisted upon going to the Chicago convention unpledged but who is friendly to Wood, and Senator Borah, who frankly stated that he desired to go to Chicago and wanted the Wood people to send him. After conferring with the Wood National managers the Wood managers in Idaho were authorized to accede to Senator Borah's request. The information came first from Henry H. Armstead of Sand Point, Idaho, the Wood leader in that State. In a telegram to the New York headquarters he said that Wood would have seven of the eight delegates, and might have had the eighth if it had not been agreed to let Senator Borah have his way.

Avoiding Antagonisms.

In explaining the attitude of the Wood managers toward Senator Borah, Mr. Miller said it had been decided not to antagonize any Republican of prominence, and particularly a United States Senator.

"After all, a United States Senator is a United States Senator," said Mr. Miller. "After this campaign is over we have got to live and work together. Our plan has been to avoid antagonisms wherever possible. There is still another United States Senator who was put on the Wood ticket, although he may vote for Harding.

"We believe in regarding United States Senators with respect. The Idaho delegation was elected and controlled by friends of General Wood, and they gave Senator Borah permission to go on the ticket."

It was stated that Senator Borah had frequently remained out of his State for long periods, at times as long as two years, and that naturally his influence dwindled. When it came to selecting delegates, the Senator suddenly discovered that he was no longer a power with the Republican organization, but was rapidly being succeeded as State leader by Henry H. Armstead. It was said that Mr. Armstead has ambitions to succeed Mr. Borah as United States Senator.

Says Wood Will Lead.

This statement was issued on the Indiana situation:

"Word comes from Indianapolis that whatever doubt existed as to Wood's strength in that State was wiped out when he shattered Harding forces in Ohio, took New Jersey away from Johnson and grabbed the Washington and Idaho delegations last Tuesday.

"The conservative element throughout the State has flocked to the standard of Wood, and union leaders proclaim that he will get the labor vote beyond question of doubt next Tuesday. Johnson has been making strong appeals to radical labor groups, such as he did in Michigan and New Jersey. At one point he mixed his dates and made a radical labor address to a conservative group of farmers and railroad men. The blunder cost him the county.

"From the present situation Wood will run first, Johnson second, Lowden third and Harding fourth. That Johnson is unacceptable to the greater mass of Indiana citizens is shown in a statement received in Indianapolis from Valparaiso, in which it was declared that the Johnson crowd had abandoned his standard and would support Wood."

The local Wood managers laid claim yesterday to 156 instructed delegates for their candidate. Thus far 717 delegates have been chosen throughout the country, and of this number 350 have been instructed and 367 uninstructed.

"Of the 350 instructed delegates," said the statement, "General Wood has 156, Lowden 82, Johnson 39, Harding 50 and Poindexter 14."

5 MEN ROB COLUMBUS BANK.

Hold a Dozen at Bay and Escape with $2,000 at Noon.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 30.—Five armed bandits held up the Union Building and Savings Company in the heart of the downtown section shortly before noon today, and escaped with $2,000 cash.

The five men filed into the loan association's offices, and while three of them held a dozen patrons and the company's officers at bay, the others obtained the loot.

WILL SUCCEED CAMPANINI.

Herbert M. Johnson Chosen Executive Director of Chicago Opera Co.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Herbert M. Johnson, business controller of the Chicago Opera Compahy, will succeed the late Cleofonte Campanini as executive director of the company, Harold F. McCormick, President of the Opera Association, announced today.

Gino Marinuzzi, a director under the late maestro, will be artistic director, in charge of the conductors and the artistic side of the productions.

Mr. Johnson has been connected with the company since 1913.

Marinuzzi, who was brought to America by Campanini, is a composer as well as a conductor. He will produce one of his own operas, "Jacquerie," next season.

Ethel Lorraine to Get $25,000.

A verdict for $25,000 was awarded by a jury in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, yesterday to Miss Ethel Lorraine, an actress, in her suit for $100,000 damages against the New York Hippodrome Company for injuries. The plaintiff alleged that she was injured by a fall from a ladder while going through a performance at the Hippodrome a year ago.

PERFECT MEASURES TO NIP BOMB PLOT

Washington Officials Increase Safeguards Around Those Threatened with Death.

BELIEVE EFFORT FOILED

Hope Expressed That Secretary Wilson Will Decide Legal Deportation of Communist Laborites.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Preparations were continued today by the Department of Justice to meet expected attempts by radicals on the lives of public men as a part of a nation-wide Red demonstration tomorrow. Further instructions were sent to Department of Justice agents in every part of the country.

It was learned today that among those marked for death are members of Congress who have denounced the radicals. Another on the list, recently investigated activities in relation to Russian propaganda. Several judges who have sentenced Reds are also on the death list as is a detective who has unearthed bomb plots.

The outstanding feature today of the efforts of the Reds to start their revolution tomorrow was the flooding of the mails in various cities, notably Boston and Detroit, with all sorts of circulars, posters and manifestos calling on the workers to revolt. These were also distributed by hand and stuck on walls in the industrial centers all over the country.

Arrests may be made tomorrow in a number of cases. Detailed reports over special wires kept the Bureau of Criminal Investigation apprised today of the plans made by the police, local detectives, and agents of the Department of Justice in all the great industrial centres where trouble is feared. These told of coming meetings, schemes for a huge distribution of radical propaganda, speeches by noted agitators, such as "Big Bill" Haywood, parades and other demonstrations.

"Winnipeg All Over Again."

Strikes in basic industries are expected. Plans have been made, it is said, for a general strike of timber workers in Milwaukee, where the workers say they expect to "repeat Winnipeg all over again." Placards in Pittsburgh read: "Loaf on May First!" Timber workers are expected to go out en masse in Seattle.

Division Chiefs of the Department of Justice will handle their local situation largely without specific suggestions. However, Attorney General Palmer, Francis P. Garvan, Assistant Attorney General; William J. Flynn, Chief of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation; J. Edgar Hoover, special assistant to the Attorney General, and other officials are in constant touch with the situation.

A manifesto entitled "Hail to the Soviets," issued by the Communist Party of America, containing a demand for a general strike, was received today by the Bureau of Criminal Investigation.

Manifesto in Milwaukee.

Tom Miliwuska of Milwaukee, who was caught distributing this manifesto last Tuesday, was arrested Jan. 2 as a radical. During the deportation proceedings brought against him he admitted being a member of the Communist Party, but said he did not know what was in the manifesto. Mr. Post, Acting Secretary of Labor, canceled the deportation warrant a week ago.

An excerpt from this manifesto reads: "You must develop your power through engaging in the present struggles against the capitalists. The general political strike is the means of expressing your power and the beginning of the revolutionary struggle which will finally establish the Soviet Government and the dictatorship of the proletariat. While in this country we are not ready for the final struggle, the Communist Party of America calls upon you to show your power on May Day.

"There are in the prisons of the United States hundreds of political and industrial prisoners whose offense is that they fought the battles of the workers. Shall they rot behind steel bars forever? Other thousands are to be imprisoned and deported as the result of the effort of the capitalist Government to destroy the revolutionary movement in this country. Are these workers to be removed from the class struggle while you remain silent?

"Strike for the release of all political and industrial prisoners on May Day. Close the shops and factories, demonstrate your power. Demand the freedom of those who are imprisoned for fighting the battles of the working class. Make the slogan of the day: 'All power to the workers.' Hail to freedom for all political and industrial prisoners. Hail to the political strike. Hail to the Soviets and the dictatorship of the proletariat."

Deep interest is centred in the opinion which Secretary of Labor Wilson is expected to render tomorrow regarding the deportation of members of the Communist Labor Party of America. Department of Justice officials consider that the culpability of the Communist Labor Party of America is even more marked than that of the Communist Party.

Secretary Wilson decided against the Communist Party, and the officials of the Department of Justice earnestly hope that he will render the same decision in the case of the Communist Labor Party. If the Secretary should determine that alien members of the Communist Labor Party are immune from deportation it is considered certain that all the Red element, including the I. W. W., would flock to that organization. "Every agitation and Red in this country, all the forces of evil would be convinced that the deportation statute would have been practically wiped off the map," said one official.

Reds Have Unlimited Funds.

WASHINGTON, April 30 (Associated Press).—After checking over confidential reports from all parts of the country Government officials expressed confidence tonight that threatened May Day demonstrations by radicals would not result in any nation-wide attempt at violence.

Assistant Attorney General Garvan said late reports indicated that whatever violence might occur would be sporadic. Appeals of the Communist Labor leaders for May Day strikes appear not to have met with a kindly reception. Thousands of workers may lay down their tools tomorrow, but Mr. Garvan believed this would be more in the nature of a declaration of a holiday than with a malicious intent to cause a great tieup.

Mr. Garvan called attention to the apparently unlimited amount of money employed by the Communist Labor Party in fomenting disorders, declaring that, at no time in history, had a radical movement been so plentifully financed. He traced the source of these funds to Amsterdam and thence to Russia.

The amount of radical literature circulated within the last week was described by Mr. Garvan as "amazing," as he pointed to scores of different periodicals, pamphlets and circulars together with special editions of radical newspapers, piled in his office, all appealing for a "May Day show of power." Exponents of direct action, he contended, were taking advantage of a psychological opportunity while the nation awaited developments "to lay their incendiarism on the people's doorsteps."

ARREST 360 IN CHICAGO TO FOREST ALL RADICALS

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 30.—With 360 suspicious characters, including many actively identified with the I. W. W., Communist, Communist Labor and other radical organizations, under lock and key as the result of raids tonight, and agents of the Department of Justice preparing to make additional roundups in the early hours of tomorrow, Chicago authorities do not expect a "Red" outbreak here on May Day. So many warnings have been given that the Bolsheviki, I. W. W. and criminals of every description planned to start a reign of terror on May 1 that Federal, State and municipal authorities have made preparations to cope with any emergency.

The plan, as the authorities understood it, was for the Bolsheviki to cause a number of strikes, of which that of the cooks and waiters at the hotels and restaurants is thought to be one. Hints were also given that gunmen and gang fighters were to go into the Black Belt and shoot negroes. Under cover of this disorder the general reign of terror was to be spread.

Hundreds of negroes employed at isolated points have been advised by employers to remain at home tomorrow.

One of today's prisoners was John Juck, who was distributing circulars announcing Red meetings tomorrow. The pamphlets urged revolt by the proletariat and the overthrow of the Government. When arrested he tried to pass papers to a friend, but they were seized and found to be credentials from the Russian Soviet.

Some of the hotels and restaurants anticipated tomorrow's strike by dismissing all affected employes today and hiring new crews.

A May Day strike of clothing workers was said to have been called by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, the International Ladies' Tailors' Union and the International Association of Machinists in protest against the imprisonment of Eugene V. Debs, Kate Richards O'Hare, Tom Mooney and other Federal prisoners.

No Denim at Columbia "Prom."

The junior class of Columbia gave its "prom" at the Ritz-Carlton last night as the final event of junior week. The spirit of the pre-war days prevailed. It was at first decided that the men would wear overalls, but when it was learned that the prices had advanced this plan was abandoned and, with the exception of a sprinkling of uniforms, evening clothes were worn.

FRANCE NOT IN FEAR OF MAY DAY STRIKE

Railway Men, Miners and Others Threaten, but Serious Trouble Is Not Expected.

NO STREET DEMONSTRATION

Handbills Declare That "Reorganization" of the State Might Begin with the Railroads.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 30.—Despite the loud claims of radical labor leaders, the French Government tonight is confident that France will not be tied up by a strike of all railroad, transport and mine workers and that the May Day demonstration will not open the threatthreatened labor crisis.

The extreme labor leaders who engineered the railroad strike of February have seized upon the regular May Day cessation of work to start trouble again. While other labor unions were about the business of calling a twenty-four hours' cessation of work as a manifestation of labor's power, and which was beforehand accepted with resignation by the population, the General Syndicate of Cheminots issued an order that their men would come out on May 1 with all other workers, but would stay out until they got nationalization of the railroads, which was what they struck for in February and failed to get because the mass of the railroad workers would not follow the radical chiefs.

Yesterday the Cheminots called upon the Confederation Generale du Travail to order a general strike. Contrary to the reports published here and cabled to America the C. G. T. did not do so. This morning the miners' leaders who had been won over by the Bolshevist element of the railroad workers announced that their men would not go back to work until after the railroad workers had won nationalization of carriers. This worried the leaders of the C. G. T., of which the Cheminots and miners are important branches and they state tonight that transport workers will be kept out after May 1 in sympathy with the railroads. The dock workers also are reported in line with the radicals.

Officials of the French Government predict failure for all these plans. They expect difficulty and maybe a week's trouble, but say that the good sense of the French people will triumph and that the mass of the workers will not follow the leaders who do not hide their admiration for the Russian Soviet form of Government.

As for tomorrow's business, the Government will maintain order, it states, and will see that a limited subway and telephone service is kept up. A considerable number of troops have been brought into Paris to reinforce the police and no parades will be allowed. A regiment of infantry camped this afternoon along the Seine near the Place de la Concorde.

At the end of a cabinet meeting today which considered the labor situation M. Le Trocquer, Minister of Public Works, said:

"I have the greatest confidence, for I have known for a long time the personnel of our railroads, which will not let itself be intimidated by extremist leaders who for the most part are strangers to the railroad service. Furthermore, all measures are taken and the liberty of work for the Cheminots will be assured."

The railroad workers have been notified by the Government that any employe who leaves his train en route will be imprisoned.

The whole movement is political in nature. Radical workers demand that the roads be taken over and the workers given a large share in their management.

To show that the movement is political, one has only to quote from a handbill scattered all over the city today by labor leaders. It says in part:

"The cost of living increases without ceasing. Raw materials are lacking. Land transports face a crisis. Maritime transports are insufficient. The franc is worth 32 centimes abroad. Our international credit no longer exists. The new taxes oppress articles of food. They do not touch capital.

SENTIMENT AGAINST STRIKE.

Labor Extremists Have Put Leaders in a Difficult Position.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 30.—According to M. Jouhaux, secretary of the Workers' Confederation, the situation has grown more threatening in the last twenty-four hours. He declared in an interview today that, in consequence of the miners' decision to strike because the Senate adjourned before voting the quarrymen's bill, the action of the Workers' Confederation would not be confined to "watchful sympathy" as implied in its announcement yesterday evening. One the contrary, the miners, quarrymen, dockers, maritime and transport workers will all join the railroad men's strike, instead, as hitherto planned, simply abstaining from work tomorrow.

Jouhaux said definitely that this was a change of attitude from yesterday, and denied the statement attributed to him last night that the Workers' Confederation already had decided to support the railroadmen by a strike after tomorrow. He appears to feel that the present is not a very favorable occasion for what would be virtually a general strike—if the members of the labor unions involved obey the strike order fully—as without coal or transportation the metal workers, engineers and builders soon will be forced to cease work. Popular feeling is undoubtedly very much against the movement. The Government is strong, and decided to tolerate no disorder, or, what is more serious, interference with the national life. Even among the railroad men, who are the only section of workers really anxious for a strike, there are two big lines north and east where a strike certainly would not be total. In fact, it is expected that a majority of their men will continue to work.

Jouhaux is in a difficult position. The guarded statement of the workers' confederation last night indicated the necessity of giving as much support as possible to the railroad men, but it also showed clearly that anything in the nature of a general strike was now unwelcome to the labor leaders Virtually Jouhaux has thrown up his hands and said to the extremists: "Well, if you must have it, you must." Meanwhile he puts on as bold a front as possible with the hope of bluffing the Government into speedy concessions.

There is, however, one point made by him and the other labor leaders which is quite definite and ominous for the future. They don't believe that France can ever recover from the war under bourgeois government. They say so frankly and they claim that 95 per cent. of skilled and educated labor shares their conviction. The post-war disorganization, they point out, is most acute in railroads and transportation. Roadbeds and rolling stocks are alike in a bad state and the railroad men declare that the ordinary risks of their profession have been multiplied tenfold. They say that the railroads are obviously running at a loss and can only make ends meet now by a State subsidy.

Soon when they begin to replace the used rolling stock by new they will have to call on the Government to foot the bill. If the Government agrees, as it will have to do, the State will be paying, just as in the case of nationalization, and meanwhile a number of entirely undeserving—in labor eyes, at least—people will make a profit on the Stock Exchange by the consequent rise in railroad shares. The long and short of their platform is that under the present regime 50 per cent. of the public money is spent for the benefit of the State and the other 50 per cent. goes into the pockets of the upper bourgeoisie.

No one who knows France is ignorant of the vast influence wielded by the industrial and financial plutocrats. Since the war the feeling against this class, which is always latent in the hearts of the French masses, has undoubtedly grown very much stronger. From that to Bolshevism is a very far cry, however, and little as they love the plutocrats the great mass of the French people have not much greater fondness for socialistic experiment. Socialism and its theories is a rather lame dog in France today, and even among the federated workers it is doubtful whether socialistic ideas have as much spread as the labor leaders profess to believe.

SOCIALISTS SAY PALMER IMAGINED BOMB PLOT

Party's National Committee Accuses Him of Trying to Incite Violence.

CHICAGO, April 30.—The National Socialist Committee, in a statement made public today by Otto Branstetter, Secretary, charged that the May Day bomb plot as revealed by Attorney General Palmer was "manufactured in his own mind."

"Attorney General Palmer's widespread Red plot, uncovered just before May 1, is another insolent attempt of inefficient and ambitious officials to create violence and disorder on the day that has for over thirty years been set aside by the Socialists as international labor day," the statement said.

"Mr. Palmer does not offer a shred or scintilla of evidence to back up the widely-heralded plot, but the statement that there is such a plot, manufactured in his own mind, has been given the widest publicity and will result, unless vigorous steps are taken to prevent disorders, in Government-created riots everywhere.

"It will be remembered that a year ago, a day or two before May Day, a widespread bomb plot was conveniently discovered, a plot that never existed, the alleged perpetrators of which were never apprehended by the most costly secret service in the world."

The statement charged that whatever disorder may occur tomorrow will have been caused by the "insane and criminal discovery of Mr. Palmer's dime-novel plot," and advised Socialists to carry out their plans for meetings and parades.

"The Socialist Party," it said, "calls upon its comrades everywhere to refuse to be stampeded by the anarchistic outburst of Mr. Palmer to the violent outbreak that he is trying to provoke in his desperate campaign for the Presidency."

NITTI EXPECTS NO TROUBLE.

Tells Cabinet That May Day in Italy Will Be Peaceful.

ROME, April 30.—Premier Nitti announced at a meeting of the Cabinet today that he was able to predict that May Day would pass peacefully in Italy, although he believed suspension of work in all classes would be general.

SEIZE CRANK NEAR COOLIDGE.

Man Living Close to Governor Taken After Inflammatory Talk.

BOSTON, April 30.—A man who occupied a room two doors removed from Governor Coolidge's apartment in a downtown hotel, was arrested tonight after making alleged inflammatory remarks.

After examination he was sent to the Psychopathic Hospital for examination. The Police Lieutenant who examined him expressed the opinion that the man was a crank.

Governor Coolidg, whose name was reported to be included in the list of prominent persons marked by the Reds for assassination on May Day, declared tonight that the orderly execution of the law would continu, and that those who attempted to destroy the liberty of others were sure to be overwhelmed. In a statement Governor Coolidge said:

"I have read the threats in the morning papers. Outside of that I have no information. Whatever menace it may have had is no doubt rendered harmless by reason of exposure. Threats are of no consequence. The life of one man, even though he held an important official position, is not of supreme consequence.

"The orderly execution of the law will go on so long as I have any authority over it and it has been amply demonstrated that Massachusetts will provide for its continuance whatever contingency may arise. Those who are attempting to destroy the liberty of others under the assertion that they are providing liberty for themselves could meet with no success in this Commonwealth and should they expose themselves by action are sure to be overwhelmed."

The Boston police force is prepared to cope with any "May Day" disturbances that occur and has machine and riot guns in readiness to be rushed to the scene of any disorders.

Among the precautions taken are the placing of a fleet of automobiles with machine guns mounted on them in various police stations; the posting of guards in mail receiving and distributing stations to be on the lookout for bombs or suspicious mail packages; the placing of special watchmen around all public buildings, including the Custom House and State House; the doubling of the police force in the Dudley Street section where placing of guards about the Governor and Mayor and the assignment of picked police and overseas veterans to handle machine and riot guns in case of necessity.

Secret Service men and police will keep a close watch on halls where meetings of radicals are to be held. State Guardsmen have been mobilized in the Waltham Armory so that they will be on hand in case any trouble results from the Socialist celebration scheduled to be held in Lincoln Hall.

Extraordinary precautions have been taken to protect Governor Coolidge from attempts at assassination. The force of guards at the State House has been doubled and every one entering the building will be closely scrutinized.

In South Boston today the police had a busy time tearing down hundreds of Communist stickers urging radical demonstrations. Several hundred copies of a Communistic "proclamation" were forwarded by mail to residents of the Dorchester and Roxbury districts.

PARADERS TOLD TO CARRY ARMS

Detroit Mails Flooded with Circulars Advising Resistance to Police.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, April 30.—Federal authorities are investigating the use of the United States mails for the distribution here of circulars designating May Day as the beginning of the "social revolution," and advocating the use of arms to overthrow the Government. Several circulars of similar content have been mailed to selected lists of workmen, and various parts of the city have been posted with the same circulars.

Detroit mails were flooded with circulars signed by "The American Anarchist Federated Commune Soviet" advocating the use of arms in the parades and meetings to be held on May Day.

The circulars are headed "Today Is the Day," and advise all who participate in any parade or meeting to carry arms, the better to resist any attempt of the police or "misguided soldiers" to prevent a demonstration. Under the caption, "The First of May Is the Day of Awakening," the circular urges that the social revolution be started on that day and that the worker be true to his class.

Portions of the city in which the foreign element predominates also were flooded with the circulars. The mailing list was apparently taken from the directory.

After employes of the Detroit Gear and Machine Company had handled him roughly this afternoon, Sam Fuber, 42, was turned over to the police, who are holding him on a charge of violating the Michigan State Syndicalism act. He was distributing circulars advocating the use of arms in May Day parades and meetings. Detectives arrested thirty-five suspicious persons this afternoon in a series of raids. Police reserves have been ordered to assemble at certain stations, where ammunition and rifles are stored.

RED GOES TO PRISON TODAY.

Mollie Steimer to Serve Fifteen Years in Jefferson City, Mo.

Mollie Steimer, 20-year-old Red, whose sentence of fifteen years in the Federal prison at Jefferson City, Mo., for violating the espionage act recently was affirmed by the United States Supreme Court and who has been in the Tombs since a six months' sentence on Blackwell's Island for disorderly conduct in disseminating anarchistic literature expired not long ago, was taken to the Federal Building yesterday to say good-bye to her relatives and friends. She is to start for the prison this afternoon and unusual precautions will be taken by the authorities to prevent any demonstration in her favor. Before taken back to the Tombs the girl devoted herself to a tirade against cruelties she said she found on the Island.

William Penny, clerk of the criminal branch of the Supreme Court, said yesterday he had arranged for a special detail of police and detectives to guard the court on Monday when James J. Larkin, convicted last Wednesday of criminal anarchy, is brought before Justice Bartow S. Weeks for sentence. As he is known to have many radical sympathizers, only persons with legitimate business in the court room who can identify themselves will be admitted.

Judge Julius M. Mayer in the Federal District Court yesterday issued writs of habeas corpus for nine aliens, said to be radicals, who recently were brought from Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. Arrangements to deport them were being speeded when a telegram yesterday from Assistant Secretary of Labor Louis F. Post directed that they should not be sent from the country, pending a reopening of their cases.

COAST GUARD CUTTER TO CURB ALASKA REDS

Activity of Alien Agitators at Hydar Causes Dispatch of Algonquin.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The activity of alien agitators near Hydar, Alaska, resulted in the dispatch today of the coast guard cutter Algonquin from Port Townsend, Wash., to that place.

Announcing the departure of the Algonquin, the Coast Guard Service said the vessel would co-operate with the local officials in maintaining order. The Algonquin carries a crew of seventy-one and is equipped with four 3-inch rifles and two machine guns.

Dispatches to the Coast Guard Service did not give details as to the situation at Hydar. Radical agitators have long been active in Alaska, and complaints of the situation there have been made before Congress committees by Alaskan officials and others. Governor Riggs recently announced that he would ask Congress to provide for a constabulary to curb the radicals, who, he said, threatened to demoralize industry.

TALK STRIKE IN SYRACUSE.

Trolleymen Meet Today to Take Decisive Action.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 30.—Members of Division 580, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of this city, will meet tomorrow morning to act upon the compromise offer submitted by the Railway Corporation. The officials of the union are making every effort to hold the men in line, and the majority of the employes are believed to be loyal to their international obligations.

But there is an element in the union that is said to be decidedly radical and upon the strength that element can muster depends whether there will be a walkout.

A walkout of trolleymen in Rochester tomorrow seems probable. After hours of discussion in which the conservatives were shouted down repeatedly, the Rochester street car men rejected all four compromise offers made by the New York State Railways and indicated that they might vote for a walkout.

SWISS TO MOBILIZE IF BIG STRIKE BEGINS

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERNE, April 29.—In view of the threat of a general strike of railway workers May 1, the Swiss Government has issued orders for all trained soldiers to be ready to mobilize in case a strike begins. Even the last-line men have been called up.

The Government munition depots are being carefully guarded by troops.

The mobilization orders were marked "strictly confidential," but the Socialist press has published them, alleging that no preparations are being made for a general strike, and that the mobilization order is an election dodge intended to deprive the Socialists of votes.

TO GO OUT IN BUENOS AIRES.

Some Workers to Quit for 24 Hours, Others for Half Day.

BUENOS AIRES, April 29.—All trades affiliated with the Regional Workers' Federation will take part in a 24-hour strike which will be one of the features of the May 1 labor demonstration here. Other labor organizations plan to cease work for half a day, while the Railway Federation has ordered its members to stop all trains for five minutes at noon Saturday as evidence of solidarity with the labor movement.

Port workers, cooks, cake-makers, employes of electric street car lines, and men operating tramways leading to the southern suburbs of this city will be among those participating in the 24-hour walkout. The Socialists Party is organizing a mass meeting of all workers for Saturday afternoon.

BERLIN CARS WILL STOP.

May Day Strikers Will Also Halt Suburban Service.

BERLIN, April 30.—May Day will be extensively celebrated by the workers of Berlin. The street cars and electric and suburban train services will be suspended.

Newspapers will appear only early in the morning, and no further editions will be printed until Monday. All the schools will be closed.

Tokio Tram Workers Strike.

TOKIO, April 26.—Tokio's tramcar system is tied up by a strike which began yesterday morning. Better working conditions and an eight-hour day are demanded by the men. The city is quiet, but extra gendarmes are being held in readiness.

CITY UNDER GUARD AGAINST RED PLOT

commanding the Guard, said the men would be used if called upon to patrol the streets, protect homes and guard such public structures as the subways and tubes, Government buildings and bridges. The available Guard, he said, included the First Machine Gun Battalion, seven regiments of infantry, ten troops of cavalry and two regiments of coast artillery.

Another resource of strength was the 30,000 officers and men of the Atlantic Fleet. While it is only coincidence that the ships will drop anchor in the Hudson today, it was pointed out that virtually their entire personnel could be called upon and that they would prove a powerful trained fighting force.

The Post Office Department likewise went on guard last night, its particular object being to guard against a repetition of last year's attempt to send infernal machines broadcast through the mails. Attention was drawn to the possibility of public officials and others who might thus be attacked protecting themselves by opening no suspicious packages. At the same time watch was kept over the mail at all post offices and substations by inspectors instructed to make every effort to detect bombs.

To watch Homes of Wealthy.

One source of uneasiness to the city's protectors last night was the possibility that publication of Mr. Palmer's discovery of the plot might stimulate some crank, such as the lunatic who shot to death Dr. James Wright Markoe in St. George's Church a week ago last Sunday, to some similarly crazed deed For that reason a general scrutiny of all persons attending meetings or loitering in the vicinity of the homes of the wealthy will be maintained.

In the case of men whose activities have subjected them to the particular hatred of the Reds and the more radical labor elements, the strictest guard will be maintained. While Attorney General Palmer refused to disclose the names of the men he said were threatened and the local authorities were equally reticent, the names of two persons in New York were mentioned in Washington dispatches as marked to be victims. These men are Judge Elbert H. Gary of the United States Steel Corporation, who refused during the steel strike some months ago to deal with labor leaders not members of the company's own organization, and Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas, originator of the Industrial Court in that State, which seeks to substitute legal machinery for strikes to settle industrial strife.

Schwab and Morgan Mentioned.

There was a further report that Charles M. Schwab, head of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, which also beat its men in a recent strike, and J. P. Morgan, once the victim of a lunatic's bullet, would be objects of special solicitation, but this could not be verified.

Special protection will be provided for Judge Bartow S. Weeks, now sitting in the Criminal Branch of the New York County Supreme Court, and Assistant District Attorney Alexander I. Rorke, respectively judge and prosecutor in a number of anarchist cases; Archibald E. Stevenson, counsel to the Lusk committee of the State Legislature which investigated and raided Red strongholds; Detective Sergeant James J. Gegan, head of the police bomb squad, which has warred on radicals and agitators for years, and agents of the Department of Justice Bureau of Investigation who have been engaged similarly since before this country entered the war.

As evidence of official determination to make New York the centre of activities against the plot charged by the Attorney General, William J. Flynn, former head of the United States Secret Service and now head of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice came here to assume personal charge of the local department. Chief Flynn spent much of the day in conference with George F. Lamb, head of the bureau here, and Charles J. Scully, leader of its bomb squad.

Refuses to Discuss Case.

Mr. Flynn was more than usually reticent. He refused to express any opinion as to the reality of the plot menace, nor would he go into details as to the preparations made to handle the situation. Every man in the bureau will be on duty, however, and every one has been instructed what to do in the event of trouble of any kind. All of the fifty men assigned to the Flying Squadron crusading here against profiteering was detached temporarily from that duty and assigned to a special post for May Day work.

Federal agents and members of the police bomb squad were keenly anxious to locate the headquarters, believed to be in this city, from which much rabid Communist literature has been circulated in the last few days. They believed that if the presses from which this literature has been issued could be located they would be near the fountainhead of any demonstration planned for today. There was a report that this headquarters actually had been located and that a bevy of officers was ready to descend upon it at the appointed moment. This was backed by a report that members of the bomb squad had raided every known Communist hangout in a search for arms and explosives. The authorities would confirm neither of these rumors nor was there any record of arrests of radicals such as would have occurred had firearms or explosives been discovered.

Evidence of Communist Plot.

There was, however, further evidence yesterday of a deliberate Communist plot to provoke May Day trouble. This was in the form of another in the series of circulars designed to incite complete industrial paralysis as a means of compelling the United States to recognize Soviet Russia and to bring about "one big revolutionary union of all the workers to fight the bosses and their government." This document, distributed on subway trains and elsewhere by agents who were not caught, has the caption "Strike!" is signed by the "Central Revolutionary Council of America" and bears no address or printer's imprint.

It enumerates some recent strikes which have "tied up transportation and crippled industry," "showing the bosses what they can do when they stick together," says that "Wall St." is howling and capitalist newspapers and churches are denouncing them, and continues:

"Bankers, business men, the American Legion, college men, Y. M. C. A.—all the 'best people' are scabbing on them. These are the same patriots who bleed ex-doughboys when they ask for anything. They are a bunch of skunks."

The unions are called "feeding troughs for a bunch of leaders who take money from both sides," Samuel Gompers and Mr. Palmer are attacked, and then the circular runs:

"Don't wait.

General Strike Urged.

"Make it a general strike to support the railway men, machinists, miners, dockworkers and elevator runners. Call out every last man. Show the bosses that you are all of one class—the working class. Show them you will stick together and fight together. Show them that the worker knows he has only one enemy, the capitalist and the capitalist government.

"Oh, the capitalists may well be satisfied with the United States Government. It is their Government. It uses the injunction only against the working classes. It jails only workers and their leaders. It breaks up only labor meetings, stops only the labor press. It lets only workers be lynched, murdered, tortured and deported, and does nothing. It uses troops only against workers!

"Put an end to the capitalist system and the capitalist Government! Form shop committees and workers' councils, for agitating and organizing. Establish industrial unions in the different industries and join them into one big revolutionary union of all the workers to fight the bosses and their Government!

"We, the workers, who do all the work, are going to cut out the capitalist, who does nothing in life but grind out profits from our work. We are going to take over the capitalist Government and change it into a Workers' Government, for the benefit of only the workers.

"The Government of the capitalists is not going to give in so easily. It is going to protect the right of the capitalists to live in luxury on our work. And the Government has its army and machine guns to protect them with.

"So we know what to expect and to do. We remember Ludlow, Col., Calumet, Mich.; Centralia, Wash.; Paterson and Bayonne!

"Prepare to act!

"All power to the workers!"

Workers' Meetings Not Banned.

Despite the unusual preparations of the police, which became more than ever manifest near midnight when extra patrolmen from uptown stations reported to stations in lower Manhattan for the guarding of the Sub-Treasury, the City Hall, the court buildings, the Standard Oil Building at 26 Broadway, the ferry houses, banks, skyscrapers and bridge plazas, they announced no intention to prevent May Day meetings of workers. It was announced, however, that no Red parades would be allowed.

A local Socialist newspaper said yesterday that the workers would celebrate "labor's international holiday" with fifty such meetings, listing among them indoor and outdoor gatherings in every borough and in all the usual gathering places.

Central Federated Union Criticises Lusk Bills—Announce Governor Has Called Hearing.

The Central Federated Union last night went on record against any of its members holding membership in the American Legion. A resolution was unanimously adopted asking its members to withdraw from the veteran soldiers' organization. It was one of the largest attended meetings in months and the discussion was animated at all times.

Three Lusk bills passed by the last Legislature were also criticised, and another resolution was adopted approving the 2.75 per cent. beer bill passed by the Legislature.

The vote on the Legion was reached after Ernest Bohm, the Secretary, had read the following letter:

> Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators Local 51. New York, April 28, 1920.
> Ernest Bohm, Secretary:
> I have been instructed by Local 51 that, owing to the fact that the American Legion having used its members as strike breakers, to request you to instruct the members of organized labor not to join that body and to insist that all labor members now in the Legion sever their connections with the same, as their principles are contrary and detrimental to the principles of organized labor.
> C. BELL, Recorder Secretary.

The union also instructed the Secretary to write a letter to James P. Holland, President of the State Federation of Labor, asking him to explain why he favored the Lusk Committee legislation. The attitude of Peter Brady on the Lusk bills was attacked and Secretary Bohm was instructed to send a telegram last night to Albany to get a copy of the record. It was announced that Governor Smith had decided to give a hearing on the Lusk bills, the date to be announced later.

The Rand School was cheered when Abraham Lefkowitz of the Teachers' Union criticised the Legislature for the passage of the Lusk bills. He declared that he had never been a member of the Socialist Party but that he preferred to be a member of it than of either of the other parties.

A resolution was adopted directing Secretary Bohm to write urging the Governor to support the proposal for special revenue bonds to provide pay increases of $200 each for city employes.

SUMMONS MARY PICKFORD.

Nevada Sends Subpoena in Divorce Annulment Case by Mail.

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, April 30.—A subpoena from the District Court of Douglas County, Nevada, was delivered to Mary Pickford by a United States mail carrier this morning, commanding her to appear in court at Minden, Nevada, at 10 A. M. on May 17 to answer to a suit to annul her divorce from Owen Moore.

Whether Miss Pickford's former husband will be sought by the Nevada authorities on a charge of perjury for the part he took in the now famous divorce suit will be determined, it was announced today, by the case of one Floyd William Weaver, under arrest here on a charge of perjury in an exactly similar case.

Captain J. W. Carter of the Nevada State Police, arrived here this morning with an executive warrant for the removal of Weaver to Reno, Nev., where he is under indictment for swearing that he intended to make Nevada his residence, and then taking the next train from Nevada after a divorce decree had been granted.

Owen Moore testified that he did not go to Nevada to permit his wife's summons to be served on him.

There is no ground for the criminal prosecution of Mary Pickford, said Captain Carter, but the case of Owen Moore is different.

The validity of the Weaver warrant is to be tested in the local courts.

BRING IN KNOX DRAFT OF PEACE RESOLUTION

its successor or successors, and of all German nationals which was on April 6, 1917, in or has since that date come into the possession or under control of the Government of the United States or of any of its officers, agents or employes, from any source or by any agency whatsoever, shall be retained by the United States and no disposition thereof made, except as shall specifically be hereafter provided by Congress, until such time as the German Government has by treaty with the United States, ratification whereof is to be made by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, made suitable provisions for the satisfaction of all claims against the German Government of all persons wheresoever domiciled, who owe permanent allegiance to the United States, whether such persons have suffered through the acts of the German Government or its agents since July 31, 1914, loss, damage or injury to persons or property, directly or indirectly, through the ownership of shares of stock in German, American or other corporations, or otherwise, and until the German Government has given further undertakings and made provisions by treaty, to be ratified by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, for granting to persons owing permanent allegiance to the United States, most-favored nation treatment, whether the same be national or otherwise, in all matters affecting residence, business, profession, trade, navigation, commerce and industrial property rights, and confirming to the United States all fines, forfeitures, penalties and seizures imposed or made by the United States during the war, whether in respect to the property of the German Government or German nationals, and waiving any pecuniary claim based on events which occurred at any time before the coming into force of such treaty, any existing treaty between the United States and Germany to the contrary notwithstanding.

"To these ends, and for the purpose of establishing fully friendly relations and commercial intercourse between the United States and Germany, the President is hereby requested immediately to open negotiations with the Government of Germany.

"Section 2—That in the interpretation of any provision relating to the date of the termination of the present war or of the present or existing emergency in any acts of Congress, joint resolutions or proclamations of the President containing provisions contingent upon the date of the termination of the war or of the present or existing emergency, the date when this resolution becomes effective, shall be construed and treated as the date of the termination of the war or of the present war or existing emergency, notwithstanding any provision in any act of Congress or joint resolution providing any other mode of determining the date of the termination of the war or of the present or existing emergency.

"Section 3—That until by treaty or act or joint resolution of Congress it shall be determined otherwise, the United States, although it has not ratified the Treaty of Versailles, does not waive any of the rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations or advantages to which it and its nationals have become entitled under the terms of the armistice signed Nov. 11, 1918, or any extensions or modifications thereof or which under the Treaty of Versailles have been stipulated for its benefit as one of the principal allied and associated powers and to which it is entitled.

"Section 4—That the joint resolution of Congress, approved Dec. 7, 1917, declaring that a state of war exists between the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian Government and the Government and people of the United States and making provisions to prosecute the same, be and the same is hereby repealed and said state of war is hereby declared at an end, and the President is hereby requested immediately to open negotiations with the successor or successors of said Government for the purpose of establishing fully friendly relations and commercial intercourse between the United States and the governments and peoples of Austria and Hungary."

Senator David I. Walsh, Democrat, of Massachusetts, announced that he would join the Republicans in supporting the resolution.

"I do not see," he said, "how the Democratic Party can put itself in the position of opposing the resolution. It would be tantamount to opposing peace a second time."

Senator Underwood said that he expected that Senator Reed of Missouri would joint the Republicans, but he was not certain as to the attitude of other Democrats. Senator Shields, Democrat, of Tennessee, is expected to support the Knox measure.

Senator Lenroot, Republican, of Wisconsin, one of the mild reservationist group, had not given the Knox resolution careful study and did not state his attitude toward it. Other mild reservationists were understood to be doubtful.

The committee vote was 9 to 6 in favor of the resolution, Senators McCumber and Shields not voting.

Senator Hitchcock declared that the resolution was a "mighty weak affair," was "ridiculous" and "preposterous" in many of its provisions, and left unsettled everything that was intended to be settled by the treaty.

"It takes the preposterous position of clinging to the benefits which the Treaty of Versailles would have conferred upon us, but to which we are not entitled," Senator Hitchcock said. "All the effectiveness that was in the House resolution has been taken out in the Senate draft, which strikes me as being a mighty weak affair..

"The resolution states that the United States does not waive the advantages it would have enjoyed under the armistice and the extensions of the armistice. That is simply ridiculous. This resolution neither strengthens nor weakens the Alien Property law, but merely holds on to everything we have taken under that law, which we would have done anyhow.

"I do not anticipate that there will be a very long debate in the Senate. My expectation is that the resolution will be passed by pretty nearly a party vote,, possibly getting one or two Democrats, and that it will be promptly vetoed by the President.

"Whether he will at that time return the Treaty of Versailles I do not know. I have received no communication from him on the subject, directly or indirectly."

LABOR COURT LAW UPHELD IN KANSAS

Judge Curran Declares It Constitutional—Enjoins Howat from Calling Strike.

DENIES THEIR 'DIVINE RIGHT'

Cannot Paralyze Industry, Imperil Health or Block Food Transportation, He Declares.

PITTSBURG, Kan., April 30.—The new Kansas Court of Industrial Relations law is consutitutional, according to a decision announced by Judge Andrew J. Curran in the Crawford County District Court today. Judge Curran then granted a temporary injunction forbidding Alexander Howat and other district and local union officials of the Kansas district of the United Mine Workers from calling a strike.

Judge Curran did not make the injunction mandatory, as the State had asked, declaring that it had been shown that the Kansas mines now are largely at work. He said that he would make the injunction mandatory if a showing were made during the life of the injunction that the mines were idle.

The temporary injunction will be in effect until May 12, when the application of the State to make it permanent is set for hearing.

Judge Curran declared the Industrial Court law to be constitutional in a lengthy decision on the demurrer offered by the defense to the application of the State. He quoted legal authority from Blackstone to Chief Justice White in support of the broad police power of the State.

"I am not concerned with the wisdom of the Legislature in passing this law," Judge Curran said. "Whether the law is economically wise or unwise is not for the court to say. The one question to be considered by me is whether the law is in conflict with the Bill of Rights or Constitution of the United States or of Kansas."

Judge Curran said he did not believe that the Fourteenth Federal Amendment curtails the police power of the State or that the State has ever surrendered any part of that power to safeguard the health, morals and general welfare of its citizens.

He declared that the State was paralyzed by the mining strike last December; that cities were dark, schools were closed, the sick and afflicted in institutions threatened with freezing, and the means of moving food interfered with.

"If the State should stand by and not correct such conditions it would be a reproach to organized government and to civilization," the Judge asserted.

"The conditions that prevailed last December give an idea of the purposes and intent of the Legislature in enacting this law, and of the object sought by our State through this legislation.

"A great deal has been said of the divine right to strike and the divine right to quit work," Judge Curran said. "In stressing the 'divine right to strike, the divine right to work, the right of the man to have employment so he can provide for his wife and children has been sadly overlooked. The divine right to strike, where it affects the health and welfare of the public, must be relegated to the realm where the divine right of kings has been sent.

HOUSE REPUBLICANS HOLD VAIN CAUCUS

will be continued in the House when the insurgent Republicans will form a combination with the Democrats to place the burden of bonus legislation on those who made big profits during the last four years.

The basic provision of the bill is adjusted compensation in the sum of $1.25 a day for each day in excess of sixty days of active service. It is estimated that the average service is 400 days. Those who elect to take other forms receive an additional of 25 and 50 cents a day. For vocational training the apportionment is $1.75 a day, and for insurance and aid in buying farms or homes the allotment amounts to $1.50 a day.

Five forms of taxation are provided—a sales tax, tax on Stock Exchanges, tax on Grain Exchange transactions, and an increase in the income surtaxes and the prevailing taxes on tobacco. All the taxes, except those on sales and incomes, go into effect on Dec. 1, 1920, while the two others become operative with the next calendar year.

The bill applies to any member of the military or naval forces of the United States at any time after April 5, 1917, and before Nov. 12, 1918, who was not separated from such forces under other than honorable conditions, who was not a conscientious objector and as such performed no military duty or refused to wear a uniform, or who was not an alien discharged from the military or naval forces because of his alienage.

Officers above the grade of Captain in the army or marine corps, Lieutenant in the navy, First Lieutenant or First Lieutenant of Engineers in the Coast Guard, Passed Assistant Surgeon in the Public Health Service, or having pay and allowances of these ranks, are excluded from compensation, as are civilian officers or employes of any branch of the military or naval forces, contract surgeons, cadets at the Military or Naval Academy or in the Coast Guard, and members of training corps or training army.

Payments are to be made in four installments—April, July and October, 1921, and January, 1922.

Under the adjusted service certificate section the veteran is entitled to a certificate, the face value of which is the total he would receive in a cash bonus increased by 40 per cent. interest at the rate of 5 per cent. annually and compounded for 20 years. Payment on the certificate is due in twenty years, or on the death of the veteran. Loans are to be made on these certificates after three years.

Under the vocational education section the veteran is entitled to compensation of $1.75 a day for every day of attendance on a course of vocational training, though the course must not run longer than the period for which he would have obtained cash bonus compensation.

Under the farm or home aid section, a veteran is entitled to receive an amount equal to the cash bonus, increased by 40 per cent., but the total must be applied on a city or suburban home, and only after the approval of the board.

Under the settlement section, a special board is created to govern the development of public lands. Soldiers are to be employed in the work of development, and at the close of the development the soldier is permitted to select land as large as he can cultivate in all time or part time employment on it, payment to be made by the veteran in instalments.

AIRCRAFT TO GREET FLEET HERE TODAY

Three Cruisers, Destroyer and Supply Ship Arrive—Others Due This Morning.

DANIELS ON THE FLAGSHIP

Battleship Delaware the Only Vessel Needing Repairs on Return from Southern Waters.

On the twenty-second anniversary of Dewey's victory in Manila Bay the Atlantic Fleet will steam into New York Harbor and anchor in the North River to spend two weeks here, after long and arduous drilling in the Winter training waters off Guantanamo.

The first units of the fleet arrived yesterday and moved up to their anchorages in the North River. These were the cruisers Columbia, Bridgeport and Rochester, which is the flagship of the cruiser squadron; the destroyer Sharkey and the supply ship Prometheus.

Rear Admiral Henry B. Wilson, commander of the fleet, who has on board his flagship, the Pennsylvania, Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels and Admiral Coontz, Chief of Naval Operations, sent word by wireless to the Brooklyn Navy Yard yesterday, that the rest of the fleet would arrive at Ambrose Channel about 9 A. M. and proceed immediately to anchorages, arriving there between 10:30 o'clock and noon. The fleet will be greeted outside the harbor by Navy aircraft and later by tugs and destroyers from the Navy yards, in addition to a number of privately-owned small boats and tugs which will carry passengers down the bay.

The tentative plan of anchorage announced yesterday was as follows:

Ship.	Boat Ldg.	Ship.	Boat Ldg.
Bridge	59th St.	Rochester	129th St.
Prometheus	59th St.	Solace	129th St.
Columbia	59th St.	Bridgeport	129th St.
N. Dak.	79th & 83d Sts.	Dixie	158th St.
Del.	79th & 83d Sts.	Brazos	158th St.
Florida	79th & 83d Sts.	Bl. Ha'k	—Dykman St.
Utah	79th & 83d Sts.	Lebanon	96th St.
Arizona	96th St.	Vireo	96th St.
Nevada	96th St.	Bobolink	96th St.

Destroyer Flotilla No. 1, off 158th Street, consisting of Flusser, Toucey, Rodgers, Sharkey, Isherwood, Lardner, Dale, Reid, Breck, Case, Putnam and Billingsley.

Destroyer Flotilla No. 2, off 129th Street, consisting of Crowninshield, Ellis, Dickerson, Leary, Schenck, Herbert, Preble.

Although the fleet has been through one of the most strenuous seasons of manoeuvring it has ever had, only one vessel will be sent to the navy yard for repairs, it was announced. This is the battleship Delaware, which needs slight repairs which will require only two or three days. Usually five or six ships have to be laid up for repairs after the return of a fleet from Southern waters. The other seven battleships—the flagship Pennsylvania, the Florida, the North Dakota, the Utah, the Arizona, the Nevada and the Oklahoma—were reported in first-class condition.

The first ship of the fleet to arrive yesterday was the cruiser Bridgeport, which anchored off 129th Street. The Bridgeport is the mother ship and repair ship of the fleet of destroyers. The destroyer Sharkey came next. The Columbia had arrived late on the night before last off Tompkinsville, Staten Island, but remained there until yesterday afternoon.

The flagship Pennsylvania, it was stated yesterday, made the best record in the gunnery practice of the Winter, while the marksmen of the Delaware achieved the highest score in short range battle practice. After two weeks in this harbor the fleet will make another cruise to the South, where it will engage in further gunnery practice.

The men of the Utah won the Winter baseball championship of the fleet. The Columbia scored the most victories in the sailing races. The officers' baseball championship was won by the Nevada. The sailors of the Arizona carried off the rowing championship.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels boarded the battleship Pennsylvania yesterday by destroyer from Hampton Roads. It was stated that some time after the ship's arrival tomorrow the Secretary and the fleet commander will be escorted by Rear Admiral J. H. Glennon and Rear Admiral J. D. McDonald, Commandant of the Navy Yard, to visit America's newest and greatest fighting ship, the Tennessee, which will go into commission early in June. The trip from the Pennsylvania to the Navy Yard will be made in Admiral Wilson's barge, attended by the flotilla of destroyers and submarine chasers as a guard of honor.

Secretary Daniels will make an address on board the Pennsylvania which will be transmitted by wireless telephone to THE NEW YORK TIMES wireless station and reproduced for the Times Square crowds. In the evening Secretary Daniels will attend the dinner given by the New York Press Club to nearly the whole field of Presidential candidates.

Including its smaller vessels, the fleet numbers fifty units and carries approximately 30,000 men. There has been no fixed program for the entertainment of officers and men. According to a navy officer in charge of arrangements, the men of the navy are not eager for receptions and affairs, but prefer to come ashore as individuals, see the ball games and shows, and have a good time by themselves.

The Y. M. C. A. has established day and night information bureaus for the navy men at the Pennsylvania and Grand Central stations and at various points along the shore where men from the fleet will land. All of the Y. M. C. A. buildings will be thrown wide open for the sailors. Elaborate plans to help them to have a good time on shore have been made by the Knights of Columbus and other organizations.

CURTISS LOSES A POINT.

Decision That Inventor Did Not Yield Hydroplane Idea.

Albert S. Janin, a carpenter of Rosebank, S. I., won another skirmish in the legal battle for the ownership of patents on the construction of hydroplanes by a decision handed down yesterday by Judge Thomas I. Chatfield in the United States District Court in Brooklyn. The decision dismisses the contention of Glenn H. Curtiss and the Curtiss Corporation that they are entitled to the patents for flying boats, and confirms a decision previously made by the Circuit Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia in favor of Janin. The case will be taken to the Supreme Court.

Janin alleges that he got the idea for a boat with wings in 1899 when he saw flying fish and sea gulls. He applied for a patent on Jan. 26, 1911, and filed a second application on Aug. 9, 1911, in which biplane wings were used instead of monoplane wings, as in the first model.

Curtiss filed his application for a patent for a hydroplane on Aug. 22, 1911, and the legal fight started soon after. The primary examiner and the Commissioner of Patents decided in favor of Curtiss on the ground that in 1910 he had developed a canoe glider which failed to rise from the water only through lack of engine power.

Judge Chatfield stated that the Circuit Court of Appeals had decided that the Curtiss device did not reduce to practice any idea beyond that of a glider and that Janin had not shown lack of diligence in stopping work on his invention from 1909 to 1911.

copies of this morning's paper by the plane that is to make the long and notable journey by air.

"It therefore sends the greetings of the City of Miami to the City of New York; from the people of this small city to the people of the greatest city on the globe; and congratulates all that the two cities are thus united by one of the longest non-stop air routes in existence."

Mayor Smith sent this greeting to Mayor Hylan:

Miami, Fla., April 30, 1920.

"Hon. John F. Hylan,
Mayor of New York City—

"My Dear Judge Hylan:—It is with very great pleasure that I write you this note to extend my personal greetings, and I feel that it is a distinct honor to write a letter that is carried in the longest non-stop flight by airplane. I hope that this first flight is only the beginning of continuous and regular air transportation between these two greatest cities in the United States, namely, New York and Miami.

"With kindest personal regards, I am,
Yours very truly,
"WILLIAM P. SMITH,
Mayor of Miami."

President Sewall, of the Miami Chamber of Commerce, in his letter expressed the hope that regular airplane service between the two cities would be an accomplished fact soon.

Lawrence La Tourette Driggs, President of the American Flying Club, said last night that the feat was simply another of the series which was demonstrating the commercial possibilities of the airplane. He was sorry that the record for the longest non stop flight had not been broken by Rogers and Schroeder. He believed that the distance covered by Captain Alfred White, who flew here from Chicago on April 19, 1919, was greater than that between Miami and Morehead City, where the H S 2 L came down.

What is believed to be a new climbing record with three passengers was made yesterday at Hazelhurst Field, near Mineola, L. I., when Clarence Coombs, an aviator, ascended with Cole J. Younger, Walter Phipps and Jack Binns to a height of 6,000 feet in 6 minutes and 40 seconds. The plane used was an Orenco biplane, which was equipped with a 150 horsepower Hispana-Suiza engine. Coombs was out to make new altitude records, but he was compelled to descend after reaching that height because of the rain.

telephone, was brought to New York from Washington yesterday by a group of navy wireless experts headed by Lieutenants J. A. Featherstone and C. R. Buchner. When it was set up yesterday afternoon temporarily in THE TIMES radio station and the apparatus tuned to lower wave lengths, it caught a phonograph concert "sent" by one of the plants of the Western Electric Company, while at intervals the music was obscured entirely by code messages sent from wireless plants near by. Once the instruments are tuned with the Pennsylvania's wireless, navy operators said, little local interference would be encounted, and the fact that the Rockaway and Brooklyn Navy Yard plants will "stand by" during Secretary Daniels's speech, ready to have their receiving apparatus connected by telephone with the Times Square "magnavox," will preclude Mr. Daniels's greetings being mingled with a jumble of other messages, it is predicted.

FIRE SWEEPS COACH ON SIXTH AV. LINE

Police Inspector Henry Aids in Rescuing Women Passengers on Elevated.

HALTS TRAFFIC 20 MINUTES

Rush-Hour Crowd Held Up as Firemen Fight Blaze Caused by Flying Spark.

Women passengers in a burning coach on a Sixth Avenue elevated train during the rush hour yesterday afternoon were aided in their escape by Police Inspector Dominick Henry, who is now suspended awaiting trial on charges. When he discovered the flames, Inspector Henry organized several men into a rescue crew and assisted in lowering frightened women through the windows to the elevated runway.

Grease in the trucks of the third car of a northbound train caught fire from sparks from the third rail as the train curved from Sixth Avenue into West Fifty-third Street. Passengers rushed for the crowded platforms, and, on emergency signal, the train halted between Sixth and Seventh Avenues.

Inspector Henry reassured the passengers and told them to move slowly to the exits. The train crew turned extinguishers on the blaze, and passengers who had crawled through windows or jumped off the platforms of the car ran to the railing on the sides of the elevated structure.

Employes of the Edison Company power house at 120 West Fifty-third Street shut off the power along the Fifty-third Street branch of the road and supplied ladders so that passengers could descend to the street. Those who left the burning car on the north side of the tracks jumped to the roof of the sidewalk covering where contractors are building an addition to a garage. Meantime fire apparatus arrived, and the fire was put out in a few minutes. Traffic on the Sixth Avenue line was tied up twenty minutes.

"I spoke to half a dozen young men near me," said Inspector Henry, "and asked them to keep their heads and look out for the women. They behaved splendidly, and we succeeded in helping all the women out of the windows. We remained there until the car was emptied. I was happy and lucky to be there."

An ambulance surgeon from Bellevue attended Emily Bennett of 106 West 143d Street and Marcella Palmer of 25 West 137th Street, and they returned to their homes.

"Selling" Life Insurance

If the dollar of yesterday is worth only fifty cents today, every one who took out insurance yesterday should double the amount of his policy today.

Most of the careful business men carry life insurance. Probably they need insurance less than their careless brothers,—"him who has, gits."

Every man who is selling or has sold life insurance knows of the vast ignorance of the "common peepul" about life insurance.

It is fully as important for the general public to understand the basic principles and advantages of sound insurance, as it is to know which cigarette "satisfies" or which chewing gum has the lasting flavor.

In 1919 the thirty-three leading life insurance companies wrote a total of approximately $3,500,000,000 insurance.

If these companies would create a fund of one-tenth of one per cent of their yearly business, it would produce $3,500,000 annually for an "educational" campaign of advertising.

To educate the public on the principles of life insurance will also teach the basic principles of thrift, interest, capital and safety.

$3,500,000 a year for five years, if wisely handled, will do it.

BLAME GOVERNMENT FOR HIGH PRICE EVIL

Bankers and Economists Agree Expenses Should Be Curtailed at Once.

TIME TO PARE WAR DEBT

Leffingwell Criticises Congress for Rejecting Advice Against Excessive Rates of Surtax.

Twenty bankers and economists, speaking yesterday at the sessions of the Academy of Political Science in the Hotel Astor on causes and remedies for inflation and high prices, agreed that the Government should at once curtail its expenses and that the people should attempt in every way to increase production and to check waste of all kinds.

One of the remedies approved by many of the speakers was that the people should hold their Liberty bonds and not use them as legal tender and that Congress should take some step immediately to prevent the decline in the market value of those securities. Relaxation of Government interference with business and industries, such as the railroads, immediate steps toward paying off war debts, and the cessation of arbitrary attempts to name interest rates for capital and wages for labor also were mentioned as remedies.

At the morning session of the Academy, R. C. Leffingwell, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, discussed the entire problem of war financing, criticised Congress for interference with the Treasury Department, said that many of the departments of the Government were working at odds, and laid out a definite program of remedies for inflation and high prices. The gist of his remedies was that the American people should immediately turn to the work of peace, wipe out war debts at once, spend money only on a peace-time basis, and "stop bickering."

The speakers who followed Mr. Leffingwell took issue sharply with him on some points, particularly on his defense of the Treasury Department's general plan of war finance, but all agreed with his argument for a national budget and with his statement that "the time to pare down war debt is immediately after the war."

Would Abjure Bonuses.

"We must get together, stop bickering and face the critical situation which confronts the world as we should a foreign war," said Mr. Leffingwell. "We must recognize our responsibility to and our stake in Europe and lend her our moral support and leadership and economic assistance, but without Government loans. We must cut Government expenditure to the quick, abjure bonuses, and realize promptly upon all salable war assets, including ships, applying the proceeds to the war debt.

"We must have a national budget with teeth in it, which means among other things that no appropriation shall be made by Congress without a critical examination and report on ways and means by the Treasury, representing the financial end of the executive branch of the Government, and the Ways and Means Committee of the House and the Finance Committee of the Senate, representing the financial end of the legislative branch.

"We must promptly revise our tax laws to make them more equitable and less burdensome without reducing the revenue. We must restore the railroads to a self-supporting basis by establishing rates which will insure a return for capital and labor commensurate with the return to be had elsewhere at a time when there is a worldwide shortage of both. And, above all, we must work and save. We must produce more but, more important still, we must consume less.

"Inflation here since armistice day has been due to three principal causes. The first was world inflation and the internationalization of prices. The second was heavy expenditures by our Government and Government interference with business, and the third was reaction and waste among our own people."

"Root of Inflation."

After discussing in detail the relation of the conditions of foreign financial conditions to those here, Mr. Leffingwell criticised the Government here, saying:

"Government expenditure is at the root of inflation all over the world. Wise methods of meeting it may mitigate the inflation, but they cannot prevent it. The United States has been slow to realize upon its salvageable war assets and to cut down expenditures growing out of the war."

Mr. Leffingwell said he placed the Government's losses and expenditures for the railroads at about $2,350,000,000. He declared that unless immediate steps were taken toward retrenchment "the Government's financial predicament will be grave, for the debt outstanding and maturing within three years amounts to $8,000,000,000."

Criticising Congress, Mr. Leffingwell said that the Treasury Department had advised against excessive rates of surtax, and added:

"Experience has shown, what the Treasury always asserted, that the excess profits tax discourages initiative and enterprise, rewards overcapitalization and discourages conservatism in capitalization, confirms great corporations in their monopolies, encourages extravagance and wasteful management and adds to the cost of living."

Criticises Bond Campaigns.

Taking his theme from the speech of Mr. Leffingwell, A. Barton Hepburn, Chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank, said that he was surprised at criticism of the Administration because of his impression that the "Administration doesn't want criticism and won't listen to it." He said that the Liberty bond campaigns were carried on in an undignified manner and, citing that the best credit was paying 8 per cent. for loans, said that the Government had played greatly upon the patriotism of the country to sell bond issues for more than they were worth. Mr. Hepburn said also he thought it was time to stop speculation in real estate and commodities.

Paul M. Warburg pleaded for observance of sound banking principles in his review of the currency and price inflation, and said that the condition of other countries could not be compared to that of this country. George E. Roberts, Vice President of the National City Bank, said that "we have created and used purchasing power in the form of credit beyond the increase in productive capacity and the effect has been to decrease the purchasing power." Competitive hiring of labor also drove up prices and wages, he said, so that the only remedy was to return to normal conditions.

M. Maurice Casenave, French High Commissioner, said that France looked to the payment of German indemnities to help her greatly with her financial problems and that most of this money would be used in pensions and in reconstruction work.

P. Attalico, Italian Commissioner General for Finance to the United States, said that the commercial balance of his country was improving in the most encouraging way and added:

"The data and facts available fully warrant the expectation that Italy will be the first big continental country in Europe to reach the balance of her budget."

Other speakers at the sessions were Governor Allen of Kansas, Professor H. Parker Willis of Columbia University, Professor J. H. Hollander of Johns Hopkins, Dr. B. M. Anderson, Jr., of the National Bank of Commerce, Wesley C. Mitchell of the New School for Social Research, Dwight W. Morrow of J. P. Morgan & Co., J. Joyce Broderick, Commercial Counsellor of the British Embassy; W S Kies of Aldred & Co., John A. Hobson, English economist; Professor Carl Plehn of the University of California, Hartley Withers of The London Economist; Professor Henry R. Seager of Columbia, and Dr. Samuel McCune Lindsay, President of the Academy.

BANKERS SEEK METHOD OF DEFLATING CREDITS

Name Committee to Confer with Reserve Board—Would Exempt Aliens' Deposits from Tax.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 30.—The Executive Council of the American Bankers' Association today appointed a committee to confer with the Federal Reserve Board on orderly methods of bringing about a deflation of credits.

The opinion of the council, as expressed in a resolution, was that the only means of diminishing the tremendous demands on the banks for credit was a well-considered rationing of credit, progressively applied, from the Federal Reserve Banks through the financial and commercial structure of the nation.

Bankers were asked to assist in remedial measures. The resolution said credit for essentials must not be unduly restricted, as this might dislocate finance and industry, but that at the same time banks should take care not to advance funds for recognized speculative purposes.

The council approved an amendment to the income tax law exempting interest on bank deposits of non-resident aliens. The object of the amendment is to encourage foreign trade.

CANADIAN ENVOY PLAN NOW BEFORE WILSON

Pending Pulp-Wood Negotiations Will Hasten Move for Direct Diplomatic Relations.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Plans for the full diplomatic representation of Canada in Washington are now before President Wilson, and until he has acted on them it is not expected that any formal steps will be taken at Ottawa to forward the project. The extent of the functions of the proposed Canadian representative has not yet been defined, but the general understanding is that he will be limited to treatment of matters of purely American-Canadian interest, leaving questions involving general policies to be dealt with by the British Ambassador.

As the State Department has now taken under consideration the situation created by the difficulties experienced in securing pulp wood from Canada for American use, it is believed that a decision of the question of Canadian diplomatic representation here will be hastened, since this question is regarded as one peculiarly proper for direct negotiation between the United States and Canada.

50,000 New York Families Need Homes

S. W. Straus & Co. are ready to furnish $50,000,000 a year for necessary new building to relieve city's crisis

A GREAT FIRE which actually made 50,000 families homeless in New York City would stir our sympathies to the quick, cause instant concerted public action, and bring forth a flood of capital to relieve the need. Yet few New Yorkers realize that today 50,000 families and thousands of business firms in this city are in need of homes.

The crisis is immediate and pressing. Everything should be done to stimulate building. The first and most urgent need is capital—mortgage money for building loans. Here S. W. Straus & Co. have aided, are aiding, and will continue to aid. We are ready to furnish $50,000,000 a year, or even more, in 6% loans of not less than $500,000 each, to help finance construction of fireproof buildings in New York alone—exclusive of other cities. We are abundantly able to do this because we have built up in the thirty-eight years of our experience a nation-wide clientele of tens of thousands of customers who look to us for solid investments of this character. These investors' funds, mobilized through us, are always available.

Throughout the war we were steadily making building loans. These were invariably approved by the Capital Issues Committee as a public necessity. Since the armistice, when mortgage money in general was difficult to find, we have been constantly in the market. This is clearly shown by the following table of loans we recently have purchased, in eighteen cities, aggregating more than $68,000,000:

New York	$2[illegible]0,00	Detroit	$3,250,000	Milwaukee	$1,700,000
Chicago	11,[illegible]	Baltimore	600,000	St. Louis	2,000,000
Washington	3,[illegible]	Cleveland	500,000	South Bend, Ind	600,000
Philadelphia	75[illegible],000	Minneapolis	1,165,000	Los Angeles	3,500,000
Albany	1,300,000	Atlantic City	9,500,000	Dallas, Texas	675,000
Buffalo	400,000	Rochester	500,000	San Francisco	500,000

This table shows that large funds for mortgage loans can be secured from the investing public, even under adverse conditions, when such loans are made sufficiently desirable, are properly safeguarded, and are divided into first mortgage bonds, thus making them available to individual investors generally. On the other hand, efforts to provide capital for building through old fashioned undivided mortgage loans have largely failed. They have lost popularity because of their inherent lack of provision for prompt payment of principal and interest in cash when due—the common weakness of the ordinary mortgage.

To attract mortgage money, mortgage reform is urgently necessary—a fact now becoming generally recognized. Our experience indicates that this reform should be along the following lines:

(1) To enable investors to take part in the choicest large mortgages, and invest any sum they may desire, loans should be divided up into first mortgage bonds of $1,000, $500, and even $100 amounts.

(2) To insure prompt payment in cash at maturity, loans should be made not solely on the value of property, but on its earnings also—on what the property actually can pay as a going concern, and not merely on the basis of foreclosure value.

(3) To insure the prompt application of the earnings of the property as received each month to the payment of the loan, there should always be scientific sinking fund provisions (such as the Straus compulsory monthly deposit requirements).

(4) To provide against depreciation, to afford investors a choice of long-term or short-term investments, and to avoid the necessity of refinancing, there must be proper amortization or reduction of the principal of the loan each year from the property's earnings.

A general reform in methods of lending on bond and mortgage along the above lines would do more than anything else to relieve the situation. It undoubtedly would bring scores and even hundreds of millions of dollars of new mortgage money into the market to finance new construction and alleviate housing conditions, which constitute a public menace. We believe that our experience and our knowledge of the situation in this and other cities justify us in calling public attention to the above facts, to the end that we may still further serve our double function in upbuilding the cities of the country, and, at the same time, providing for the investor sound and attractive first mortgage investments.

Those desiring loans for the construction of fireproof buildings, in amounts of $500,000 and over, should make application to us through their own brokers.

Those wishing sound and attractive investments and desiring to investigate the Straus Plan should apply directly to us and ask for Circular A-388.

NEW NOMINATIONS FOR I. C. C. OPPOSED

Some Senators Object to Wilson's Selection of Prof. Ford and James Duncan.

LATTER A LABOR LEADER

A Third Member Has Been Chosen, but Has Not Agreed to Serve.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Two new Interstate Commerce Commissioners were nominated today by President Wilson. A third has been selected and his name will be sent to the Senate as soon as he consents to serve.

Henry Jones Ford, Professor of Politics at Princeton University, and James Duncan, of Quincy, Mass., a vice president of the American Federation of Labor, were the Commissioners named today.

Mr. Ford was nominated to succeed Commissioner James S. Harlan, and his term would expire on December 31, 1925, Mr. Harlan's terms having ended on December 31, 1918. Mr. Duncan was appointed to one of the two new positions on the Commission resulting from its enlargement to nine members by the Transportation act. His term would end on Dec. 31, 1924, and that of the member yet to be appointed would expire on Dec. 31, 1923.

The nominations automatically were referred to the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, which probably will consider them next week. There was no discussion in the Senate when the nominations were received, but opposition to the appointees was expressed privately by several Democratic and Republican Senators, members of the committee, as well as by other Senators.

Professor Ford is a native of Baltimore and a graduate of Baltimore City College. He has been Professor of Politics at Princeton since 1908 and has written a number of books on political science and related subjects.

Mr. Duncan was born in Scotland, was educated at Aberdeen and for many years worked as a statue granite cutter. He was editor of the Granite Cutters' Journal, served successively as secretary and president of the Granite Cutters' International Association and was a member of the Commission sent to Russia in 1917 by President Wilson.

It was said that Professor Ford was nominated as a Democrat and Mr. Duncan as an independent. The latter formerly was a Republican but supported President Wilson in both of his campaigns and now is understood by Administration officials to be free from affiliation with any political party. Under the law no political party can have a majority of more than one on the Commission. At present four of the Commissioners are Republicans and four are Democrats.

O'Ryan for Wartime Guard Units.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Retention of National Guard divisions as formed during the war was urged today by Major General O'Ryan, former Commander of the Twenty-seventh (New York) National Guard Division, at a conference with members of the House. Under existing law, he said, divisional units cannot be continued.

THE DISCOVERY OF "VITAMINES"

The study of beriberi and pellagra led to the discovery of a group of food essentials known as "vitamines." They are necessary to normal nutrition and to normal growth. They are found in the whole wheat grain. In making Shredded Wheat Biscuit all the vitamines are retained—all the elements that are needed for building a perfect body. Two of these little loaves of baked whole wheat with milk or cream (or hot water) make a nourishing, satisfying meal for a few cents.

Men's Suits

Now

$43.50

This Sale is virtually a "clean out," but with this in its favor: the reductions come at the beginning of the season when you need the suits, not at the end when the suits need you. These particular garments can't be made to-day for $43.50, let alone sold to you for that price. And if we were to advertise them at their regular prices—$55 and $60—we could still say that no other store was giving such absolute quality for the money. So you can see what it means to be able to buy them at $43.50. Sizes 34 to 42.

Men's Spring Top-Coats

Regularly up to $65

To be frank, there aren't enough of them to announce this Sale in larger space, but what there is, is almost a half-price proposition! Taken from our own high priced groups. Many are silk-trimmed. Sizes 34 to 42.

"Just Another Drive," But the Lives of 6,000,000 Human Beings Wait Upon the Answer

Just another drive—just another campaign—just another effort to alleviate human misery, to save the lives of men, women and children.

Campaigns are an old story in New York.

But to 6,000,000 men, women and children, HUNGER IS AN OLDER STORY, AND NAKEDNESS, HOMELESSNESS, DISEASE AND DEATH HAVE ALSO CEASED TO BE NOVEL.

At no time during the war, in any land, not even in Belgium or Northern France was there a situation more critical—a need more great—a demand for sacrifice and help more insistent than now comes to us from Eastern and Central Europe.

There is but ONE WAY in which the lives of the people of these lands are to be saved.

There is but ONE PLACE in all the world to which they may look for help.

This is the reason for the NON-SECTARIAN APPEAL to be made in New York next week in behalf of the Sufferers from Famine, Disease and Destitution in the War-Ridden Lands.

If typhus fever and the other innumerable consequences of hundreds of thousands of human beings starving are not checked in time SOME REVERBERATION OF THIS THUNDEROUS CALAMITY WILL REACH OUR SHORES JUST AS SURELY AS EACH EPIDEMIC OF INFLUENZA IN EUROPE HAS ULTIMATELY FOUND ITS WAY ACROSS THE ATLANTIC OCEAN.

Will YOU GIVE to save a life, or

"Shall Death Be the Highest Bidder?"

We hope you will not wait to be asked to give in person, but will send your check NOW to

SAYS RENT REVOLT WAS 'LOOSE TALK'

Bronx Grand Jury and District Attorney Expect No May Day Strike.

POLICE READY FOR ACTION

Will Move Quickly if Radicals Succeed in Causing Trouble—Moving Vans Lack Business.

The forces of the Police Department and the Department of Justice were poised last night to deal with any disturbances caused by tenants who accept the advice of radical agitators to start a revolt today in connection with the May Day celebration. According to Arthur J. W. Hilly, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering, agitators have organized 25,000 tenants in the Brownsville section of Brooklyn.

Federal authorities have learned that the Bolshevist elements hope that the rent payers will start trouble. The Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering has received reports that threats have been made against landlords by dissatisfied tenants, and the Bomb Squad and all ranks of the Police Department received special orders last night.

No Indictments in Bronx.

The Bronx County Grand Jury started an investigation into the reports of plans of the strike of the rent payers, and concluded that there would be no strike. The inquiry was started after District Attorney Francis A. Martin of the Bronx conferred with Mr. Hilly. When the subpoena servers were sent out to summon all those supposed to have information of the proposed strike, the Grand Jury did not believe it could make an exhaustive investigation.

"We found that the strike was a lot of loose talk and nothing more," said Mr. Martin. "We don't expect any trouble, but we are not taking any chances. Every precaution has been made to forestall any demonstration by dissatisfied tenants. The Bronx will be fully policed tonight and tomorrow under plans made a week ago."

It may take several days for trouble to manifest itself among the rent payers, according to Leo Kenneth Mayer, counsel to the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering. He said yesterday that political organizations were organizing committees of lawyers to look after the interests of the tenants brought into court by their landlords.

25,000 Move Today.

The Mayor's Committee estimates that 25,000 families will move today, and the Building Owners and Managers' Association said yesterday that there would be a greater movement of tenants in the financial and loft section below Forty-second Street than in the apartment sections. The furniture movers were not encouraged by the outlook for business. Some of them formerly moved twenty families in a day, but they were waiting for business yesterday.

Charles S. Morris, President of the van owners who came into the city dur- would agree on a reasonable and standard rate and that they would not tolerate profiteering. He said that serious injury to the good names of the moving van men was caused by out-of-town van owners who come into the city during moving time and charged high rates.

Mrs. Alva Gimbel of 31 East Seventy-second Street, wife of Bernard F. Gimbel of Gimbel Brothers, was in the Fifth District Municipal Court yesterday as defendant in a damage suit which grew out of her intercession for a family that was being evicted. The suit was brought by Mrs. Lillian L. Amouroux of 35 West Ninety-fifth Street for $264 damage to a glass door.

Mrs. Gimbel testified that she had gone to the plaintiff's home to intercede for a mother and her three small children who were being evicted from their home at 134 East Ninety-sixth Street. As she started to leave the house a glass door was broken in some way. The evicted tenant whom Mrs. Gimbel sought to help was Mrs. Thomas Fogarty, a widow whose husband was in the service and was killed. She has three small children.

A temporary injunction against the American Cotton and Grain Exchange, Inc., was obtained yesterday by Joseph H. Hakim, an importer, who charged that the defendant had entered his office at 71 Wall Street, removed his furniture and then boarded up the entrance of the place, where one of his employes was imprisoned. Mr. Hakim said that he got possession of the office under a lease expiring on May 1.

LAGUARDIA'S SHIRT STIRS BOROUGH HEAD

Board of Estimate Transacts Little Business Because of Tilts Among Members.

Threats of physical violence marked yesterday's meeting of the Board of Estimate and so many verbal rows were staged that little was accomplished in the way of transacting public business. The usual controversy between the Mayor and Controller Craig, intensified by the Mayor's refusal to sign the Controller's bill to abolish the office of City Chamberlain, extended to the other members of the Board, and at times all became engaged in baiting each other.

The physical violence threat came when the Controller broke up a row between F. H. LaGuardia, President of the Board of Aldermen, and Calvin D. Van Name, Borough President of Richmond. "If this exhibition of billingsgate doesn't stop, somebody is likely to get hit," admonished the Controller.

"The Controller doesn't say who is going to do the hitting or who is going to get hit," remarked Borough President Maurice E. Connolly of Queens.

"If there is going to be any fighting," broke in President LaGuardia, "I feel perfectly confident of being able to take care of myself."

The biggest row was started because President LaGuardia wore a khaki army shirt, as a protest against the high cost of living. Van Name wanted an appropriation for a bridge in Martling Lane, Staten Island. LaGuardia declared that the building of the bridge was a "wanton waste of money" at a time when the people were suffering from a scarcity of the necessities of life.

President Van Name said the board had already placed itself on record for a park in that vicinity and that the bridge was intended as a memorial to the American soldiers who died in France. Mr. LaGuardia said he thought the Borough President was capitalizing patriotism for commercial purposes.

"And the President of the Board of Aldermen capitalizes his patriotism by wearing a ridiculous looking shirt," snapped Van Name.

On the subsequent vote the proposition was carried, with President LaGuardia voting in the negative. There was also a flare-up between President Henry Bruckner of the Bronx and the Controller over the plans for the building of a schoolhouse, but the Mayor had scarcely squelched it when another broke out between the Controller and President Connolly.

CAN PAY DUTIES TO SONORA.

State Department Holds That Trade Need Not Be Halted.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Americans doing business in the State of Sonora and other parts of Mexico controlled by the revolutionists have been authorized to pay taxes and customs duties to the de facto authorities.

This authorization, it was explained today at the State Department, is in accordance with a recognized principle of international law and does not amount to recognition of a de facto Government.

The principle has been observed on several occasions in Mexico, notably when the Carranza revolution started and his forces obtained control of ports.

Inability of the recognized Government of Mexico to collect duties and taxes in territory held by the revolutionists, it was said, cannot be permitted to interfere with regular commercial transactions.

McLEOD RETURNS HOME.

Pastor Says Son Had Psychosis—No Report from Army Board.

Henry Blakely McLeod, the American soldier who disappeared from the army early in 1918 and was not found for two years, has returned to the home of his father, the Rev. James M. McLeod, with an honorable discharge, according to Dr. McLeod.

Although the findings of the army medical board have not yet been announced, Dr. McLeod said he understood through indirect sources that his son was found to be suffering from psychosis. He believes that an entire cure has since been effected. Young McLeod spent five weeks in the psychopathic ward of Walter Reed Hospital, Washington.

SAYS CARRANZA MEANT TO OUST AMERICANS

Cabrera So Admitted in a Public Speech, Asserts Our Former Consul at Vera Cruz.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—W. W. Canada, American Consul at Vera Cruz for twenty years, told the Senate Mexican Investigating Committee today that Luis Cabrera, Finance Minister in Carranza's Cabinet, had announced in 1914 that the present President of Mexico, in launching his successful revolution against Huerta, had as one of his ultimate objects the driving of "Americans out of Mexico and the taking of their property for Mexicans."

Mr. Canada said Cabrera's statement was made to foreign consuls who had assembled at Vera Cruz at his invitation at a time when President Wilson was insisting that Carranza should triumph:

"Cabrera called all the consuls in for a dinner," Mr. Canada said, "and then he made a speech to us, explaining Carranza's purpose. He estimated that this might be done also with Cubans and English living in the Republic. His speech was later printed in the Carranza newspaper. The German Consul adjourned the session."

Since that time, Mr. Canada said, Carranza has carried out a policy conforming with Cabrera's statement. "No protest made against mistreatment of Americans has ever been considered," he declared. "I would report to the Department, an American note would be written Carranza and he would dispute and evade, and nothing would be done. Every plantation owned by Americans has been ruined except one or two where graft paid to officials has protected them."

Mr. Canada said that when American refugees came to John Lind, President Wilson's personal envoy in Mexico, they were told "that such things as they were complaining of always happened in times of war and that Yankee soldiers had done much worse down South during the Civil War."

The witness said he resigned in 1918 "because it was only a question of time until Carranza trapped me."

"The State Department treated me all right," Mr. Canada added, "when Carranza sent word through Ambassador Bonillas here that I was plotting to blow up an American battleship in Vera Cruz harbor, to force intervention. Mr. Lansing sent him a message to quit nagging Canada or prove something.

"Then they arranged to send a woman to me with counterfeit money which I was to change for good money, and after that be arrested as a counterfeiter with the false money in my safe. They kept spies trying to get into my records and get something on me."

Mr. Canada told the committee that 2 per cent. of the Mexicans, those in the army and other places, were running the country, and that they could never bring peace or prosperity to the country.

"Armed intervention is the only thing that would do any good now," he said.

KIPS BAY GIVES PAGEANT.

Restore Historical Scenes of Colonies and Revolution.

Scenes of Colonial days in New York were portrayed in a historical pageant given by the Kip's Bay Neighborhood Association in the Lexington Opera House last night. Episodes depicted were Jacobus Kip's reception to Governor Peter Stuyvesant and George Washington's welcome at the home of Leonard Kip.

The pageant was written and directed by Mrs. May Pashley Harris. It will be repeated this evening. Its purpose is to bring together twenty-one nationalities now in the Kip's Bay district, and the encouragement of social and civic activities there.

Think Drowned Man Rich Brazilian.

A body believed to be that of Henry C. Doria, 24 years old member of a wealthy Brazilian family, was found yesterday in the North River at the foot of Ninety-sixth Street. The only identification was a bank book of the Mercantile Trust Company bearing the name "Henrique Doria." The police are trying to find a friend of Doria's who caused a confidential alarm to be sent out for him several weeks ago.

As the World wants Sugar, So Sugar-Capital wants Yield

YIELD is a matter of the soil, the cane, and the extraction. Because Fulton Mill extraction is higher than any other equipment can obtain; and—

Because Fulton efficiency is insured through Fulton service the world over (its duplicate parts are universally distributed and accessible; its engineers and executives are stationed everywhere in the sugar-producing world)—

Because Fulton is the only maker of the complete milling equipment of a plantation—together with complete power installation—its machinery embracing every stage of handling from the cane cartip to the delivery of the juice—

Because Fulton is the only exclusive manufacturer of sugar-cane machinery in the world—its development concentrating upon the making of a single product and the building and maintenance of the service that goes with the product—

These are the elemental reasons why the Fulton Mill is the world standard, a basic producing element and an element in the consideration of plantation values and earning-power in sugar-cane investments.

Fulton Mills and Crushers uphold their long-established standard for low maintenance, long life, highest extraction and maximum capacity.

The Fulton Iron Works enjoy a fundamental advantage of central location at St. Louis as a manufacturing site unsurpassed in relation to labor, raw material, rates and shipping facilities, with about equal access to all of the great American ports—rendering the shipper independent of embargoes, strikes or tie-ups in any one section, and assuring timely delivery to all parts of the world.

$25,000 BOND THEFT REVEALED IN COURT

POLICE HUNTING THIRD MAN

Confederate Disappeared After Getting the Liberty Bonds to Sell, Says Prosecutor.

In the arraignment in the Tombs Court yesterday of Arthur Wiegand, 22 years old, of 1,540 Putnam Avenue, Brooklyn, and Samuel Marro, 26, living at Richmond Hill, L. I., it became known that $25,000 worth of Liberty bonds of the first issue had been stolen last December from the Title Guarantee and Trust Company. The two men were held in $50,000 bail each by Magistrate Simpson, to be arraigned today in General Sessions on indictments charging them with grand larceny and criminally receiving.

According to Assistant District Attorney John T. Dooling, detectives have been working on the case for months, but it was not until a day or so ago that suspicion was centred on Wiegand, who has been a trusted employe in the transfer department of the bank for three years. Detectives Collins and Savage made the arrests, and they are searching for a third man believed to have been involved in the crime.

Wiegand admitted that he yielded to an impulse to take the bonds from a security box and concealed them in his clothes. He said he discussed disposing of the bonds with Marro, who agreed to try to sell them on a 50 per cent. basis. Marro, according to Mr. Dooling, managed to get rid of about $8,000 of the $25,000 worth of bonds.

Most of these were disposed of in Brooklyn, but Marro, it was stated, became afraid that he would be found out if he continued his activities there, so he went to Jacksonville and Miami, Fla. He could not induce dealers in either city to accept them, and later returned to this city. Marro turned over the remaining bonds to Wiegand at the latter's request, Mr. Dooling said, and the trust company employe arranged with a third man, now being sought by the police, to sell them.

This man never showed up again after he had obtained possession of the securities, Wiegand is said to have told the police. Marro has also made a complete confession, Mr. Dooling said.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION

Back to the Home!

IF anything can be done for the individual or the nation it is sure to be done in the home. No nation is stronger than its homes, and a real home is the surest source of Americanization. No single feature of home and family life is more important, more permanently telling than the reading that is supplied to the family. A family is soon known by its reading. As it reads so it thinks, as it thinks so it acts--and there is your community—the state—the nation.

The YOUTH'S COMPANION

52 Weekly Issues for $2.50

LONG ago The Youth's Companion outgrew its name, which, however, it must retain for its sentiment. The paper has become the Family Weekly of America—a magnifier of the home quality of life—a champion of family ties and unity.

Frankly, to those who do not care for the home and family atmosphere, The Companion has little appeal. To those who do love home and family and America, who do distinguish, who can discern, The Companion is indispensable.

Comes Every Week

In the 52 issues of a year there will be Strong Serial Stories of action and purpose, hundreds of Short Stories, Poems, Rare Articles by authorities, Current Events, Nature and Science, Games, Sports, Home Efficiency Suggestions, Money-Making Hints, the Doctor's Corner, and a flood tide of the far-quoted Companion humor.

THE COMPANION is a friend, a story-teller, an informer, a money saver and a humorist. It is both clean and able. It meets the need of family life in these times. It inspires, suggests and always entertains.

This weekly for the Whole Family—WHY NOT?

Mother likes The Companion through and through; likes it for herself, likes to know what the children are feeding their minds upon. And above all she believes in it.

Father finds The Companion Editorials are the clearest cut, and widest in range of any editorial page published. Nature and Science and Current Events columns keep him posted.

The Children's Page is a storehouse of appropriate things to read to the little ones before they are able to read for themselves. Strange how all ages read it!

The Boys think the paper is all theirs. Adventure, the Boys' Page, short stories, and everything that delights and helps your boys. See that they get this kind of reading.

The Girls find the Girls' Page "after their own hearts." The Family Page, Y. C. receipts, dainty things to make, pin-money ideas, special articles and other things of interest.

ASSAIL LOUIS POST FOR RELEASING REDS

Committeemen Say Assistant Secretary of Labor Nullified Justice Department's Work.

COUNSEL DEFENDS OFFICIAL

He Exercised Humanity, While the "Justice Officers Used Worse Than Russian Methods."

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Administration of radical deportation cases by Louis F. Post, Assistant Secretary of Labor, was attacked and defended today before the House Rules Committee, which is investigating Mr. Post's official conduct.

Members of the Immigration Committee, headed by Chairman Johnson, declared they had evidence that Government efforts to break up "the most damnable conspiracy in the nation's history" were practically nullified through release by the Department of Labor, largely at the instance of Mr. Post, of most of the 5,000 Communists arrested in the nation-wide raids.

The course of the Department of Labor, including that of the Assistant Secretary, was defended by Jackson H. Ralston, counsel for Mr. Post, who declared that the only criticism that could be directed against his administration was that he had "exercised humanity" and had proceeded on the theory that only in most exceptional cases should a man be torn from his family and sent from the country.

Mr. Ralston attacked the Department of Justice, asserting that its agents had used methods in dealing with alleged radicals that were not countenanced even in Russia when the Czarist régime was at the height of its power.

Representative Siegel of New York, Republican member of the Immigration Committee, declared that the secrecy maintained by the Department of Labor in deportation proceedings was without precedent and without authority.

The arrest of 5,000 Communists was followed by an "awful mix-up between the two departments," resulting in the release of the big majority of those held, said Chairman Johnson. The Department of Justice did its part, he said, but one obstacle appeared in Assistant Secretary Post.

Johnson told the committee that George Andreychine, described as "a prince of the I. W. W.," was released by the Department of Labor after letters had been exchanged by radical leaders saying "that if we can keep Secretary Wilson out making speeches Post will release Andreychine."

Later, he said, Andreychine was arrested for renewed radical activities in the Michigan copper district, indicted, convicted in the Federal court at Chicago and sent to Leavenworth penitentiary.

Johnson said the immigration committee had evidence that Emma Goldman, radical leader, had sent a plea by telegram to Assistant Secretary Post in behalf of one arrested Communist. Mr. Post, Mr. Johnson declared, referred the plea to the office of the Secretary of Labor with the notation that "Miss Goldman's representations of fact be given full credence."

Johnson said he did not introduce a resolution looking to the impeachment of Post because "the Assistant Secretary already had been impeached by eight-tenths of the people of the United States."

A statement by Mr. Ralston that "we in America have sunk to the level of the police Government of Russia under the Czarist régime," brought challenges and requests for modification from a half dozen members of the committee.

The witness first declared that he would stand on his assertion, but later modified it to exclude "a large part of the American people and the members of the Rules Committee," but not to exclude the representatives of the Department of Justice, who, he added, "were even lower in some of their methods than the old Russian officials."

CHICAGO, April 30.—George Andreychine was one of ninety-seven I. W. W. leaders convicted here in August, 1918, of conspiracy to prevent enforcement of the draft law and to encourage drafted men to resist induction into the army.

He was fined $20,000 and sentenced to twenty years in the Leavenworth penitentiary. He was one of thirty-six of the convicted men who joined William D. Haywood, former secretary of the I. W. W., in appealing. They were released on bail and their appeals will be argued here May 17.

FIGHT ON "OUTLAW" PLEA.

Carter Files Reply for Brotherhood—Board Hears Fitzgerald.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Another effort to gain a hearing before the Railroad Labor Board was made today by representatives of the nonrecognized associations of railroad men who have quit their jobs.

In a letter to Chairman Barton, officials of the new organizations said the recognized unions had misrepresented the strikers, and they asked that the new associations of yardmen and enginemen be permitted to present the wage demands of the strikers.

W. S. Carter, President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, protested against the board hearing the new organizations, declaring that if the board recognized men who had repudiated wage agreements made by the brotherhoods, a premium would be placed on the violation of agreements.

Radicals have been teaching the doctrine that labor should quit work when their demands were not acceded to, despite wage agreements entered into by the representatives of the unions, Mr. Carter said, and he held that the growth of this doctrine is resulting in the most serious situation organized labor has ever faced.

Demands of the railroad and steamship clerks, freight handlers, express and station employes were presented to the board today by E. H. Fitzgerald, President of the brotherhood.

He asked an increase in pay of 20 cents an hour, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1919, above the present average of 43 cents an hour, and differentials for responsibility among the various classes, two weeks' vacation with pay, time and a half for overtime, Sundays and holidays, and a minimum day of eight hours.

Results of a questionnaire submitted to the members of his organization, Fitzgerald said, showed that the present scale of wages is inadequate to a minimum standard of living and that most of the men are in debt.

Vassar Recalls First Founder's Day.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 30.—Scenes fo fifty-six years ago, when the first Founder's Day was celebrated at Vassar College, marked the observance of the 1920 event at the college today. Students were chosen to impersonate famous characters in the history of the college tonight. Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, the President, eulogized Matthew Vassar, the founder, in an address to the students this morning. The junior class won the annual singing contest.

140,000 Acres of Georgia's Finest Timber Lands will be Sold AT

AT 12 O'CLOCK

600,000,000 feet of Timber and 550 "Crops" of Turpentine will yield profits of $30,000,000.

THIS is an opportunity to acquire holdings that will yield enormous profits from Timber, Turpentine, Cattle Raising and Farm Cultivation. The greater portion of the timbered areas is virgin timber of original growth and has never been cut. 600,000,000 feet Pine Timber now ready for saw mill, and in addition a very large quantity of young Pine which will in a few years be large enough to saw. The land is adapted to the profitable cultivation of Cotton, Corn, Tobacco, Oats, Velvet Beans, Peanuts and Vegetables.

By working the Timber and Turpentine on this tract of 140,000 acres, it is estimated that the 600,000,000 feet of Pine Timber, and the 550 "crops" of Turpentine will yield at least $30,000,000 in profits.

Wide grazing pastures provide nine months natural grazing that will support 30,000 head of Cattle, 25,000 Sheep and 10,000 Hogs. There are now on the property 7000 head of Cattle, 10,000 Sheep and 5000 Hogs.

It is cheaper and more profitable to raise Cattle, Sheep and Hogs here than in any other place in America. The great Armour Plant at Jacksonville, Fla., less than 100 miles away, offers a ready market.

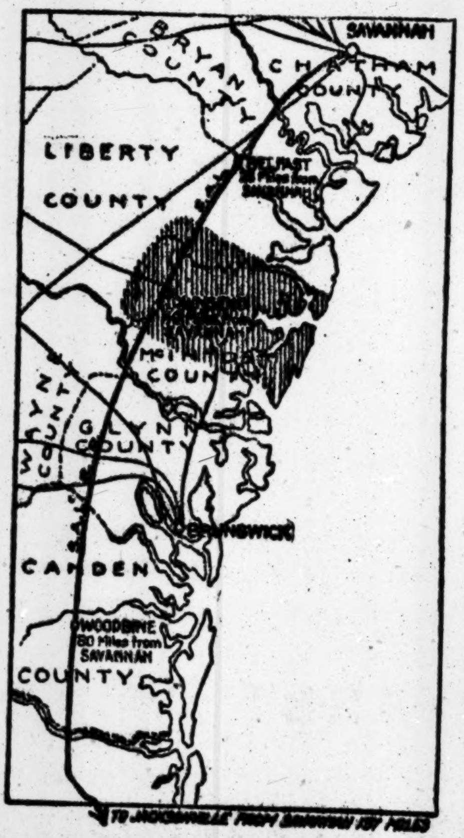
The greater portion of the property is fenced in, having more than 400 miles of woven wire fencing. Several improved farms are included, with comfortable homes, tenant houses, silos and tobacco houses.

Properties lie within a 12 mile radius of Townsend, Ga. on the main line of the Seaboard Air Line Railway. 36 miles railway frontage—5 railroad stations, and 20 miles of deep water frontage, with one of the best harbors on the Atlantic Coast.

Shaded portion of accompanying map shows location of properties.

The property is traversed by more than 200 miles of Automobile roads, including a long stretch of the Quebec-Miami Highway.

This property has been recently surveyed into 14 sub-divisions and maps prepared showing the natural boundaries of each sub-division. The property will be sold either as one tract or in tracts from 1000 acres to 30,000 acres.



Artesian wells give an abundance of fine water.

There is a hotel on the property which can accommodate one hundred guests, and Mr. Max Jasspon, noted forest engineer, will receive prospective buyers and show them the property.

EFFORTS TO SETTLE COAST STRIKE FAIL

LINES HAVE 1,000 AT WORK

The Apache Due Today with First Cargo of Fruit and Vegetables in Six Weeks.

Efforts of Assistant Attorney General C. B. Ames, working in conjunction with agents of the Department of Justice and a committee of the Merchants' Association, have failed to settle the longshoremen and harbor workers' strike. The longshoremen's strike began six weeks ago, and men are out at all the Atlantic Coast and Gulf ports. A statement issued last night by the Merchants' Association suggests that the men return to work, their grievances to be considered afterward, but the men refuse to return until their demands are granted.

The Clyde Line steamer Apache will arrive today from Florida with the first consignment of fruit and vegetables that has been brought by boat from that State since the strike started. E. A. Kelly, Assistant General Manager of the Clyde and Mallory Lines, said that more than 1,000 men have been employed to take the place of the strikers, and that the Clyde Line is sailing three steamers a week between New York and Jacksonville, but this is the first vessel to bring fruit or vegetables.

Word came from Boston last night that reports that the strike had ended there were untrue.

In the case of the longshoremen the Merchants' Association Committee found that the award of 65 cents an hour by the National Commission last Fall was binding, and that the men should return to work. The men have modified their demands to 80 cents an hour and $1.20 overtime, the rate paid to deep sea men.

T. V. O'Connor, International Vice President, who attended the conferences, returned last night to Buffalo. John F. Riley, President of the New York District Council of the Longshoremen, said last night that the men would not return until all conditions were met, and there was no use in trying to induce them to do so.

The presence of Mr. Ames in New York was the result of a telegram sent by the Merchants' Association to President Wilson. Mr. Ames first conferred with Colonel Francis G. Caffey, United States District Attorney for the Southern District of New York, and Joseph L. Bodine, United States District Attorney for New Jersey. The request for the committee and the hearing followed. The report is signed by Alfred E. Marling, President of the Chamber of Commerce of New York; William Fellowes Morgan, President of the Merchants' Association of New York; J. Sherlock Davis, President Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce; Lee Kohns, President New York Board of Trade and Transportation; H. Pushae Williams, President Chamber of Commerce of the Borough of Queens; James Brackenridge, President Bronx Board of Trade.

JAPAN ON THE MAINLAND.

Japanese occupation of the Siberian coast province is progressing successfully, such delays as have occurred being apparently due to the weather. Japanese demands on the local Russian authorities, which virtually amounted to enforcing the demobilization of all Russian troops in the province, have been accepted, because there was nothing else to do. Japanese official reports tell of a Russian attack on the Japanese at Nikolaevsk, hundreds of miles up the coast, in which the local Japanese guards, the Consul and several hundred civilians were massacred. A naval and military expedition on its way to the scene has been held up by the ice, so it may be some weeks before we get further news.

And it is by no means certain that full details, when we do get them, will confirm the original version. The Japanese military authorities appear to control Japanese news about events in Siberia, and we found that their version of the capture of Vladivostok was a long way from the truth. Independent witnesses told us that the fighting at Vladivostok took place in consequence of a Japanese attack upon unsuspecting and unprepared Russians, an attack which was excused by allegations of a Russian plot to attack the Japanese. Since the Japanese struck first, no one can say now whether the Russians were really preparing an attack or not.

In the Vladivostok fighting some Czechs were accidentally shot while the Japanese were attacking the Russians. Since then Czech and Japanese troops have clashed, and the Japanese fired on American engineers' barracks in the course of the fighting. The Japanese seem rather careless in their shooting. There is even talk among Japanese army officers of disarming the Czechs, who are merely on their way out of the country to take ship for home, on the ground that they are infected with Bolshevist sympathies and are aiding the Bolsheviki in their attacks on the Japanese railroad guards.

The Bolsheviki, it will be remembered, also tried to disarm the Czechs who were on the way home, and nearly lost Siberia in consequence. The Czechs do not disarm without a fight; and except in the face of great provocation, of the nature of which there can be no doubt, it can hardly be supposed that even Japanese Generals would undertake a step which could be executed only at the cost of arousing bad feeling in Europe and America. It is not only the Czechs and Russians who are having their troubles; Chinese troops have also been in conflict with the Japanese; the Interallied Technical Commission has protested against their behavior; and American railroad engineers are coming home because it seems likely that Japan hereafter will look after the railroads. General Oi, the Japanese commander, has now promised to keep hands off the railroads, and various higher officials are displaying a more conciliatory attitude; but minor officers keep stirring up trouble.

And the legal warrant for all this is only an appeal to Tokio from General Semenoff, who styles himself "successor to the legitimate Russian Government," for Japanese assistance. It is true that Semenoff held official position under Kolchak, to which Kolchak was virtually compelled to appoint him; it is also true, according to everybody who has been in Siberia, that he has long been paid by Japan. The Japanese had legitimate reason for protecting themselves against any threat to their own country from the Siberian coast, but their methods have been about as clumsy as possible. And it should be remembered that they have been bitterly criticised in Japan itself, where the liberal forces are much alarmed at the genius which the Japanese army has displayed for making enemies where there were only friends before. The struggle between liberalism and militarism in Japan is of the highest importance to every Power which has interests in the Pacific.

A MERELY THEATRIC EPISODE.

Anglo-American relations will not be strained by the "organized riot" which greeted Miss Laurette Taylor's return to the London stage. There was no question of the invasion of England by American actors. In fact, the talented lady seems for once to have been a supernumerary at her own première. With regard to certain relationships within the theatre, however, the incident is full of significance.

It appears that Miss Taylor's manager had been carrying on a feud with a certain English actress. Being required to take part in a scene of insurgent passions, this lady refused, on the ground that her many friends in high society would be inexpressibly grieved if she were to appear before them in an attitude so compromising. What she refused, in short, was to practice her art of impersonation, insisting that her own personality should dominate everywhere. Since the days of Colley Cibber it has been the commonest of all the foibles of the profession. To stars of a certain magnitude, no part is acceptable which does not exhibit them arrayed in all the virtues and beatitudes. Life fades behind a simper of sweetness, passion sinks in a sea of prudery. In such crises most managers make the best retreat they can, in silence if not in humility. The manager in question flew to the newspapers, charging English actresses with social snobbery and declaring that there was "more prudery in West End theatres than in "a young ladies' boarding school." Now the charge of prudery is apparently most distasteful. The result was a riot against the offending manager, which even those in the midst of it declared to be organized.

In the good old days international animosities throve in the theatre and at times eventuated in dramatic race riots. Traces of it persisted even to the era of the American tours of Salvini, Bernhardt and Duse, though it was mainly confined to articles written by the older and more reactionary critics. The London appearances of Edwin Booth and Richard Mansfield are said to have been seriously affected by a vigorous though hidden propaganda. But in the present generation amity has prevailed. Until a dozen years ago, nine out of ten plays produced in New York were of European origin, and there seemed actually to be a home prejudice against American plays. In the past decade the situation has been reversed. There have been times when the London stage seemed entirely given over to Broadway successes; Broadway slang is the latest word in refined English conversation. During the past three weeks three American actresses have appeared in American plays and have been triumphantly acclaimed by press and public. Though tears were streaming upon Miss Taylor's cheeks she exclaimed, "This is not like England!" and the audience proved her right by cheering her and urging that the play continue.

There can be no doubt, however, that the English stage resents the charge of prudery. Such a riot has not been seen since 1809, and then the cause was the even more momentous question of the price of seats.

A MILD REVOLUTION.

The Bolshevist organ Isvestia, according to dispatches from Berlin, where copies of the issue in question have been received, has just published an interesting report of the activities of the Extraordinary Commission for Combating the Counter-Revolution. During the years 1918 and 1919 this body put to death, in Moscow and Petrograd alone, 9,641 persons. Those two cities contained at most not more than 3 or 4 per cent. of the population of Russia, and while the Red Terror was probably much less active in most smaller places, and probably did not touch many country districts at all, the total number of persons executed must run up to a somewhat formidable figure. And this is what American liberals call the mildest and most humane of all revolutions.

It is probable that some of these 9,641 would have had to be executed by any Government which attempted to maintain order, but since this refers only to the two great cities, where the hand of the Bolsheviki was always strong—where, according to correspondents who have been there lately, crime has almost been stamped out—the percentage of the purely criminal victims is not likely to have been very large. The noted Jacob Peters told an American correspondent last Winter that somewhat more than 4,400 had been executed between November, 1918, and November, 1919. If he told the truth, the majority of the victims were shot before November, 1918, and probably most of them were put to death in the suppression of the rising of the left wing of the Social Revolutionaries in July, 1918.

Our liberal friends will say that any Government has the right to defend itself. The Bolsheviki seized the Government by force of arms, dispersed the elected Constituent Assembly by the menace of bayonets and defended their Government by executing nearly ten thousand people in two cities in two years. This is a strange sort of mildness. They have conquered Russia and they are maintaining order; they have dispossessed the old property-owning classes, but there are still rich men and luxurious women in Russia and there are still slaves. Riches are possessed and luxury displayed by different individuals from those who were favored before the revolution, but there is still an upper class, and the lot of the city laborer under the new labor laws is about as hard as that of the old serf on the country estates. This is what has been accomplished by a violent rising and the execution of thousands of people; our American liberals call it the only true democracy in the world.

THE OLD GUARD.

It is a pleasure to know that Senator Penrose's health is restored and that he will be able to go to the Chicago Convention. There is something richly humorous, however, in the legend of the mysterious wisdom and abysmal subtlety of the Republican Old Guard. Beings of preternatural sagacity, they pull the strings and all the marionettes of delegates dance obedience. What is the fact? The Old Guard was preposterously inept in 1912. It was preposterously inept in 1916. After all sorts of tricks and manoeuvres it had to swallow the candidacy of Mr. Hughes. Its prime rule of procedure seems to be to oppose. It is always "against" somebody. It is always pinning its hopes to or trying to use a candidacy which, in the end, usually fails. It has vainly fostered the ambitions of Senator Harding. With its usual wonderful cleverness it has helped Senator Johnson until it is afraid of him. Still the legend persists that the marvelous Elder Statesmen are to be the masters of the show at Chicago.

Possibly the delegates will be of a different opinion. The Old Guard never dies; but it has a wonderful alacrity in blundering.

ONE LONELY FIGURE.

Senator La Follette's sense of humor has been denied by some prejudiced person, but that it is strong and vivid is clear from the Wisconsin Republican platform, reprinted in his magazine. "We are opposed to the "League of Nations as a standing "menace to peace." In the same number is reproduced, doubtless to the confusion of Mr. La Follette's almost exaggerated modesty, an encomium on him that appeared in The Capital Times of Madison. It is most affecting. We can't resist the temptation to display one chunk of this entire and perfect chrysolite:

> One little man—one lonely figure. He is five and a half feet tall. What little he has of worldly goods is mortgaged. He is small in stature and is poor. And one man beats the combined power of the millions of wealth in this State; he beats the combined powers of a press which stopped at nothing to smash him; he beats the combined assault of privilege and wealth, single-handed and alone.

In a signed article Mr. La Follette says that the millionaires and their tools "lied us into the war and fed us on lies after we were in the war." Whatever the merits or the intellectual stature of the Badger "Little Giant," a man who permits himself to say things like that ought to be a lonely figure.

THE SOLID SOUTH.

When one of the primary Presidential candidates who is also one of the leading members of the United States Senate discovers that the solid South is "certain to be broken" and that it will be "henceforth no more than a political memory," he may not inspire much confidence in that political wisdom which is desirable in a President, but he gives a beautiful and impressive example of hope triumphing over experience. If Mr. Harding is nominated and expects to count part of the once solid South in his column next November, how disappointed he will be! And, if elected, with what misgivings will his fellow-citizens look for the next manifestation of that too, too sanguine temperament! But perhaps after all Mr. Harding is not really looking for Southern votes in the Electoral College. Perhaps he is only looking for them in the convention, where they have to be Republican and might as well be for Harding as for anybody else.

That break in the solid South! Two generations have looked for it in vain. Why, the straining of eyes began when the solid South was first created by President Hayes's act in withdrawing the troops from the South. He sought to counteract that act by making a Southerner, David M. Key of Tennessee, a member of his Cabinet. It was the then lowest place, the Postmaster Generalship, but the Republicans thought the South's solidity was so slight a thing that a compliment could break it. Later came local breaks, such as the election of Marion Butler to the Senate from North Carolina, but the hopes that were founded on the Populist movement were broken in the election. It did give a chance to Southerners discontented with a party in which they did not believe to break away and still not have the disqualifying word "Republican" attached to their names, but the Populist theories were too strong for the Southern gorge.

The most sincere and respectable effort to break the solid South was that of John M. Parker—and of Colonel Roosevelt as his valiant but incredulous assistant—in 1912. Parker formed a branch of the Progressive Party in that year, when the Progressives and not the Republicans were the second party at the poll in the nation. It was confined to Louisiana, but in the chaotic condition then prevailing there seemed a good chance of breaking the "ring" of that State. Louisiana hated the ring and there was no necessity of attaching the word Republican to the ballot. Besides, Parker was more popular than the whole ring combined. Nevertheless, the immemorial tradition that in the Presidential year it is socially impossible to vote for any other than a Democrat prevailed, and the Progressive ticket was defeated. Recently Parker prevailed. He broke the ring at last, but did it as a Democrat.

MAY DAY IN FRANCE.

At the instigation of extremist leaders representing, it is said, only a minority of the membership, the French Railroad Workers' Federation has decided to strike on May Day with the purpose of forcing the Government to consent to nationalization. It is a direct action strike for political objects. It is notorious that the General Federation of Labor was cold to it, as to the recent railway strike. These extremists, however, have forced the hand of the General Labor Federation, which has issued a proclamation ordering "the total stoppage "of the economic life of the country "to manifest the will of the workers "to have their immediate claims "granted." The Federation also demands nationalization. This general strike is to be regarded as a "demonstration." In their loyalty to the union the workers will lose a day. The pacifists, the defeatists, the lovers of the Soviet, the sinister element that suffered such a crushing defeat at the polls, are simply trying to make what trouble they can economically and to prove the solidarity of the members of the Federation.

A Unified Socialist Deputy, Mr. Vaillant-Couturier, celebrated Shakespeare's birthday by publishing in Le Populaire an article interpreted as inciting the 1920 class of recruits to disobey orders. One would suppose that the French firebrands had learned enough about the detestation in which they are held by the veterans of the war to see the hopelessness of trying to corrupt the boys called to the colors this year. The French people have plenty of sense, if the radicals have not. In the late railway strike the shopkeepers refused to feed the strikers. When the fares of the Paris "taxi" drivers became excessive, Paris refused to ride in cabs. As for the Government, it is not to be expected that Mr. Millerand will be less resolute in dealing with the strikers than was Mr. Briand or Mr. Clemenceau. Direct action is no more likely to succeed in France than in Great Britain, where for the moment the railway workers have decided to work "according to the rules"—that is, to display no initiative and to meet no emergency.

Meanwhile, Paris can't help grinning at the masterpiece of humor in the address of the United Unions of the Seine Department: "Do not "work on May 1, so that the maxim "'He who will eat must produce' "may be applied." Evidently the United Unions are going to keep May 1 as Fast Day.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Problem in Need of Solution. No phenomenon of these after-the-war times is more discussed, and none is either more puzzling or more in need of explanation, than the apparent determination of a large part of "labor" no longer to give in return for wages, no matter how high, the sort and amount of work that once was expected from all and obtained from those who claimed and to whom was accorded the name of "good workmen."

That this determination exists is asserted by so many employers in so many lines of industry, and is supported by such convincing statistics, that it, or something that looks like it, must be widespread, though to doubt or deny that it is general is still possible. The workers themselves have made no explicit announcement of "soldiering on the job" as a consciously adopted policy, and it may be that what has been observed is less the conscious following of a plan believed to be somewhat advantageous to labor than a phase or form of the "shell shock" which was produced by the war and is by no means confined to the men who were under fire at the front.

It is to be hoped, at any rate, that the kinder interpretation of the observed facts is the true one. If it is not true, there is difficulty in avoiding the conclusion that the facts indicate the abandonment by a large and important class of what hitherto, through all the ages, has been a common instinct and desire of humanity—to better a present condition, to gain promotion, to acquire power by accepting responsibility, to be a master instead of a hired man, to escape from the hardships, the restraints and the humiliations of poverty.

None of these things can be done, in the world as it always has been, by those who work as little instead of as much as they can, and separate entirely their interests from those of their employers. It is incredible, however, that human beings have ceased wanting and trying to improve their status, and the change must be one, not of end, but of the chosen means.

A Dubious Theory Propounded. Among the possibilities to be considered by those seeking an explanation of "labor's" new and disquieting attitude—assuming the attitude to be new and disquieting—is the possibility that workingmen now do not want to do the things that in times past had raised so many of them into the class called "capitalistic" because they have convinced themselves that in view of coming events it is better and safer to remain what and where they are. That was to some degree, at least, the case in Russia after Kerensky gave place to Lenin, but the United States is not Russia, nor are American workingmen in any respect like the peasants who form such a huge majority of Russia's population.

The possibility, therefore, is but a remote one. The most to be said for it is that it would explain, after a fashion, conduct that otherwise has been unexplained—conduct that otherwise would be merely a manifestation of hopelessness and the abandonment of all the old ambitions.

Its Proofs Are Not Required. Another mystery of the day is the apparent belief by an unknown, but apparently large, number of workingmen in most of the European countries that they can gain something or accomplish something by means of a general strike lasting only a single day.

By it, of course, they show that the world cannot get along without its workers—that upon their services depend not only the luxuries and comforts of life, but the very continuance of life. Nobody, however, has any doubt of those facts and they do not need proving.

On the other hand, a general strike, whether it be long or short, divides its consequences and injuries among all classes, and those who will feel them first and most severely are those least prepared with accumulated resources to meet a cessation of supplies.

A general strike for a single day is not much more terrifying for the great majority of people than is the arrival of Sunday or the adding of a new holiday to the calendar. A general strike lasting for a week would make grave trouble in any city for all except the rich, but one that lasted a month would be—there is no necessity to detail its appalling effects, for long before the month was up work would be resumed as the one measure by which the idle millions could avoid starvation.

So far as can be remembered, there has never been even a brief general strike that involved all the workers of a single nation, and none of an extent deserving to be called really wide has persisted for more than two or three days. As a threat the device has a certain efficiency; in application the strikers are sure to be more hurt than those whom they think their enemies and whom they are trying to coerce.

England's Turn Is Next! Apparently there are people in England who view the prohibition movement there as something not to be dismissed as beyond the domain of possibility. They must admit it is not a quite hopeless cause who are insuring themselves against loss in case traffic in alcoholics is stopped by law within a year. The rate they are paying is small, indeed, being only 10 shillings for £100, or one-half of 1 per cent.; but even that is enough to make Mr. "Pussyfoot" Johnson's justly celebrated smile broaden beyond its accustomed limits, and if he were not a tactful person he might indulge in derisive jeers at those who recently found him so amusing.

A totally abstinent England is almost unthinkable, indeed, by those who have observed the habits of its people, even though the observing has been confined to their novels. A good many unthinkables, however, have insisted of late on acceptance as realities, and, on the principle that misery loves company, thirst-stricken America would find its griefs appreciably lightened if they were shared by the British.

Who are they that they should continue to crook their elbows after that diversion has been forbidden to their affectionate cousins?

Fifth Avenue Traffic Criticism.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The new plan of traffic regulation applied to Fifth Avenue has greatly facilitated the movement of traffic. It has, however, a serious defect, which holds considerable danger for the pedestrian.

For example, when the east and west bound traffic is moving, the pedestrian going north or south on the Avenue is halted at the cross streets. On the change of signal, the Avenue traffic is resumed and the east and west is stopped. The pedestrian taking his cue from the white light, and seeing the east and west traffic stopped, assumes he may cross the east and west streets—and in safety. But as he is crossing, motor cars from the lines of the Avenue traffic, moving in either direction, are permitted to turn into the cross streets directly across his path and supposed right of way, to his great danger. From my own experience and observation, escapes by the narrowest margin occur daily.

Traffic that is to turn into the cross streets should not be allowed to do so while the Avenue traffic is moving and the white light beckons on the Avenue pedestrian. His safety should be guarded by preventing traffic from crossing his right of way. Some solution should be found for this menace. Such traffic might be held back until the green light shows, when it could readily join the east and west bound lines, at no danger to the pedestrian, since he at the moment would be halted by the signals set against him. At present there is a conflict of right of way.

These conditions are, of course, equally true where the pedestrian is moving east or west across the Avenue, with traffic from the cross streets turning into the Avenue, since the relative positions would be the same.

A Bonus Instead of a Treaty.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

There was no talk of bonuses in the camps or on the firing line. The end of war, the League, and the establishment of permanent peace were what we fought for. Trying to buy off the fighting men with bonuses! Congress is taking a pitiable substitute for what we wanted and still want!

THE BLACK SHEEP.

The white sheep crop the tender grass,
  Nor look beyond the bars;
The white sheep lie within the fold,
  And know not storms nor scars;
But the Black Sheep wanders alone—alone—
  Under the lonely stars.

The white sheep list to the shepherd's pipe,
  And their wandering is stayed;
The white sheep walk in the beaten path
  By the careful shepherd made;
But the Black Sheep follows his own—his own—
  And he keeps it unafraid.

Bush and brier may tear his fleece,
  But never a whit cares he;
To the meek white sheep he leaves safety and peace,
  He must be free—be free!
For the quest he follows is more than food—

FLORENCE VAN CLEVE.

AMUNDSEN TO TRY AGAIN FOR POLE

After Visit to Nome, the Explorer Hopes to Drift in Ice as He Had Planned.

WILL RETURN TO SIBERIA

Christiania Report Gives Facts of First "Battle" to Force His Way in Frozen Sea.

LONDON, May 1.—Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian arctic explorer, has not abandoned his expedition, but after his impending visit to Nome, Alaska, he intends to enter the ice pack around Wrangel Island, off the northern coast of Eastern Siberia, and thence drift across the Polar Sea, says a dispatch to The London Times from Christiania.

A message dated from Amundsen's ship, the Maud, somewhere in the arctic, the first received direct from the explorer since he began his tour of exploration, begins with the departure of the Maud from the vicinity of Cape Chelyuskin, continues The London Times. It came by Anadir and Nome. The message was undated, but probably was written about Christmas time.

"We left our Winter place," says Amundsen's message, "Sept. 12, 1919, after having mined and forced our way through 2,500 yards of unbroken ice from two to three yards thick. We were detained the next day by heavy pack ice at St. Samuel's Islands, but got through on the 14th and continued on our way to the east, being again detained the next day, as the ice lay close to St. Peter's Islands and did not assist any in our passage outside.

"We had to force our way through an unknown strait between the islands and the mainland, where the newly formed ice offered considerable resistance. We succeeded after a vigorous battle in penetrating this intricate and shallow passage, showing in some places no more than one and a half feet of water under our keel."

Turned Back by Ice Drifting South.

"Much ice was found in the Nordenskjold Sea," Amundsen's report continued, "but it offered small hindrance to our advance. We passed through the Strait of Laptec, separating the inner Siberian islands from the mainland, on the 19th. The sea to the east of the islands seemed free from ice, and we shaped our course from Jeanette Island, but were stopped the next morning by an impenetrable pack on the seventy-third parallel.

"We made fast to the edge to commence our drift, but found shortly afterward by close examination that the ice pack was in drift toward the south at the rate of one and one-half knots an hour. This would not pay, so we cast loose from the ice after a very careful inspection which left us no hope whatsoever of penetrating it, and shaped our course to the southeast, following the ice.

"It was a bitter pill to swallow, but we decided to search for Winter quarters somewhere along the coast. The only fit place was Choan Bay (on the north coast of Eastern Siberia, south of Wrangel Island). Navigation southward of here in the latter part of September was most extraordinary. The nights were pitch dark and the sea running heavy, and enormous ice floes very often were in the middle of our course. It was not pleasant. From time to time a brilliant aurora borealis would appear and light us out of many intricate situations.

Ice Beat Ship, Closed Its Harbor.

"A northwest gale had been blowing at this time, and the result was that the ice pack reached our Winter quarters just a little ahead of us and shut us out. We had no choice as the ice came closer and closer to the coast. We went, therefore, as far as the ice permitted, and plunging into some old floes fringing the west coast of Aiun Island (at the mouth of Chaoun Bay), our position became not as good as I had wished, as we were exposed to the whole ice pack. However, our gallant little vessel will certainly stand the test with flying colors.

"Three days after our arrival here we met with some members of the Tschuktschi and Mayuati tribes. They had their tents on Aiun Island, but left for the interior of the country Oct. 13 to spend the Winter in the woods watching their reindeer herds.

"Sverdrup left together with them, equipped for eight months, in order to study these collections (tribes?). Clonkin left Oct. 20 for Nishne Kolymsk (at the head of the Kolyma River), carrying dispatches intended for home. But he returned Nov. 11, having met with Russians at a little village on the Kolyma called Saharnaia, who told him that no connections could be obtained from Nishne Kolymsk with the outside world on account of the war. Hansen and Wisting will leave shortly for Nome with the mail.

"As soon as the ice opens in the Spring we are continuing our way as far as Nome, where I hope to be in July or August, 1920."

After asking that the mail be forwarded, Amundsen concludes:

"We are leaving Nome after a short stay to enter the ice around Wrangell Island, from where the drift probably will take us five years. All well and happy. AMUNDSEN."

A wireless dispatch received at Nome, Alaska, the night of April 22, from Anadir, Siberia, a trading post on Bering Sea, said Amundsen had arrived there. An American Navy wireless dispatch received at Cordova, Alaska, also reported the arrival at Anadir of Amundsen, from his ship, the Maud, which was said to be icebound near the mouth of the Kolyma River.

DOUBTS AMUNDSEN FAILED.

V. Stefansson Thinks Explorer Only Postponed His Effort.

Vilhaljmur Stefansson, the explorer, who returned from England Thursday on the St. Paul, said yesterday that his visit there was merely for his health and not connected with any expedition or to further his suggestion for the utilization of the arctic meat supply by the domestication of the musk ox and caribou.

Mr. Stefansson said he did not believe that the arrival of Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, at Amadyr, Siberia, indicated the failure of his expedition. "Amundsen upon leaving Christiana said he intended to let his ship be frozen in the ice and go with the drift," he said. "I should say that his arrival on the coast of Siberia indicates merely a postponement of this effort."

DENIES PROFIT IN SUGAR.

Monney Declares Few Growers Benefited at 18 Cents a Pound.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Increased costs and short production were the controlling factors in the agreement by the Department of Justice that Louisiana sugar producers would not be prosecuted if they sold their last year's crop at 17 and 18 cents a pound, the House Judiciary Committee was told today by United States District Attorney Mooney of Louisiana.

Last year's crop was only 43 per cent. of that in 1918, he said, adding that in the latter year the Sugar Equalization Board had fixed 9 cents as a "fair price" for the large crop. Chairman Husted remarked that the agreement apparently permitted the same net profit on the short crop as on a normal yield.

"Very few people in Louisiana made a profit," said Mooney. "Wet weather and weeds ran away with the profit."

Mr. Husted said that George A. Zabriskie, President of the Sugar Equalization Board, had informed the committee that the board could have bought the entire Louisiana crop at 15 cents. Mr. Mooney said he doubted that this could have been done.

WOULD FREE WATER POWER.

Bill Agreed Upon Expected to Bring Big Developments.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Described by Chairman Jones, of the Senate Commerce Committee, as legislation affecting every citizen of the United States, the water power bill, as agreed upon in conference, would create a federal power commission composed of the Secretaries of War, Agriculture and Interior. This commission would have authority over all matters pertaining to the development of water power in which the Federal Government has jurisdiction or in which it is interested as an owner of lands or other property necessary to such projects.

The commission may issue preliminary permits allowing applicants three years in which to make examinations of water power projects, prepare plans and make financial arrangements. The commission also may issue licenses for a period of fifty years from expiration of the preliminary permits or it may reserve such projects as should be undertaken by the Federal Government. Preference must be given by the commission to States and municipalties if they are equally adapted to utilize water resources.

Senator Jones in a statement said he was informed that water power developments to be undertaken on enactment of the bill would have a capacity of more than 4,000,000 horsepower and would open up to navigation more than 4,000 miles of the upper reaches of streams.

TO AID GROTON IRON WORKS.

Fleet Corporation Will Advance $1,000,000 to Finish Three Ships.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Emergency Fleet Corporation has agreed to advance $1,000,000 to the Groton Iron Works for completion of three vessels under construction, W. W. Nottingham, assistant counsel of the Shipping Board, told the House committee investigating Shipping Board activities today. This amount is needed to carry out a construction program more than 90 per cent. completed, the witness said, adding that the board had paid $16,155,648 up to March 26, 1920, on ship construction.

Advancing of $1,000,000 was the logical way to meet the emergency arising out of the failure of the iron works, Nottingham argued. Another receivership could be declared, he said, but officials of the board had agreed that the money advance would enable the plant to speedily complete the construction program and "relieve the company's embarrassment."

Nottingham denied that failure of the board to pay promptly as construction advanced forced the iron works into receivership. The company was overpaid $1,500,000 on March 20, 1919, he declared, and explained that the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation, a subsidiary of the United States Steamship Company, which owns a controlling interest in the iron works, had guaranteed to reimburse the Fleet Corporation for any excess payments to the Groton company.

CALL PRINT PAPER BROKERS.

Senators Want Them to Disclose Their Costs and Profits.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Print paper brokers from New York and other cities will be summoned before the Senate committee investigating the paper situation, it was decided by the committee in executive session today. The date of their apeparance is indefinite.

Chairman Reed said the committee plans to go to the bottom of the print paper situation, in an effort to ascertain the cost of production and what profits are being made from the sale of paper, especially through brokers to the small publishers.

William Randolph Hearst and Frank A. Munsey, New York publishers, were unable to appear before the committee today, and the open hearings were postponed until tomorrow.

TOKIO BANKS STRONGER.

Have Ample Funds Now to Avert Panic, They Report.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Official advices today from Tokio say that the financial situation in Japan continues to improve. The Governor of the Bank of Japan has announced that ample funds are held by the bank to avert a panic, and that the moneys invested abroad and on deposit abroad will not have to be withdrawn.

A syndicate has been organized to take over stock collateral and relieve the market.

Business is said to be showing little tendency to revive from the effect of the financial depression, and general wage reductions are looked for. Match factory employes already have accepted a cut rather than be laid off, the report says.

SIGNS VETERANS' BILLS.

Governor Approves Four Measures Affecting Former Service Men.

ALBANY, April 30.—Four bills affecting veterans of the World War became laws with the approval of Governor Smith today.

One amends the county law so as to provide for the erection of memorials to commemorate soldiers, sailors, marines and nurses who served in the United States forces in any of its wars.

Three amend the general city law so as to include officers of the American Legion in the membership of the boards for spending Memorial Day moneys; amend the village law by exempting from payment of poll taxes former service men who lost an arm or leg in the World War; and amend the tax law by exempting from taxation real property purchased from proceeds of a bonus or insurance granted by the United States or the State of New York for military or naval services, no exemption to exceed $5,000.

The Sage bill, appropriating $1,850,000 for the completion of barge canal terminal construction work at Buffalo, Rochester and New York was also signed by the Governor.

FLEMISH TAPESTRY, $1,500.

The Highest Price at Freund Art Sale—Total Now $49,767.

At the Karl Freund sale at the Clarke Galleries yesterday afternoon a sixteenth century Flemish tapestry, No. 526, brought the highest price of the day, going to Luigi Orselli for $1,500. This was one of the Alexander tapestries, a scene with warriors on foot and on horse back and the youthful Alexander in the centre. A seventeenth century Flemish château tapestry, No. 525, went to Mr. Orselli for $1,200.

Mrs. Oliver D. Iselin paid $950 for No. 529, an interesting seventeenth century tapestry woven largely in silk, a château on a hillside having a curved stairway leading down to formal gardens while large trees on either side framed the scene with verdure. A large Directoire paper painting, "The Sun Dial," 24¼ inches by 31½ No. 519, was purchased by Mrs. Walter Farwell for $430, and No. 474, a sixteenth century Persian miniature, went to Mrs. B. W. Morriss, for $240. Other buyers were Colonel J. J. Kerrigan, Mrs. W. B. Dick, Mrs. J. R. De Witt and Mrs. M. L. Shelton.

Returns for the afternoon were $17,792, making a total to date of $49,767. The sale will be concluded this afternoon.

Winners of Chaloner Art Prizes.

Rewards were made as follows at the sixth competition of the John Armstrong Chaloner Concours, at the National Academy of Design yesterday, the subject "Composition": First prize, $25, to Josef Lenhard, National Academy of Design Schools; second prize, $15, Cleo Damianes, Oakland, Cal.; third prize, $10, to Carlo Lella, National Academy of Design Schools. Honorable mention was given to Charles C. Allen, Max Starr, Joseph Wanger and Robert Brackman, all of the National Academy of Design Schools. Free exhibition of these compositions will be held at the National Academy of Design for one week, beginning May 3.

INTERCHURCH DRIVE NETS $101,213,670

Anonymous Gift of $3,000,000 to Baptists—Rockefeller Gives $375,000.

Hughes Says Full Opportunity for Religion Would End May Day Fears.

The Interchurch World Movement went "over the top" yesterday by winning more than its first $100,000 000 of the $336,777,572 which it is seeking this week. The campaign will end tomorrow evening. The total amount subscribed so far is $101,213,670, of which the new subscriptions yesterday were $14,264,220.

The Baptist drive for $100,000,000, which is a part of the campaign for $336,777,572, increased yesterday to $35,935,741, of which $3,000,000 was a single anonymous gift. This makes $9,000,000 which the Baptist fund has received in large individual gifts made anonymously through the Rev. Dr. John Y. Aitchison. Dr. Aitchison is director of the New World Movement of Northern Baptists, which is conducting the drive.

The largest contributor yesterday to the Interchurch fund was John D. Rockefeller, whose new gift was $375,000. This makes his share in the "Citizens' Fund" $500,000.

The total of the gifts to the joint drive from the Rockefeller family is now $6,950,000, of which $6,000,000 went directly to the Baptist fund. On the first day of the Interchurch drive John D. Rockefeller, Jr., gave $200,000 and his mother's estate contributed $250,000. Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., is Associate Chairman of the Advisory Committee of the New York Committee of the Interchurch Movement.

The next largest gift to the Interchurch fund yesterday was $100,000 from Arthur Curtiss James, who is an elder in the First Presbyterian Church. Frederick W. Vanderbilt gave $10,000 and Charles Hayden contributed $5,000. New York pledges of $2,252,315 were reported at noon in the McAlpin Hotel at the daily meeting of those managing the drives. The day's total increased the whole amount raised in New York City to $5,820,155.

Charles E. Hughes, in a message yesterday to Dr. Aitchison, expressed the belief that religion and good citizenship are inseparable.

"There could be no apprehension regarding May 1 or any other day if we gave to the full number of our population, native-born and foreign, the opportunity for religious training and worship," said Mr. Hughes. "In the widespread discussion of Americanism today it should be remembered that the men who gave us the ideals and institutions we cherish were almost without exception imbued with a deeply religious spirit."

Among the large State totals received at the Baptist headquarters, at the Holland Building, last evening were: Illinois, $1,380,123; Indiana, $1,017,000; Massachusetts, $2,250,000; Michigan, $1,200,000; New Jersey, $1,546,700; Upper New York, $2,607,284; New York City, $4,290,615; Ohio, $1,500,617, and Pennsylvania, $2,597,055.

William G. McAdoo, ex-Secretary of the Treasury, made an appeal yesterday at the McAlpin to the teams of Interchurch canvassers.

"We need less of politics and more of Christian religion," he said. "Reaction and materialism seem everywhere to be in the saddle. Men's minds are in confusion. There is no comprehension of the real problems, and so long as there is no comprehension, no intelligent remedies can be offered. What we need immediately is to organize and revitalize the great spiritual forces of the world. We need to bring into operation those great Christian doctrines and forces which have always been not alone the chief anchorage but the very salvation of civilization."

New Jersey and Connecticut both increased their subscriptions to the Interchurch fund yesterday. New Jersey reported $2,171,700, and Connecticut reported that her total was rapidly approaching $1,000,000.

$1,000,000 Gift to Church Movement

PITTSBURGH, April 30.—An anonymous gift of $1,000,000 to the united financial campaign of the Interchurch World Movement was announced at a luncheon of workers here today. The gift, from a member of the First United Presbyterian Church, north side, was the largest the United Presbyterians had yet received and enabled the Allegheny Presbytery to pass its quota.

DISCUSS SCOTS' 'DRY' PLANK

British Unions View Northern Men's Action as Political Feeler.

LONDON, April 30.—Officials of the British Trades Union Congress were surprised by the Scottish Trades Union Congress resolution in favor of prohibition as against State control of liquor. The British union officials, however, say such action on the part of the Scottish Labor Party was more to be expected, as it might be regarded as useful for the party's political purposes.

Advocacy of prohibition by a section of British union men is declared to be regarded by British union officials as little short of revolutionary, especially in view of the fact that it is this element, they say, on which the liquor interests have been concentrating their appeals in an effort to outmanoeuvre the prohibitionists.

HER ESTATE $13,000,000.

Legacies of $7,600,000 and Losses of $2,692,500 in Harkness Accounting.

Some of the details of the distribution of an estate exceeding $13,000,000 in value were revealed in an intermediate judicial settlement account filed in the Surrogate's office yesterday, by the executors of the estate of the late Mary Warden Harkness, who died at her home, 2 East Fifty-fourth Street, in December of 1916. WILLIAM SHILLABER, FINANCIER, DIES AT 79

Vice President of Bush Terminal Co. Was Son of Author of Famous "Mrs. Partington."

William Shillaber, Vice President of the Bush Terminal Company, President of the Newfoundland-American Packing Company and an official and Director of several other large corporations, died Thursday night of heart disease, in his eightieth year, at his residence, 276 Riverside Drive. His father, Benjamin Penhallow Shillaber, one of the foremost American humorists of the last century, was the creator of the famous "Mrs. Partington," whose malapropian "Life and Sayings" brought their author world-wide fame.

Mr. Shillaber's active career was exceptionally long and embraced the hardware business, railroading and finance. For many years he ran a large hardware establishment in Chelsea, Mass., his father's old home. After the great fire of 1872 had destroyed his property he became associated with Collis P. Huntington in the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, with headquarters in Richmond. Subsequent to his removal to this city he managed the E. F. Searles estate.

LONDON BEFOGGED OVER STAGE RIOT

But Will Atone with a Public Dinner When Miss Taylor Resumes Interrupted Play.

NONE CAN EXPLAIN UPROAR

James Matthews Says Gallery Gave Greeting at Door—Press Regret International Aspect.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 30.—The uproar that stopped Laurette Taylor's performance in the play "One Night in Rome" last night is the sensation of the hour. None can explain it, and the newspapers hail it as a mystery. At the Garrick Club and other resorts of the profession, the actors confess themselves in the dark as to the cause of the trouble, and wild theories, such as that the disturbers were deliberately out to stir up bad feeling between the United States and England, are advanced as being as good as any other.

"The management of the Garrick Theatre, where Miss Taylor was appearing, deny these theories, however.

"We cannot explain it, but it is quite clear that the demonstration was not against Miss Taylor nor against American actors," said James W. Matthews, who is manager for Miss Taylor and was formerly Charles Frohman's representative in London and more recently with Charles Dillingham at the Hippodrome.

"The play was not American," he continued, "as it is written by Miss Taylor's husband, an Englishman. The company is not American, and as for Miss Taylor herself, the gallery listened to her with deep attention for thirty-five minutes during the first act, and gave her four curtain calls at its close.

"Then we breathed freely, for we thought the difficulty that had appeared was over, and when it began again Miss Taylor was not on the stage. Moreover, as she left the theatre a number of regular gallery gods were at the stage door and mockingly assured her they were 'as angry as could be.' We took Ambassador Davis behind the scenes and he was as nice as could be. He is a fine fellow. He will be there on Monday when we reopen.

"'How is Miss Taylor?' Quite naturally she was a good deal upset this morning, and she has gone to the seaside for the week-end. She was much pleased, however, by the shoals of telegrams of sympathy that she received today. They came from all sorts of prominent people quite unconnected with the stage. Her room was littered with them."

Asked about the question of the play's scenery, Mr. Matthews replied that it was true the scenery was small for the Garrick Theatre.

"It was made for the Criterion, at Forty-fourth Street and Broadway, and as the Garrick gallery is very steep the top rows may not have seen properly. But in the second act the binders were raised three feet and removed all source of complaint, even if Miss Taylor's little joke about 'doing things on a small scale in America' had not mollified the gods.

"But," said Mr Matthews, "it was only a little organized gang of twenty, thirty or so regular 'tough guys.' They were quite unlike regular theatregoers. We hope to get to the bottom of it all on Monday, but please make it as plain as you can that we are convinced it was not a demonstration against Miss Taylor or American players."

All suggestions that there had been labor troubles with either Charles B. Cochran or the Garrick Theatre management were laughed at, and the theories that met with as much acceptance as any others were that trouble was part of a deliberate attempt to stir up ill feeling between England and America, emanating from German quarters, or that Sinn Feiners, angry at the Wormwood Scrubbs hunger strike, have adopted a new form of suffragette tactics. There is no evidence in support of either, but Justice Horridge of the High Court is quoted as putting forward the last mentioned theory.

Meanwhile Miss Taylor and her husband have been invited by the Playgoers' Club to attend their ladies' night dinner on May 16, to mark the club's indignation at the treatment the star had received.

London newspaper critics are practically unanimous in denying that the demonstration was anti-American, but as The Westminster Gazette says, "to continue to rag the play after a personal appeal had been made by Laurette Taylor, for whom London audiences have the greatest affection, was an act of gross discourtesy, and we hope that future audiences will compensate her for the distress the episode must have caused her.

A writer in The Star says: "Behind the scenes after the curtain had been rung down at the Garrick, I found nearly a score of stage celebrities consoling Miss Taylor, including Lady Alexander, Lady Wyndham, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Miss Ethel Levy, Miss Teddie Gerard, Sir Alfred Butt, Haddon Chambers and Belasco. I left the white-haired and veteran American producer on his knees in front of Miss Taylor's chair, beseeching her not to let the affair upset her. It was a touching scene."

LONDON, April 30 (Associated Press).—The afternoon papers today denounce the affair at the Garrick editorially.

The Evening News denounces the demonstration, editorially, but says it is nonsense to say it was an outbreak of anti-Americanism. The newspaper adds that Miss Taylor is one of the most popular actresses on the London stage.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "The event is doubly regrettable from the fact that the play was an American play in which a distinguished American actress played the leading part. These facts will be exploited in the United States by our enemies, and at such a moment anything which helps to embitter the relationship between the two countries is deeply to be deplored. We do not believe, however, that there is any ground for suspecting that the disturbance has any international significance."

David Belasco, who was in the audience, praised the "gameness" of Miss Taylor. "Never in my long experience of the stage have I seen anything like it," he declared.

Morris Gest, the American theatrical producer, was in London. The Daily Sketch interviewed him. This is what he had to say:

"Certain native feelings seem to have been hurt. A disgruntled newspaper writer, for motives I do not clearly understand, seeks to arouse resentment toward what he calls 'the American invasion.'

"The writer seems to object that American girls are keeping English girls from playing leading roles in London theatres. This is absurd. You might as well banish Puccini's music, send Pavlova and the Russian ballet back to Petrograd, and notify the great Sarah Bernhardt that England does not want her—because all are keeping some English talent out of a salary.

"Three Americans have recently won London's approval because they are clever girls, and London is going to see more clever American girls. To counterbalance this so-called 'American invasion,' let me point out that English stars coming to New York are almost invariably received with great enthusiasm.

"Probably when I return to New York, I shall hear a few disgruntled persons in my own country say: 'The English invasion is upon us.'"

JOSEPH H. WESSON DEAD.

President of Smith & Wesson Co., Pistol Manufacturers, Was 60.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 30.—Joseph H. Wesson, President of the Smith & Wesson Company, pistol manufacturers, died today, aged 60. Death followed a short illness and was due to a heart attack.

He entered his father's factory in 1880 as an apprentice, learned the trade of machinist and took charge of the machine shop. His next position was Superintendent of the works, a post he retained until the old firm of Smith & Wesson was succeeded in 1906, on the death of his father, Daniel Baird Wesson, by a corporation, of which he became Vice President. In 1912 that company was changed to a trust association and Mr. Wesson was elected President. In 1882 he married Miss Florence M. Stebbins of Springfield.

A Last Call to Baptists
The canvass for the Hundred Million Dollar Fund for the New World Movement of Northern Baptists nears completion. The last pledges will be written Sunday, May 2nd.
It looks like Victory.
The success or failure of the campaign, however, can not yet be determined.
Upon you we must depend
Only you can know whether or not you have done your duty.
There is no test but your own conscience.
In this hour of world crisis, when humanity's need surpasses that of any other day in history, a "let-the-other-fellow-do-it" spirit will not permit a man to look his own soul in the face unashamed.
Does the pledge card you have signed bear "Approved of God" in unseen writing across its face? Perhaps you will need to tear it up and sign another.
He knows the insistent cry for help that the world is raising today. He has tried to reveal it to you.
He reads your bank account and knows the extent of your prosperity. He knows what you are spending for luxury and for pleasure.
It is He who speaks through the voice of your conscience.
Does your conscience say
Approved of God?

Commissioner Asks for a Bond Issue to Purchase and Operate Idle Plants.

SAYS CONTRACTS LAPSE

Wants Franchises Forfeited—Estimate Board Refers Recommendations to Committee.

Plans for city ownership and operation of the Staten Island trolley systems and the construction of a municipal power plant in the island to supply power for the trolleys and to furnish light for the borough were submitted to the Board of Estimate yesterday by Grover A. Whalen, Commissioner of Plant and Structures. Commissioner Whalen asks that the franchises of the Richmond Light and Railroad Company, now tied up by a strike, and the Midland Company, which suspended operations because it was unable to get permission to increase its fares, be forfeited, and that the city issue special revenue bonds to buy the equipment and start operation.

Commissioner Whalen's recommendations were not acted upon at yesterday's meeting. They were referred to the Committee of Finance and the Budget, which is composed of all the members of the Board of Estimate, and they will be taken up at a special meeting on Monday.

In his letter explaining the municipal ownership plan, Commissioner Whalen gave the history of the transportation troubles in Richmond Borough, and declared that "the abandonment of their franchise rights was a flagrant disregard of their contractual obligations to the City of New York and a gross defiance of the rights of the people of the Borough of Richmond." These are his recommendations:

"I recommend, in the first place, that the franchises of both companies be declared forfeited and that their railways, having reverted to the city, be turned over to the Department of Plant and Structures for operation by the city.

"In the second place, I recommend that the Board of Estimate concur in the action taken by the Board of Aldermen on April 27, 1920, and authorize the Controller to issue special revenue bonds to the amount of $300,000 for the purchase of trolley cars and the equipment of the Staten Island lines.

"In the third place, I recommend that the Corporation Counsel be requested to inquire into the jurisdiction of the receivers that have been put in nominal possession of these railways by the process of friendly suits in the Federal courts.

"I suggest that the Corporation Counsel inquire whether such Federal courts had any valid jurisdiction to entertain suits brought by a corporation having its executive offices at 165 Broadway, New York City, against a debtor corporation also domiciled in this State.

"In the fourth place, I recommend that action be taken to meet the whole situation developed on Staten Island by instituting proceedings to acquire the power and lighting plant which is an integral and essential part of the trolley system and which, moreover, is the only means of keeping the streets of the Borough of Richmond lighted.

"In the fifth place, I recommend that the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity be requested to prepare plans immediately for the erection and equipment of a plant of sufficient capacity to light the streets of the Borough of Richmond, and to meet all the electric lighting and power requirements of Staten Island and to furnish motive power for the municipal trolley lines."

Mayor Hylan went to St. George yesterday afternoon to see how the municipal buses were handling the crowds at the ferries during rush hours. The situation was apparently unchanged. Staten Island steam trains, buses and jitneys were handling the crowds with some delays.

G. Bertram Eadie, attorney for the Richmond Company, said that he believed Public Service Commissioner Nixon would grant an increase in fares to either seven or eight cents, which would bring about an end to the tieup.

NAVY TOLD IN 1915 TO PREPARE FOR WAR

Rear Admiral McKean Tells Senators Department Issued Orders in July of That Year.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Word went out through the Navy Department in July, 1915, to "get everything ready for war as fast as possible," Rear Admiral J. S. McKean today told the Senate Committee investigating the Sims-Daniels row. While the Navy was not thoroughly prepared in April, 1917, he said, everything possible had been done.

Secretary Daniels was loath to approve recommendations involving large expenditures until after war was declared, he said.

"Do you know of cases where Secretary Daniels's procrastination delayed preparation of the navy?" asked Chairman Hale.

"He did not always agree with me right when I thought he should," replied the witness. "When I was convinced I naturally thought he should be. He was not rapid in making decisions involving spending money. It was particularly hard in time of peace to get him to authorize large expenditures. He had to be convinced that he could justify the expense before Congress."

CHINESE ASK REFUGE HERE.

VAGUE ON NAMES AND DATES

Declares He Had No Direct Motives, but Asserts He Found Satisfaction in Murders.

SEVEN WOMEN ARE MISSING

Police Believe His Victims Total 25—Will Plead Guilty and Life Sentence Will Be Asked.

LOS ANGELES, April 30.—James R. Huirt has confessed to having married fifteen or more women, to having murdered at least two of them and to having been present at the accidental deaths of two more, and is believed by the authorities to have married twenty-five in the last five or six years, and will be indicted on Monday charged with the murder of Nina Lee Deloney, one of his wives. He will then appear in court, according to W. C. Doran, Chief Deputy District Attorney, and plead guilty, and in consideration of his plea and the saving to the State, the District Attorney will ask for a sentence of life imprisonment instead of the death penalty.

Huirt was arrested last December for investigation in connection with the operations of a gang of confidence men. He recently attempted suicide in the jail here and is still in a weakened condition.

The murder charge, according to the District Attorney's office, will be based on the confession of Huirt that he killed Nina Lee Deloney, one of his "wives," in Los Angeles County, and afterward concealed her body in the mountains of Imperial County, whither he carried it, wrapped in blankets, in his automobile.

After Huirt had finished his statement the District Attorney, Deputy Sheriffs and other investigators left for the spot described as the place where Huirt had hidden Mrs. Deloney's body but failed to find the body. The murder charge will be brought against the man under the name of Walter Andrew Watson, it was said. This course will be taken because the defendant told the officers, they said, that he did not know his true name, but was most frequently known as Watson; because the marriage with Nina Lee Deloney, which preceded the alleged murder, was solemnized under that name, and because it was the name most used by the man in Los Angeles County.

A Native of Tennessee.

Watson in his statement said he believed he was a native of Tennessee, that he was raised in an orphan asylum until about 10 years old, that he then lived with a family named Harper and remained with them until he moved to Pittsburg, Kan., about five years later.

While employed in a blacksmith shop an anvil fell on his head, he said, knocking him unconscious. He went to work on a nearby farm and two years later began to drift over the country.

The statement relates that Watson was first married in Canada, "during the war." He told the officers he had been married so often since that he could not remember names, places or dates.

Nina Lee Deloney, killed with a hammer at Long Beach, Cal., and Elizabeth Pryor, whose head was crushed with a sledgehammer near Plum, Wash., were the "wives" whose murders the police said Huirt confessed.

The "partial confession," said the police, related to the deaths of Bertha Goodnich and Alice Ludvigson. Miss Goodnich was tipped out of a boat in Lake Washington, near Seattle, and Miss Ludvigson was drowned in a river in Idaho, they said.

Seven women are listed as missing. They included, besides the four named in the alleged confession, Mrs. Gertrude Wilson, Seattle; Beatrice M. Andrews of Canada and England, and Agnes Wilson, Alberta, Canada.

The first to die, according to the alleged confession, was Miss Ludvigson. Huirt is quoted as saying he was in a boat with her, fishing in a river in Idaho. The boat, he said, jammed against logs which were lashed to the bank of the river, and he and Miss Ludvigson tried with their arms to free the craft. When he broke away, he said, the woman lost her balance and fell into the river and was drowned.

He declared that Miss Goodnich died when she fell from a launch into Lake Washington while trying to go from the stern to the centre. Later on, the police said, Huirt himself referred to his death as "a murder."

Says Woman Attacked with Hatpin.

In the Pryor case, the officer said, he asserted the woman attacked him with a hatpin and that he shoved her so violently that she fell and struck her head against a box. He believed she was dead, he is said to have declared, but to make certain struck her with a hammer.

He admitted, the police say, that he had no direct motive in killing his victims, some of the slayings following violent quarrels. He said, they declare, that he killed some who had "no money."

"Something just told me to do it," he is quoted as saying.

He asserts he obtained a certain satisfaction in the very act of murder, the police said, and experienced a sense of relief that the woman in each case was dead.

Attorney Marmaduke, representing Huirt, said today that the confession was given to the District Attorney "in the best interests of his client."

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30.—Nina Lee Deloney has been identified by relatives in this vicinity as a former resident of Hodgenville, Ky. No word has been received from her since Jan. 25 when a post card dated at Tia Juana, Mexico, and bearing her name was received by her sister, Mrs. Alice Noyes, of Floyd Knobs, Ind., a village near Louisville. It said, "We are going to South America. Don't expect to hear from me for three months." Mrs. Noyes, according to the Louisville police reports, said the handwriting was not that of her sister.

PITTSBURGH, April 30.—Clarence F. Birdseye, his son, Kellogg Birdseye, and George W. Montgomery, all of New York, former members of the New York Bar, today began their sentences for the looting of the Pittsburgh Life and Trust Company, their appeals to a higher court having been refused. Kellogg Birdseye began a year and six months' sentence in the county jail, while the elder Birdseye and Montgomery were taken to the Western Penitentiary to serve one year and eleven months.

FRENCH IMPORT BAN EFFECTIVE APRIL 28

American Goods Shipped Direct Before Decree Was Published Can Enter.

TEMPS CONDEMNS THE LAW

Fears Reprisals by Other Nations—Beaux-Arts Head Sees End of Art Sales.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company. Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 30.—The French Minister of Commerce states that the ban placed upon the importation of articles classed as luxuries does not apply to shipments made on or before April 27. All goods the bills of lading of which do not show that shipment was made before midnight of April 27 will be subject to the new law.

As the Minister of Commerce points out, Article V. of the decree provides: "These goods will be admitted under former conditions which can be shown to have been forwarded direct to France before the publication of the present decree." The decree was published at midnight on April 27.

The Minister explained that goods from America consigned to France which are unloaded in England for reshipment to France will not be allowed to enter. If they are not taken off the boat they will be held to be direct shipments.

It is explained that although the decree bans cinematograph films this means raw films and not the finished pictures. Many Paris cinema houses feared for a day or so that they were going to lose Charlie Chaplin and other American movie actors who are enjoying great popularity in France.

Calculation made by the Temps shows that the articles banned represented in 1919 only 1,000,000,000 francs out of 30,000,000,000 of imports, and the Temps thinks that the new measure will not do much good in remedying the unfavorable trade balance of France. It expresses the fear that France may find herself confronted by reprisal measures on the part of other countries. It says that there is danger in stirring up the displeasure of foreign business men because of the great increase the decree effects in already extensive French red tape.

"Two paths open before us," says the Temps. "We can shut ourselves within a Chinese wall, isolate ourselves commercially give up interchange of goods and try to make ourselves self-sufficient. In that way we would go far towards new increases in prices and cause new sufferings. On the other hand we could follow a policy of liberty of trade, of commercial expansion and production and of increasing commerce. Only this policy would enable us to re-establish the economic equilibrium, both internally and externally. Unfortunately, it is in the other direction that the Government is straying further each day."

Stirred by the enormous purchases of French works of art by Americans and Englishmen taking advantage of the low rate of exchange the French Government is about to forbid all exportations of works of art of a date prior to 1830 and all paintings and sculptures of artists dead for more than twenty years.

Just before it adjourned yesterday the Chamber passed a law to this effect. The Senate will not be able to act upon it until next session, but next week a Government decree will make the proposed law effective. Certain exceptions are provided for, but these sales are taxed 150 per cent.

The effect of the new law naturally will be to lower greatly the current values of stocks of art works held by dealers, for since Americans and Englishmen cannot buy these works and take them home, the dealers' market is curtailed. The Government's purpose is to conserve France's artistic patrimony, and troubles of art dealers who, incidentally, have done very well in the last year, do not appeal to the Government as the prime consideration.

Commenting upon the new law, M. Jonas, President of the Beaux Arts syndicate, said today:

"This means the death of our business. And I will show you that this law will give no benefit from the fiscal point of view, but it will not effect the patriotic purpose of its authors.

It will add nothing to the budget for the reason that all sales will be stopped as far as antique furniture is concerned and all the paintings of our great schools. This law falls upon the works of Corot, d'Aubigny, Dupré, Diaz, Lepine, and Puvis de Chavannes and other names are added automatically from year to year if this law stands. It will be expensive for the State which must maintain at all ports experts to pass upon paintings and other art works.

"The liberty of our transactions has never diminished our artistic patrimony, for we always imported as much as we exported. The only effect of this law is to diminish the value of our works of art. We will be forced to shut up our shops."

FRENCH AND GERMANS TO DISCUSS TRADE

Conference to be Held in Paris at an Early Date on Future Economic Relations.

PARIS, April 30.—An economic conference of delegates representing France and Germany was arranged yesterday by Premier Millerand and Dr. Göppert.

It will probably be held in Paris at an early date, depending upon the arrival of the Germans.

The conference is the outcome of the conversations Premier Millerand had with Dr. Mayer, the German Chargé d'Affaires here, which were interrupted by the entry of the German troops into the neutral zone of the Rhineland.

The Germans showed a disposition to make the conference contingent upon evacuation of Frankfort by the French. M. Millerand replied that the questions were entirely separate. The conditions of the evacuation having been fixed by the San Remo conference, he declared, they must be complied with.

One of the first questions the French will raise at the conference is alleged discrimination against French exporters through the manipulation of special import licenses. An effort will be made at the outset to establish relations on the basis of the Treaty of Versailles, after which the French delegates will welcome discussion of such economic advantages as France might be able to accord Germany.

It is understood the Germans will propose an understanding by which ruinous competition in the sale of German and Alsatian potash will be avoided, and that among the advantages France will offer will be participation by German industries in the reconstruction of Northern France and the reinstallation of French manufacturing there.

NEW RUHR RIOTS BRING ARMY BACK

HAGEN IS OUT OF CONTROL

Burgomaster Says He Can No Longer Maintain Order—Threatening Anarchist Movement

LONDON, April 30.—It was officially announced in Berlin today that German State defense troops would march into the southern Ruhr district for the protection of public order and industry, says a wireless message from the German capital this afternoon.

The situation in the Ruhr district is grave and an anarchist movement is feared, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Central News.

A large secret stock of arms has been discovered at Rügen, an island in the Baltic Sea in the Province of Pomerania, the dispatch says, and the leader of the land guards, who is charged with appropriating the arms, has been arrested. The land guard has been disbanded.

BERLIN, April 30.—The German Government probably will have to revoke its previous decision not to intervene in the territory south of the Ruhr, because the chief Burgomaster of Hagen has declared that he can no longer assume responsibility for the maintenance of order there.

This announcement was made in the Prussian Diet today by Minister of the Interior Severing.

It appears that there have been numerous urgent appeals from the peaceful section of the community south of the Ruhr, where apprehension is felt over the possibility of another Red outbreak. The understanding is that some Reichswehr troops, combined with a force of security police, will enter the zone.

According to the National Zeitung, the civil authorities of Hagen and other towns are powerless against the Red elements, which yesterday organized a large demonstration at Düsseldorf. There is a refusal on the part of these elements to surrender their arms and the region is kept in a continual state of excitement by fugitive agitators from the North Ruhr district.

On the other hand Die Freiheit credits the Mayors of Barmen and Elberfeld with the statement that a Reichswehr incursion is entirely uncalled for, while the Frankfurter Zeitung says the alarming reports from the region in question are grossly exaggerated and that the South Ruhr does not desire the Reichswehr but only more police.

The National Assembly adjourned yesterday for three weeks. It will reassemble on May 19.

BERNE, April 28.—The Radical wing of the German Independent Socialist Party has decided to take part in the Reichstag election on June 6. At the head of its list of candidates appears the well-known Communist, Clara Zetkin of Stuttgart.

The town of Hagen lies just to the east of the line, fifty kilometres east of the Rhine, marking the zone into which Germany is forbidden by the Treaty of Versailles to send troops. But unless the troop movement are strictly limited to the town, the neutral zone would again become involved. Germany had previously announced the withdrawal of all troops from the zone in excess of the 17,500 allowed by the special agreement with the Allies of last August.

LAND FOR BALTIC TROOPS.

Prussian Premier Endeavors to Get Them Back to Civilian Life.

BERLIN, April 30.—Plans are making to induce the soldiers who served in the Baltic brigades under General Erhardt to enter regular civilian life. Herr von Braun, Prussian Premier and Minister of Agriculture, has worked out a scheme under which these soldiers would be offered waste lands, unused drill grounds and some portions of what formerly belonged to the Crown estates for cultivation with opportunities for ultimate ownership. He hopes to secure financial assistance from the Government for the project.

"The plan bears no military character," Herr von Braun is quoted by the Tageblatt as having said. "The men must be gotten away from the pernicious, reactionary influence of their officers, whose only concern is to keep their jobs."

BRITISH TO FIGHT REBELS IN TURKEY

Occupy the Anatolian Coast and Are Expected Soon to Take Over Brusa.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 28 (Associated Press).—British troops, it is believed, plan to support the Sultan's forces in the movement against Turkish Nationalists in Asia Minor, and even join in an offensive against Mustapha Kemal. Lieutenant General Sir G. F. Milne, commander of British forces here, has gone to Ismid on an inspection tour, and elaborate preparations are being made by the British along the Anatolian coast of the Sea of Marmora, where they have occupied Mudania, the port of Brusa.

The occupation of Mudania was effected with East Indian troops, and it is expected the British will soon take over Brusa, which is a prominent Nationalist centre. The "underground route" from Constantinople to Anatolia has been through the Marmora ports, which the British now apparently intend to control.

ATTACKED BY WILD INDIANS.

Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice Meets Savages in Exploring South America

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., April 30.—While exploring an unnamed tributary of the Orinoco River in February Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice of New York and this city was attacked by wild Indians.

The discharge of firearms failed to scare off these savages, who are described by Chester Ober, georgrapher of the expedition to South America, in a letter to a friend here as being large of stature and very ferocious. The explorers escaped only after firing into the group. Dr. Rice is said to have shot two of the men and Ober one. Mrs. Rice, who is in South America with her husband, did not go with him on this exploration.

The trip up the river was made by a small boat poled by natives, who were acting as guides. The expedition is now on its way back to this country.

Four Candidates Battle in Indiana; 'Close Contest Tuesday Is Predicted

Lowden, Wood, Johnson and Harding Make Last-Hour Drives for Preference—General Opinion Is That General Will Head Poll, with Californian Second.

Special to The New York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 30.—Four of the leading candidates for the Republican nomination for the Presidency are campaigning today in Indiana in a final effort to get this State's thirty delegates to the Chicago convention in Tuesday's primary. General Wood is tonight in Terre Haute, Governor Lowden is at South Bend, Senator Johnson is in the Gary and Indiana Harbor district, and Senator Harding is talking to the voters of Columbus. Managers of the four candidates express confidence in the outcome, but the consensus of opinion is that it will be a neck-and-neck race between General Wood and Senator Johnson for first place, with Governor Lowden third and Senator Harding fourth.

The best information obtainable is that Johnson will be an easy first in the industrial centres, while General Wood will show his greatest strength in the agricultural sections. The Johnson managers realize that to win they must poll large majorities in Gary, Indiana Harbor, East Chicago, South Bend, the south side of Indianapolis, and in the mill and factory sections of Peru, Fort Wayne, Muncie, Terre Haute, Richmond, Evansville and Anderson. General Wood is expected to poll his largest vote in Indianapolis, Lafayette, Crawfordsville, Wabash, Huntington, Greencastle, Goshen, and smaller cities which are the centres of agricultural communities.

Johnson Makes Second Visit.

Johnson is in the State for the second time and he has with him Senator Borah of Idaho, Senator Kenyon of Iowa and Congressman John I. Nolan of San Francisco.

One of the leading Republicans of the State, asked tonight how in his opinion the State will vote next Tuesday, said:

"You can say that no candidate will get a majority, and, in my opinion, the winner will not have a very large plurality. At this moment I think the chances slightly favor Wood for first place. In that event Johnson will certainly be the runner-up, with Governor Lowden a very good third and Senator Harding in fourth place. There is no question but that General Wood's cause has been helped as a result of his victory in New Jersey and the showing he made in Ohio last Tuesday."

That Johnson's claim of a big majority in the steel district of Gary and the neighboring cities is well founded is indicated by several polls taken in the last three days. A poll of one of the steel mills in Hammond gave Johnson 442, Wood 59, Lowden and Harding 55 each and Hoover 53, while another mill voted 136 for Johnson, 5 for Wood, 3 for Harding and 2 for Lowden. In an automobile factory not far from this city a poll of one of the departments gave Johnson 250, Wood 160, Hoover 40, Lowden 34 and Harding 15 votes.

Wood

Special to The New York Times.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., April 30.—General Leonard Wood spoke today in Bloomington, Mooresville, Lafayette, Crawfordsville and about a dozen smaller places. He was welcomed everywhere by large and enthusiastic crowds.

"Everybody," General Wood told the farmers at Mooresville, "who has a piece of land should plant something, and every person in America should try and save something. One of the greatest evils of our time is this high cost of living, and all of us should bend our energies to bring about betterment of these conditions. We can go a long way toward our goal by being producers and by refusing to pay whatever price we are asked. The profiteers are not punished. Either the law against profiteering is inefficient or it is not being enforced.

"The people are more interested today in finding out who is keeping them out of sugar, potatoes, meat, butter, eggs and bread through exhorbitant prices than they are in discussing who kept us out of war or got us into war. The high cost of living is a question which hits every American household, every one of the eighty-odd million people who work. Prices are such that it is difficult for those on fixed salaries to live even with rigid economy. Especially is this true of postal employes and other employes of the Government, and of the great body of men and women who work on inelastic salaries, salaries which have not been increased of late to meet the terrific increase in the cost of living."

At Lafayette and again at Crawfordsville General Wood defended his stand for universal military service, urged the adoption of the League of Nations with the Senate reservations, legislation to better the conditions of the farming communities of the country and a policy of absolute fairness to both capital and labor.

Tomorrow General Wood speaks in Goshen, Mishawaka, South Bend, Walkerton, Kokomo and other places.

Johnson

Special to The New York Times.

GARY, Ind., April 30.—Senator Hiram Johnson is centring his campaign in Indiana in the industrial district. He spoke this morning at Michigan City and tonight at Gary and Hammond. Tomorrow he will hold a noon meeting at Terre Haute and will speak in Indianapolis tomorrow night.

The South Bend meeting held by Senator Johnson last night is said to have been one of the largest gatherings ever assembled in the State to hear a candidate in a primary. The high school auditorium was crowded, and 2,000 others could not obtain admission.

Despite a slight hoarseness, the Senator was in good form today, and waxed warm as he denounced the League of Nations. When he did break away from his tirade against the Peace Treaty he made a severe attack on the newspapers which are opposing his candidacy. He referred to his victories in Michigan and Nebraska, and cautioned the voters of Indiana that if they did not vote for "the candidate of the wealthy" next Tuesday they would be condemned by publicity bureaus as radicals and pro-Germans. He did not refer directly or by inference to the fight in New Jersey.

At his meeting at Michigan City Senator Johnson declared he did not charge President Wilson with bad faith. "He went to Europe with good intentions," he said, "but a certain place is paved with good intentions.

"Out our way years ago we once had a saying, 'Don't sit in at another fellow's game.' Wilson sat in at another fellow's game and got what every man gets when he sits in at another fellow's game."

Johnson demanded the elimination of the "Wilson autocracy" in Washington and the amendment of the tax system, which he declared is only a makeshift of the war.

The greatest trouble with many of our statesmen, he said, is that they are mentally farsighted, able to see the ills abroad, but unable to see things here at home. "I am unalterably opposed to covenants openly arrived at behind closed doors," he said. "I believe in adopting that old policy of a square deal to all, and when it comes to sending our boys and our products to the four corners of the world, I say it is up to the American people to decide when we shall act and not up to any European nation or group of nations.

"If we agree to maintain the territorial integrity of other nations we will be obliged to accept faith and pay the bill, no matter how big it may be, but I don't believe the American people are going to demand such action."

Harding

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ind., April 30.—Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio reached the homestretch of his Presidential preference campaign in Indiana today when he addressed large meetings at North Vernon, Madison and Columbus. He will wind up his campaign in Indianapolis tomorrow night, and during the day will speak at Connorsville, Rushville and Shelbyville.

Senator Harding today reiterated his statement following the Ohio primary that he is in the race to stay, and that he had no intention of withdrawing.

Harry A. Daugherty, national campaign manager for Harding, expressed confidence today that the Ohio Senator will be the choice of the Chicago convention.

Harding supporters in the western counties of Ohio are preparing an automobile drive through Eastern Indiana counties. Hundreds of cars with Harding boosters will cross the Indiana line Saturday and Monday.

Senator Harding's largest meeting today was at Madison, in Southern Indiana, where the Senator said:

"What the country needs more than anything else just now is co-ordinated government and reconsecration of the Constitution. If the President had remembered that he asked for a Congress in 1918 to do his bidding and the people rebuked him, and if he had awakened amid world dreams to recall that the founding fathers had ordained that the Senate stand guard against betrayal in treaty-making, if he had advised with the Senate there needn't have been any delay about peace, nor any broken heart of the world. For one, sympathetic as I am, I had rather break the heart of the world than destroy the soul of American nationality."

In an appeal to former Progressives Senator Harding said that if Theodore Roosevelt were alive today he would say:

TURKS AND KURDS MASSACRE 400 FRENCH

Fall Upon Column in Ravine Near Urfa and Murder and Mutilate Every Man.

Copyright, 1920, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

BEJRUT, April 28.—Horrible scenes of Kurdist and Turkish women shrieking their war cry behind processions carrying on poles the heads of slaughtered French soldiers were described by Americans who have returned from Urfa and are now at Aleppo.

A column of 400 Frenchmen were massacred in a ravine five miles from Urfa. It was promised safe escort by the Turk Governor if the French evacuated an impregnable position surrounded since the first of the year and steadily bombarded since Feb. 22.

The French, equipped only for patrol duty, with no big guns, were getting short of food supplies and left Urfa on April 8 with the Turkish escort.

Three thousand Kurds and Turks fell upon the small column, which in attempting to surrender told the bandits it was acting without a leader and hence to surrender was impossible.

A. Woodward, British worker for the American relief, who was accompanying the column, and a few soldiers, fled back to Urfa. They were the only ones who escaped, the others being murdered and mutilated.

Five American relief workers three days later made a trip safely over the same road with a similar escort.

During the Uufa fighting the American buildings located at the base of the French stronghold were bombarded by Turkish cannons, but the Governor apologized, saying he did not know this.

No Signs of Trouble in Seattle.

Special to The New York Times.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 30.—Neither Federal nor local police authorities fear a May Day demonstration of radicals here, and only ordinary precautions will be taken. Since the much talked of general strike in February, 1918, there has been a noticeable subsidence of radical sentiment here. Many radicals have left the city and the attempts of the radical element to dominate local politics have met with failure.

POLES' DRIVE RAISES HOPE OF REDS' FALL

PILSUDSKI HAS A BIG ARMY

French Interests Urge Support of Russian Mensheviki and the Social Revolutionaries.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company. Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 29.—The great Polish drive on a 200-mile front south of the Pripet River, which has already met remarkable success against the demoralized enemy, is the first consequence of realization by Soviet Russia's neighbors of the appalling state of weakness to which the Red administration has reduced the country.

In a previous dispatch I emphasized the effect of this realization on the Polish policy, which, during the last three months has been directed toward the creation of an anti-Soviet league, of which Finland and the Ukraine may be definitely considered as members. Latvia still hovers between fear that Esthonia may reap advantages by the utilization of Reval as an outlet of Russian commerce at the expense of Riga and the desire to be associated with the Poles. Unlike the latter, the Letts have no particular ambitions to be gratified at the expense of Soviet Russia. Before the end of January they rounded off their territory by the capture of Lettgalen Province from the Reds and the agrarian or peasant element, which forms a majority of the Latvian Chamber, is reluctant to engage in an offensive war.

Poland has a big army which she does not dare to demobilize as there is no work to give to ex-soldiers. Although the maintenance of this comparatively huge force is straining the country's feeble finances to the breaking point, General Pilsudski evidently considers it wiser to keep the army busy against the Reds than either to disband it or let it eat its head off in idleness, which in point of fact simply means having trouble with Lithuania, already bitterly hostile to the Poles and prepared to make peace with the Bolsheviki on that account.

Although nominally the object of Poland's offensive is to clear the territory of her new Ukrainian ally, Petlura, with the Ukrainian capital, Kiev, as its ultimate objective, as payment for the cession by Petlura to Poland of the rich oil district of Eastern Galicia, there is no telling how far the victory may go.

Last January, before the Reds' weakness was fully known, the Poles were boasting that their army was capable of pushing through to Moscow. The chief objection to their doing so is that it is not quite clear what they would do when they got there—not that this would necessarily weigh with the Poles—and that every Russian, whether anti-Bolshevist or not, would be likely to oppose a Polish invasion to the utmost.

There have been, however, suggestions that French influence, which is very great in Poland, is being directed toward an attempt to break the Red army. There is no doubt that the Polish-Lett League of January last was largely staged by the French, who are said to be principally responsible for the Polish agreements with Finland and the Ukraine.

Business and financial interests here in the closest touch with Russia have always advocated support of the Mensheviki and the social revolutionaries, the moderate non-Bolshevist Russian parties, against the clique now in power in Moscow. Before Yudenitch's ill-fated drive on Petrograd last Autumn French financiers were confidently expecting an anti-Bolshevist movement inside Russia from these parties. It was spoiled by a union of all parties under Bolshevist guidance rather than acceptance of the reactionary Yudenitch.

POLES CAPTURE MOHILEV.

15,000 Prisoners and 76 Locomotives Taken from the Bolsheviki.

WARSAW, April 30 (Associated Press).—The resistance of the Bolsheviki has been broken in South Ukraine, according to today's official communique, which announces that the Poles have captured Mohilev and are now moving southeast along the Dulester.

The Poles have captured 15,000 prisoners, 60 cannon, hundreds of machine guns and 76 locomotives since their offensive began, the communique adds.

Simultaneously with the cavalry and infantry attack from the west, Polish armored boats sailed down the Pripet River and met the Bolshevist flotilla head on. A pitched battle ensued. Two of the Bolshevist monitors were sunk and four monitors and forty other boats were captured. The remainder of the Red flotilla retreated.

A great amount of food and stores of ammunition and army supplies and a wireless station were taken with the occupation of Czernobyl, the communication says.

Czernobyl is ninety kilometers (fifty-six miles) north of Kiev. The stronghold was occupied on Thursday after severe fighting, the Poles attacking from the west and northwest. In the attack the Poles used cavalry in covering the marsh lands and the infantry was protected by fighting craft.

A further communication issued by the War Office today says:

"Since the offensive began we have nearly defeated the Twelfth Army. In the resulting actions the 77th and 78th Divisions have been destroyed. The remainder of the Bolsheviki are retreating east. The enemy has suffered heavily in killed and wounded."

General Petlura, the Ukrainian leader, has left Warsaw for the front. It is understood that this is preparatory to joining forces with General Pilsudski, the Commander in Chief of the Poles, who is planning to enter Kiev at the head of the Ukrainians, who are fighting side by side with the Poles in the advance toward the independent capital of the Ukrainians.

The Kosciuszko Squadron, composed of American aviators, made thirty-two raids and some flights more than sixty miles within the Bolshevist lines, the communique continues, the Americans bombing and machine-gunning railroad centres and scattering propaganda in Kiev and other cities. At many points the Bolsheviki used anti-aircraft guns against the aviators and in less important places concentrated machine-gun fire upon the pilots, who always attacked from an altitude of less than 2,000 feet. Two of the most important raids were led by Lieutenant Harmon Rorison of Wilmington, N. C.

LETTS AND REDS IN PARLEY.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company. Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

COPENHAGEN, April 30.—According to a special despatch to the Berlingske Tidende from Moscow the peace negotiations between Livonia and Russia up till now have been about Livonia's main claim—that her absolute independence be recognized—and they have not yet taken up diplomatic and commercial connections. Livonia will take over part of the Russia debt on the condition of getting a proportional share of the Russian stock of gold. Soviet Russia's peace conditions for Poland are that the Poles evacuate the occupied districts, their fate to be decided by plebiscite. The Soviet besides wants a free right of way to Germany through Poland. The Polish press is much against the conditions.

'Restriction Against Laughter,' French Call Ban on Our Films

PARIS, April 30.—"A restriction against laughter and enjoyment," is the term used by many Parisians against the decree forbidding importation into France of American moving picture films.

The French people are frank in admitting that they like American films best of all, and the French army of movie "fans" devoted to admiration of film stars of the United States is much concerned over the order.

All the well-known American favorites have their following in France, although many of the films do not reach this country until a year or more after their release.

LLOYD GEORGE BUSY WITH IRISH QUESTION

Excuses Himself from a Week-End Visit to King George at Windsor.

IRISH CONFERENCE HELD

Three Changes of a Fundamental Nature in General Policy Are Being Discussed.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company. Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 30.—Lloyd George today buckled down to work on the Irish question with characteristic vigor. The Prime Minister had been invited by the King and had accepted the invitation to pass the week-end at Windsor Castle. He ttoday sent amessage to his Majesty begging to be excused as he desired to devote the whole of his time and attention to Irish matters. There will be a special Cabinet council tomorrow or more probably on Sunday.

Lloyd George's efforts are receiving every species of good wishes, for the British public as a whole is heartily sick of the Irish business but in some quarters it is doubted whether the opportunist policy which he is expected to suggest as away out of the dilemma is likely to have much success. At the moment, however, Lloyd George's star as leading politician, it was said today, is in the ascendant and his political stock is higher than it has ever been since the election which followed the armistice.

LONDON, April 30.—An Irish conference, attended by Premier Lloyd George, Andrew Bonar Law, Field Marshal Viscount French, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland; Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, and Denis Henry, Attorney General for Ireland, discussed the situation on a basis of three fundamental changes in the Government policy.

The first change, it was understood, would provide for more severe treatment for the perpetrators of actual crimes, the second would grant the Irish almost the same freedom of speech as in England, and the third would provide official publicity of all happenings in Ireland. The last change is translated in some quarters as meaning the establishment of a propaganda bureau to counteract the Sinn Fein propagandists.

While it is not announced whether these principles have been definitely decided upon, it may be stated that the intention now is that the new Irish officials will attempt to govern along these lines.

DUNDALK, Ireland, April 30.—The coroner's jury, holding an inquest on the death of Thomas Mulholland, who was shot on a street here on April 16 and died an hour after the shooting, returned a verdict yesterday that "death was due to a bullet fired without justification and with intent to kill by Sergeant Bustard." The verdict was wildly cheered by the Sinn Feiners present.

A police witness testified that while a patrol was passing along the street its members were attacked by a body of men three times their number. Sergeant Bustard readily admitted that he had fired to hit.

IRISH WEAR STEEL HELMETS.

London Crowd Again Attacks Hunger-Strike Sympathizers.

LONDON, April 30.—There was a repetition of disorders outside Wormwood Scrubbs Prison tonight when Sinn Feiners held their usual demonstration and were greeted with a shower of stones and other missiles.

The curious spectacle was provided of a number of Irishmen wearing steel helmets, some of which had evidently seen war service. These were worn by a body of stalwarts whose duty it was to protect the rest of the demonstrators, especially women, from the attentions of a hostile element in the crowd of onlookers.

Mounted police were again compelled to intervene and disperse the crowd around the prison. A number of Irishmen were injured, one of them seriously.

Earlier in the proceedings Mrs. Despard, sister of Lord French, was observed addressing the crowd.

All sailings to Ireland have been suspended. Some men who showed an inclination to resume work on the docks today were deterred by the presence of a large body of women armed with sticks, which they flourished vigorously.

AMERICANS BUY IRISH LAND.

Members of Societies Reported to be Secretly Advancing Money.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company. Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 29.—The Daily Graphic's Galway correspondent says he has learned from a responsible source that Americans, "possibly members of Irish-American secret societies," are sending large sums of money to Irish banks for the secret purchase of land in Ireland, notably in Roscommon and Mayo. He says:

"For some time there has been a perfect epidemic of buying in the west by small, unimportant people, who like most west Irishmen are suffering from what seems to be unappeasable land hunger. The larger estates are everywhere in process of disintegration, and if my information be correct advantage has been taken of this by Irish-Americans to acquire substantial portions of the island."

The procedure is for a number of tenant farmers or small holders of land to club together for the purchase of an estate, paying 20 per cent. of the purchase price in cash and getting one of the numerous banks which are everywhere springing up to advance the balance against the security of the title deeds. It is alleged that it is American money which is being advanced in some cases by banks and that the latter are holding the title deeds on account of American purchasers.

PAST FIRST MILLION IN HOSPITAL DRIVE

The Post-Graduate Total Has Reached $1,203,200 and Is Still Going Strong.

OKLAHOMAN GIVES $10,000

Dr. J. Bentley Squier Is Pleased by Gift, Showing Wide Interest in Project.

APPEAL FOR SMALL SUMS

Workers Redouble Their Efforts to Obtain the Remaining $796,800 Needed.

More than half of the $2,000,000 which is being sought by the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital Endowment Fund Committee to be used in making the institution a world centre, had been obtained yesterday. Encouraged by the responses to their plea for aid, the members of the committee and volunteer workers are bending every effort to make a record in raising the remainder. The total amount of money received up until yesterday afternoon was $1,203,200, leaving $796,800 yet to be sought.

One of the surprises yesterday was the subscription of John C. Keyes of Lawton, Okla., who sent $10,000. Dr. J. Bentley Squier, secretary of the Faculty of the Medical School and one of the members of the Endowment Fund Committee, pointed this out as showing the interest that people outside of New York were taking in the project. He said it was encouraging in view of the many other drives which were focussing the attention of the public at present.

Mrs. Nicholas Brady made an additional contribution of $25,000. Other subscriptions reported yesterday were: International Nickel Company, $5,000; James N. Jarvis, $5,000, and James R. Deering, $1,000. With contributions already made public this made a total of $1,003,200. As the drive had passed the million mark, the committee automatically received $125,000 from James C. Brady and $75,000 from Vincent Astor, which were conditional on that amount being raised. This made a grand total to date of $1,203,200.

In making a plea to the general public to contribute to the fund, no matter how small the amount, Dr. Squier said last night:

"It should be a question of civic pride to make this institution a unique one in this country as well as in the world. As I have said on a previous occasion, New York City is admittedly the graduate medical centre of the world since the elimination of Berlin, Vienna and other European places, through the vicissitudes of the world war. In times past medical students went from the United States to Europe to pursue their advanced medical studies. Due to the war, the situation is reversed and the foreigners are coming here.

"The Post-Graduate Medical School is already internationally famous. Indicative of its reputation is the fact that this year its students come from twenty-seven foreign countries, besides every State and Territory in the Union. Our project commends itself to the people, and if, through their co-operation we shall be able to raise the entire endowment, the pre-eminence of the New York Post-Graduate will be assured."

Dr. Squier spoke of the effect that institution would continue to have on the type and ability of the surgeons and physicians who studied there. He reviewed the courses of instruction which would enable the medical students to specialize along a variety of lines, an opportunity which could be obtained nowhere else in the world to the same extent.

Dr. Squier emphasized the value of small contributions and urged those who had not been approached by some member of the committee or voluntary worker to send their amounts to William H. Fahnestock, the Treasurer, at the Post-Graduate Medical School.

Among the members of the Endowment Fund Committee, in addition to the Directors of the institution, are: James F. Brady, Mrs. Nicholas F. Brady, Dr. Henry Dwight Chapin, Joseph P. Day, Daniel Guggenheim, Dr. Ludwig Kast, Adrian Larkin, Darwin P. Kingsley, Dr. Arthur F. Chace, Dr. J. Bentley Squier, and A. H. Woods.

The members of the Women's Committee, which Dr. Squier said had been doing commendable work in obtaining contributions, include Mrs. Edward Shearson, Mrs. Frederick Coykendall, Mrs. H. F. Shattuck, Mrs. Bradley Martin, Mrs. Charles F. Whitman, Mrs. W. Bourke Cockran, Mrs. Charles D. Hazen, Mrs. J. Bentley Squier, Mrs. Ledyard Stevens, Mrs. Alfred Johnson, Mrs. Stephen Olin, Mrs. Joseph P. Grace, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. John Falls, Mrs. Oreston Slade, Mrs. Arthur F. Chace, Mrs. George M. Tuttle, Mrs. Thacher, Mrs. Pulitzer, Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt, Mrs. L. W. Hayward, Miss Katharine McCann, Mrs. H. Benjamin Clark, and Mrs. W. V. Griffin.

GET $12,000 DESPITE LIGHTS AND POLICE

"Burglar-Proof" Safes and Iron Doors "Jimmied" Just Off Fourteenth Street.

Undeterred by a brilliantly lit street and the presence in the neighborhood of numerous police and night watchmen, thieves carted away $12,000 in silks and furs from a ten-story loft building at 78 Fifth Avenue, near Fourteenth Street, Wednesday night. Until late yesterday the robbery was a secret shared only by the robbed, the thieves and the police, owing to the practice of the police to withhold news of thefts involving large losses.

It is believed the thieves entered the building during the day and hid on a back stairway until the lofts were vacated for the night. Unable to force their way into the Union Textile Company's office on the ground floor, they climbed to the ninth floor, where they were undaunted by a "burglar-proof" sheet-iron door to the loft of the Gibraltar Waist and Dress Company. A little patience, strength and a "jimmy" twisted the lock and doubled up the sheet-iron door. Five thousand dollars' worth of silks, uninsured, the owners claim, were carried down to the waiting truck.

Next the robbers tried to get to the floor below by cutting a five-foot square in the wooden flooring, only to be balked by a layer of concrete underneath. They were not baffled long, however. They merely descended to the eighth floor by the stairway, jimmied another supposed impregnable barrier to the establishment of Solomon & Moskowitz, furriers. Here they used an electric safe blower, but were rewarded only by one dollar in pennies. Then they picked up three bales of raw furs, valued at $7,000, each bale weighing 300 pounds, which they carried down seven flights of stairs to the main floor and to a truck waiting in the bright lights of Fifth Avenue.

SUN ALUMNI DINNER MAY 5.

Officers of Quincy Mills Legion Post to be Association's Guests.

The sixteenth annual dinner of The Sun Alumni Association will take place at the Commodore on Wednesday evening, May 5. All the speakers will be old Sun men, including George M. Smith, now managing editor of The Tribune, and David Belamy, who served with the Marines in France. All of the officers of Quincy Mills Post, No. 412, of the American Legion, composed of employes of the editorial and mechanical departments of The Sun and The Evening Sun, will be guests of the association.

Arrangements for the dinner are in charge of Edward G. Riggs, President of the association; Willis Holly, Secretary and Treasurer, and Collin Armstrong, Chairman of the Executive Committee.

NEW WOOLEN CO. ISSUES.

Stockholders Will Be Asked to Authorize $40,000,000 New Stock.

BOSTON, April 30.—The American Woolen Company today announced its intention to seek from its stockholders authority to increase its preferred and common stock by $20,000,000 each.

Under the plan, present stockholders of both classes would be given the right to subscribe for the new common stock at par in the ratio of one share for each three now held. The new preferred stock would be held in the treasury for issuance later.

The company's proposal will be acted upon at the next meeting of stockholders.

RETAIL PRICES FAIL TO DROP

Stores Lag in Reflecting Wholesale Cost Decline of Meat and Butter.

There was a further drop yesterday in the price of butter, according to Herschel H. Jones, Director of the New York office of the Division of Foods and Markets, who said butter declined 1½ cents on the wholesale market. This, added to a decline of half a cent on Thursday, makes a total decline of 12 cents since last week. However, the decrease in the wholesale price has not yet been reflected to any appreciable extent in most retail stores, it was said.

Wholesale prices for veal were lower yesterday than they have been in two years, according to a market authority. He said that it was selling at from 18 to 20 cents a pound, whereas formerly it sold at from 34 to 36 cents a pound. He said that this drop should be reflected today in the retail markets. There was also a drop in lamb and mutton during the last day or two, Western lamb selling at wholesale yesterday at 24 cents a pound, its former price being 37 cents. City dressed lamb has dropped from 46 to 35 cents a pound.

The chief of the Flying Squadron of the Department of Justice, C. W. Riley, said that many of his men had been temporarily taken away because of the precautions taken by the Department of Justice to prevent May Day disorders.

United States District Attorney Leroy W. Ross of Brooklyn announced yesterday that he had received a letter from a large firm in Broadway, Brooklyn, announcing that it would be content with a small margin of profit.

5-CENT FARE TO CONEY.

Change Is Effective Today on B. R. T. Elevated and Subway Lines.

The five-cent fare between Coney Island and all other points on the subway and elevated lines of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system will go into effect at midnight tonight. Then the ten-cent fare, which has been subjected to much criticism, passes away.

The ten-cent fare to Coney began in 1899. Prior to that date it was twenty-five cents or thirty-five cents for a round trip.

Under the dual contracts the five-cent fare was to begin when the Culver line to the island was completed.

CHALMERS

Hot Spot and Ram's-horn Solve a Serious Problem

Quality First

THOSE who understand motor cars know that the prevailing weakness is the inability of the various engines to deliver satisfactory results from gasoline. Gas has gone down and down in grade and engines have not been redesigned to meet the lower grade of fuel.

Chalmers engineers were first to supply the answer to this serious problem. They devised the Hot Spot and Ram's-horn.

The raw "gas," too heavy for the carburetor to vaporize it properly, strikes the Hot Spot, and the result is much like a drop of water falling on the top of a red-hot stove.

Thus the heavy "gas" is turned into a "dry cloud" and before it has the slightest chance to revert to "mist" it is rushed via the Ram's-horn manifold into the cylinders.

As the spark plugs touch off this finely vaporized fuel you get instantaneous combustion and maximum power.

You get smoothness, the absence of vibration and the consequent saving in repair bills from burned bearings, scored cylinders, fouled spark plugs and many troubles that are all traceable back to the inferior "gas" of the day.

Ride in a Chalmers and you, too, will say that it is one of the few great cars of the day.

Big Akron rubber company saved from large production loss by pump supply

One of the largest rubber concerns in Akron, Ohio, urgently required a High Pressure Hydraulic Pump recently. Unless this piece of machinery could be placed and in operation in 7 days, the plant's production would have been severely handicapped.

The manufacturer of the pump was appealed to and could not promise delivery before 90 days. He suggested that they try the Du Pont Chemical Company.

The rubber people called us on the telephone in the morning and the following afternoon their inspector visited our plant, selected the pump he needed and the following morning the pump was on its way by express to Akron. In six days and 20 hours the pump was in full operation.

We saved this concern not only the loss of probably thousands of dollars worth of production, but also about 40 per cent. on the purchase price of that particular pump.

If you have material or equipment problems, no matter what they are, consult us. We may be able to help you as we helped this firm and save you money besides.

JEWISH CAMPAIGN OPENS TOMORROW

Calamity So Great That Appeal Goes Out to All Sects to Avert Disaster.

$2,000,000 IS PLEDGED

Full Amount Sought Is $7,500,000—Polish Envoy Tells of People's Needs.

The campaign to raise $7,500,000 in New York for the relief of Jewish war sufferers opens tomorrow with the appeal for the first time directed to the whole community rather than to Jews alone. Decision to make the call for relief non-sectarian was reached because of the great amount to be raised, the millions already expended, much of it among non-Jews, and the magnitude of the calamity which confronts the peoples of the stricken districts if they are not succored at once.

While the amount for which the New York City Appeal, from its headquarters at 389 Fifth Avenue will strive in the week of the campaign is $7,500,000, nearly $2,000,000 of this has been pledged in advance of general opening of the subscription lists. It is hoped that many large contributions will drive that sum rapidly toward the goal, but the solicitation by no means is to be confined to the well-to-do. Every person who feels that he or she can spare even the smallest sum to be expended directly in the relief of hunger and cold and disease, distress, in fact, in its darkest forms, is urged to contribute.

Emphasizing the restoration of economic life in war ridden countries to something like normal as the most constructive means of conquering the paralysis laid upon them and bringing their peoples back to the point of self-support, S. Berensen, First Secretary of the Polish Legation at Washington has written to Judge Otto Rosalsky, Chairman of the Campaign Committee, explaining how the Joint Distribution Committee which will disburse the funds can best aid his country. The letter says:

"In the present period when reconstruction is being carried on in Poland on a great scale, the concerted activities started by the Greater New York Fund should above all aim to supply the Polish Jews with all kinds of trade implements. I am not overlooking the fact that the scarcity and high cost of articles of food and the prevailing epidemics are forcing social organizations to activities in this particular direction; it is my judgment, however, that social aid should go together with the awakening economic life and help those in need so that every dollar gathered here would have full productive value in Poland. This will materialize only when a substantial fund will be assigned for the purchase of such working tools as are needed for the materials on hand. This would be a memorable deed.

"Poland values very highly the many million dollars help rendered up to this time through the Joint Distribution Committee—a help which saved many thousands of lives. Poland also feels that the same noble feelings which prompted the Americans to send food will induce them to aid the new undertaking."

AWARDS 12 HERO MEDALS.

Carnegie Fund Commission Also Makes Monetary Grants in 2 Cases.

PITTSBURGH, April 30.—One silver medal and eleven bronze medals were awarded today by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission in recognition of noteworthy acts by men and women who sought to help others at their own peril. Five of them died, while two were disabled. To these last the commission made monetary grants—$2,000 and $80 a month in one case and $1,000 in the other. The commission also awarded $5,000 for other worthy causes.

The five who lost their lives were R. William Donaghy of 6,102 Callowhill Street, Philadelphia, drowned while trying to save a young man from death in Elk River at Townpoint, Md., Aug. 31, 1919; David M. Prince, 21 East Pine Street, Goldsboro, N. C., drowned while trying to rescue a boy from a flooded road July 26, 1919; Frank J. Nagel, 1,004 East Walton Avenue, Spokane, Wash., drowned while trying to save a child from the north branch of the Crow River at Kingstown, Minn., July 23, 1916; Paul K. Benedict, 14 years old, drowned while trying to save a younger boy from a creek at Hampton, Pa., June 26, 1919; William F. Carroll, 1,711 Linden Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., 15 years old, drowned while trying to rescue another boy Sept. 21, 1919.

The silver medal went to Frank W. Roberts, chief engineer of the Masonic Home at Elizabethtown, Pa., who saved the lives of three girls from drowning.

Romance resulted from the efforts of Miss Hilda M. Clark of 2,739 Maryland Avenue, Baltimore, to save the life of J. Fitch King, a student at Huron, Ohio, Sept. 7, 1916. King was seized with a cramp while swimming in Lake Erie and was rescued by Miss Clark, whose name now appears on the records of the commission as "Mrs. J. Fitch King."

Nearly Half a Million Voters
HAVE MARKED THEIR BALLOTS FOR PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES IN THE FIRST THREE WEEKS OF
"The Literary Digest's" Mammoth Poll of 11,000,000 Citizens

THE LITERARY DIGEST is conducting the greatest poll ever taken, outside of a presidential election, to learn whom the American people want for their presidential candidates, and from present indications this poll will register the voice of the people beyond question. Individual ballots have been sent by mail to eleven million voters throughout the United States—almost two-thirds of the total presidential vote cast in the last presidential election. Every ballot is mailed in an envelop, addressed with pen and ink, and delivered through the U. S. Post-Office personally to the voter addressed. Return postage on the ballot is prepaid, and the voter has only to check or write the name of his or her Party and the first and second choices for Presidential Candidates, with no other mark of identification, and then drop this secret ballot in the nearest letter-box or Post-Office. Thus every vote cast is absolutely the free, uninfluenced, secret choice of the voter, unknown to anyone but the voter himself or herself.

The votes which have arrived up to and including the final press-day of the issue of THE DIGEST for May 1st, include 25,000 received in the first week, 125,000 in the second, and considerably over 300,000 in the third. The next two weeks' returns, it may safely be prophesied, will place the poll's total beyond the milliom mark. The results are being tabulated and shown in THE LITERARY DIGEST week by week.

To the considerable volume of country-wide newspaper comment on THE DIGEST'S poll, the Boston Globe contributes the following observation: "When THE LITERARY DIGEST poll is completed every one should have a pretty clear hint as to how the country is going."

Among other striking features in THE DIGEST for May 1st, are:

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—A brilliant page was written into America's athletic history here this afternoon at the opening of the twenty-sixth Pennsylvania relay carnival when England's greatest distance runner was submerged in defeat; two records were shattered, one of them a world's mark and the other a carnival figure; E. Bradley of Kansas University was crowned champion all-around collegiate athlete of America, and the relay quartets of University of Pennsylvania and Penn State gathered unto themselves American relay titles in the sprint medley and distance medley respectively. These performances stood out in bold relief in a wealth of scintillating competition produced by scholastic and college athletes, which was enjoyed by a crowd of some 8,000 enthusiastic spectators.

To Gordon Nightingale, tall, sinewy bronze athlete of New Hampshire State College, went the distinction of victory in the first international athletic test staged in this country since the bright days before the outbreak of the war in 1914. This sturdy, lusty-lunged New Englander gave an exhibition of running which thrilled the crowd. He ran the heart out of E. A. Montague of Oxford University in a three-mile race that will live long in memory. The New Hampshire State collegian, running well within himself and looking over his shoulder at the frantic efforts of Montague to make up irretrievable ground, broke the worsted in front of the Englishman with an advantage of thirty-five yards. The British runner, utilizing every ounce of strength in his compact body and draining his nerve resources, finished second, twenty yards ahead of M. K. MacMahon of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The latter enjoyed a similar advantage over A. H. Hisler, Drexel Institute, who finished fourth. The time for the race was 14:56, comparatively slow figures, but excusable under the conditions.

Run in Downpour of Rain.

The race was run in a veritable downpour of rain, which marred the closing events of the program. The runners, ten picked from the best in the ranks of American colleges, and the British champion, were besmeared with mud from head to foot during the last two miles of the chase. Tenaciously they plodded on, however, unmindful of the downpour, and the spectators, with equal disregard of the drenching rain, stood cheering lustily until the completion of the race.

Nightingale, after his victorious performance, was hailed on all sides by those who could get at him, while the occupants of the stands sent up a din which re-echoed over the immense field. A battery of cameras confronted the New Hampshire State collegian as he trod back to the finish line, breathing with no more exertion that is natural after a race of this distance. Montague, completely run out, collapsed as he staggered over the finish line and was immediately caught in the waiting arms of Captain A. N. S. Jackson, hero of the 1914 carnival. Fellow members of the visiting athletic contingent rushed to the track side, where Montague gradually sank from the grasp of Jackson, and together they massaged the defeated runner's muscles for several minutes. After the application of the athletic first aid, Montague, with cheers ringing in his ears, limped off the track leaning heavily on the shoulders of Jackson for support.

The race was a brilliant spectacle, albeit there was no chance of a record performance at any stage. For a mile and a quarter Craff of Nebraska, an added starter, carried the runners around at a comparatively slow pace. He required 2.22 for the first half and his time at the mile was 4:55. Montague, holding the pole at the starting line, was shunted off to the rear in a mad scramble for position immediately after the start. For two circuits of the quarter-mile track the British runner contented himself with a rear position. On the third lap he moved into fifth place, followed by the ever watchful Nightingale. The next round of the cinderpath found Montague still in fifth position, running in the wake of Nightingale, who had moved up with a testing spurt.

Nightingale Takes Lead.

Montague was third, back of Graff and MacMahon, on the fifth lap when Nightingale was sixth in a well bunched field. Graff's tenure as leader expired on the next lap, when MacMahon took up the pace-setting task, followed by Montague, R. E. Brown of Cornell and Nightingale. Montague improved his position steadily after entering the seventh lap and annexed the lead, followed by Brown, MacMahon and Nightingale. The latter tested himself making the first turn of the eighth lap and breezed from fourth to first in a few strides. The New England runner continued his spurt until he had picked up a lead of ten yards and then suddenly eased down to a steady pace, about five yards in front of Montague. The latter was passed in the stretch of this circuit by MacMahon, who followed Nightingale. The New Hampshire State collegian's time for the two-mile mark was ten minutes flat. From this point to the finish Nightingale raced in front.

Gradually he quickened his stride, and one by one after the eighth lap his rivals in the original field of eleven dropped by the wayside. At the eighth lap the leading trio was bunched, with MacMahon second and Montague third. Nightingale was running smoothly here, with a smile lighting his face as the shouts of the crowd spurred him on. Montague increased his pace at the behest of Trainer A. L. Shrubb, who shouted instructions from the field, and gained second place, in which position he raced over the ninth, tenth and eleventh laps, gradually losing ground as Nightingale added speed.

The start of the final lap found Nightingale enjoying a lead of twenty yards, and going like the wind. Montague, shaking his head from side to side and fighting for his breath, coming in ever-quickening gasps, tried to answer the frantic shouts of Trainer Shrubb and Captain Jackson to catch his man. The Englishman did not have the strength. Calling on every ounce of his reserve, Montague continued on his nerve and courage alone, fighting unsuccessfully to gain on the flying Nightingale, who seemed to pick up ground with each stride. Making the turn into the stretch Nightingale was easing up in his running and looking over his shoulder. The crowd shook the foundations of the wooden stand with a terrific outburst of acclaim.

Nightingale responded to the applause with a grin, which reflected his satisfaction at the result. There was no necessity for him to extend himself further, however, and so he gradually slackened his strides.

Montague never gave up until his rival had crossed the finish line. Then he looked over his shoulder as MacMahon threatened to advance, but the Briton continued with his drive to the finish, where he collapsed.

Makes World's Record.

The world's record came in the 440-yard hurdle race. J. M. Watt, wearing the red and white, of Cornell, raced to a convincing victory in this test in 54 1-5 seconds, shattering Harry Hillman's world's record of 54 3-5 seconds, which was hung up by the former New York A. C. timber topper in 1904.

The Ithaca hurdler, in scoring his record victory, led W. Coughlin, University of the South, an added starter, by about six yards. The Dixie hurdler, in turn, beat H. Gish of Nebraska by about a yard. Earl Thomson, national champion, and B. G. D. Rudd of Oxford University, the British hurdler, together with Walker Smith of Cornell, intercollegiate champion, were scheduled as starters in this race, but did not compete.

Watt gave early indications of a probable record performance. The big red and white timber topper flashed home first in the opening heat in a manner which reflected a victory without real exertion. After hurdling the last fence Watt eased up almost to a walk and led C. O. Kilby of Redlands University, California in 56 seconds.

In the final Watt encountered sterner opposition. Gish and Coughlin showed plenty of speed and agility in hurdling the fences, pressing Watt hard from the start. The Cornellian, however, was in front from the bark of the gun, and never relinquished the position.

B. G. D. Rudd, the Rhodes scholar from South Africa, who gave such a sensational all-round athletic performance for Oxford in the recent dual games between the British universities in London, did not appear for the 440-yard low hurdles, in which it was expected he would prove a worthy opponent for the American collegians.

The carnival record came in the javelin throw, one of the tests in the pentathlon competition. William F. Bartels of Pennsylvania, winner of the title two years ago, captured first in this test with a throw of 162 feet 8 inches. This heave of the spear displaced the carnival record of 159 feet 5½ inches, which Bartels hung up last year.

Bradley Wins Penathlon.

E. Bradley of Kansas University scored a surprising victory in the all-around test. The Missouri collegian compiled the low winning total of 13 points, two less than the total of Bartels, who was favorite. Hammond, another Kansas representative, who, with Howard Cann of New York University, was an added starter, finished third, with 19 points; Billy Yount of Redlands University of California was fourth, with 21; Hamilton of the University of Missouri was fifth, with 23, and Cann finished sixth, with 26.

Bradley's record for the test showed consistency. He did not register an individual success, but nevertheless he finished well up in each of the five events. His worst placement was a fourth in the 1,50-meter run, in which Yount showed the way to the field.

The summaries:

Track Events.

American College Championship Distance Medley Race—first man ran a quarter of a mile, next a half, third three-quarters, fourth one mile—Won by Penn State; Yale, second; Syracuse, third; Georgetown, fourth. Time—10:37 1-5.

International Intercollegiate Three-Mile Race—Won by G. T. Nightingale of New Hampshire State College; E. A. Montague, Oxford University, England, second; W. K. MacMahon, M. I. T., third; A. H. Hisler, Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, fourth. Time by miles—4:55, 10 minutes flat, and 14:56.

440 yards Hurdle Race—Won by J. M. Watt, Cornell; Coughlin, University of The South, second; H. Gish, Nebraska, third. Time—54 1-5 seconds, new world's record, beating record made by Harry Hillman, N. Y. A. C., in 1904.

B. G. D. Rudd of Oxford University did not compete.

American College Championship Sprint Medley Relay Race (first and second men each ran 220 yards, third man 440, fourth 880)—Won by Pennsylvania (Davis, Landers, Maxam, Eby); Lafayette (Lecony, Williams, Morgan, Crawford), second; Minnesota (Kelly, Johnson, McNally, Fisher), third; Massachusetts I. T., fourth. Time—3:29.

Interscholastic Medley Relay Championship of America (first runner ran 440 yards, second 220, third 660 and fourth 880)—Won by Exeter Academy (Swede, Waterman, Chapman, Hitzoat); Huntington School, Boston, second; Barringer High School, third; Cedar Rapids High School, fourth. Time—4:44.

Field Events.

Running Hop, Step and Jump—Won by Landers, Pennsylvania, 46 feet 7½ inches; Overbee, Illinois, 45 feet 6½ inches, second; Gourdon, Harvard, 43 feet 6¾ inches, third; Ellis, Syracuse, 40 feet 10 inches, fourth.

Throwing 56-Pound Weight—Won by Dandrow, Massachusetts I. T., distance, 29 feet ¾ inch; Weld, Dartmouth, 28 feet 4¼ inches, second; Skidmore, University of South, 21 feet 9 inches, third.

Pentathlon.

The Pentathlon—Won by E Bradley, of Kansas, with 13 points; Bartels, Pennsylvania, 15 points, second; Hommand, Kansas, 19 points, third. Young, Redlands University, 21 points, fourth; Hamilton, Missouri, 23 points, fifth; Cann, University of New York, 26 points, sixth.

1,500 Meter (Pentathlon)—Won by Yount; Bartels, second; Hammond, third; Bradley, fourth; Cann, fifth; Hamilton, sixth. Time—5:17 1-5.

Discus Throw (Pentathlon)—Won by Cann, New York University, distance 112 feet 3 inches; Hamilton, second; Bradley, third; Dale, fourth; Yount, fifth; Bartels, sixth; Wilson, seventh; Jones, eighth; Hammond, ninth; Byrd, tenth; Hill, eleventh.

Javelin Throw (Pentathlon)—Won by Bartels, Pennsylvania, distance 162 feet 8 inches;; Bradley, Kansas, second; Hammond, Kansas, third; Hamilton, Missouri, fourth; tie between Jones, Penn State, and Cann, New York University, for fifth; Dale, Nebraska, seventh; Emory, Penn State, eighth; Wilson, Lafayette, ninth; Hill, Lafayette, tenth; Yount, Redlands, eleventh; Byrd, Virginia Poly, twelfth.

Broad Jump (Pentathlon)—Won by William Yount, Redlands University, distance, 22 feet 3¾ inches; E. Bradley, Kansas, second; Hamilton, Missouri, third; Hammond, Kansas, fourth; W. Bartels, Pennsylvania, fifth; F. Byrd, Virginia Poly, sixth; Cann, New York University, seventh; F. Dale, Nebraska, eighth; B. Jones, Penn State, ninth; Emory, Penn State, tenth; J. Wilson, Lafayette, eleventh; F. Hill, Lafayette, twelfth.

200 Meters (Pentathlon)—Won by Bartels, Pennsylvania, 22 4-5 seconds; Bradley, Kansas, second; Yount, Redlands, third; Byrd, Virginia Poly and Hammond, Kansas, tied for fourth; Jones, Penn State, sixth; Hamilton, Missouri, seventh; Cann, New York University, eighth; Dale, Nebraska, and Wilson, Lafayette, tied for ninth; Hill, Lafayette, eleventh; Emory, Pennsylvania, twelfth.

Blunder Keeps Three Teams, Including Britons, from Race

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—A most unfortunate contretemps robbed the distance medley relay race at the Pennsylvania meet today not only of its anticipated international flavor but of the competition of several formidable teams. It appears that through the calamitous and inexplicable carelessness of certain officials neither the Oxford-Cambridge combination, the Chicago runners nor the Pennsylvania entrants were notified when the time came for the contest to be started, and none of the three teams left the dressing rooms in time to compete. When the blunder was discovered after the race had been won by Penn State, it was decided that the three teams which had been the victims of this mishap should run a special race over the same distance and under the same conditions. At this time most of the spectators had left the field. Later it was decided that the race would not be run, owing to the weather and track conditions.

Beckett to Meet Burns.

SOUTHAMPTON, April 30.—Joe Beckett, the English heavyweight, has signed articles to meet Tommy Burns, the French-Canadian fighter, who was in his prime a dozen years ago. The date of the match has not yet been settled upon.

RED SOX SEPARATE YANKS FROM GAME

WAITE HOYT TAMES RUTH

Brooklyn Schoolboy Even Passes Pipp in Eighth to Get the Mighty Babe, Who Pops to Foster.

The Boston Red Sox pried a game away from the Yanks at the moist Polo Grounds yesterday, cracking open a 2-to-2 tie score in the eighth to win out by 4 to 2. It seems that no matter how many star players the Yanks buy from the Red Sox the Bostons always have enough left to furnish sundry embarrassing matinées for the purchasers.

The game was held up for half an hour after the fourth inning. The big week-day crowd of 8,000 was entertained during the spell by Groundkeeper Henry Fabian and his trained helpmates in a tarpaulin drill. It was a "Finnigan" shower. It would rain and stop, then rain again and stop again. Henry didn't know half the time whether to put down the tarpaulin coverings on the diamond or take them up again. He did both several times.

The shower at no time was very wet. But then one can't expect high-priced baseball prima donnas to play in the rain. Some of them even think two or three times before they want to play when the sun is shining.

The Polo Grounds fans have a new vocal accomplishment. It is the Babe Ruth roar. When Babe leaves the bench to come to the plate it starts, and continues until the worst or the best is over. Down as far as 125th Street Harlem folks can now tell when Ruth comes to bat. The roar shakes the whole vicinity. The fans roar for Babe to hit 'em and when he misses fire they roar because he doesn't.

Babe Hits Once in Four Times.

They did a lot of roaring over Ruth yesterday. The super-slugger cracked out a single in the first, and sent Pipp home with the Yanks' first run. He came to bat three times after that, each time with one or more runners on the corners. Babe did his best to sock the ball out into Eighth Avenue, and the folks roared because he failed to accomplish his fiendish purpose.

The reason that Babe didn't blister the ball yesterday was Waite Hoyt. You remember Hoyt. He is the juvenile from Erasmus Hall High School in Brooklyn. He was with the Giants when a mere baseball infant, and Manager McGraw let him out, presumably because he was afraid of some action against him under the child labor law. Anyway, Hoyt is still a youngster, but he has a lot of full-grown pitching tricks.

He isn't a bit afraid of Wally Pipp or Babe Ruth. He laughed at them yesterday. He laughed at Pipp because he made what appeared, from a local viewpoint, a home run. It was in the sixth. Ward was aboard, ready to travel, and Pipp soaked the ball into the upper stand. It landed so close to the foul line that the natives rose as one man and acclaimed Pipp as a long-lost hero. Umpire Dineen said it was a foul. If Dineen can see a foul that far away when it is that close, he has the best pair of eyes that has ever been seen in this neck of the forest.

Red Sox Also Differ with Dineen.

The Red Sox also suffered from Bill's microscopic eyesight in the ninth, when Mike Menowsky pumped a drive to the right field stand which hit the iron pipe marking the foul territory. Dineen said that this was also a foul. The unanimous opinion of the Boston players was that it was a home run, and they all told Dineen so, all at once. With eyes like that, Dineen would be just the man to look up some night and see if Mars is wigwagging any messages in this direction.

The Yanks had plenty of chances to grab this ball game, but Hoyt hoisted a barrier each time. Carl Mays was very much among those present in the pitching duel with Hoyt until the eighth, when two doubles and a single broke up the ball game and gave it to Boston.

Boston tied the score in the seventh after play had been held up for half an hour by the shower. Foster singled and Scott sacrificed. Al Walters, the ex-Yank backstop, sliced a single to left, and Foster jumped home.

With one down in the eighth the bitter end came. Tim Hendryx, also an ex-Yank, jarred a two-bagger to right, and went to third when McInnis banged a grounder down to first which Pipp could barely reach. Foster rolled to Peck, and Peck, for some unknown reason, overlooked Hendryx at third and threw the ball to first, retiring Foster. Hendryx had a good start, and scored. That isn't the way Peck usually handles plays of that kind. Scott thumped a double to right, and McInnis scored.

Mays opened the eighth with a double to right. Ward fanned and Peck went out at first. Pipp walked, and everybody admired Hoyt's nerve at losing Pipp to face Ruth. Babe popped a high one to Foster. Very sad.

Harry Hooper tied the score for the Sox in the third, when he drove a home run into the right field grandstand. The Yanks came back like a book agent in their section of the third and took the lead. Ruel singled, and Mays sent him down with a sacrifice. Ward banged a single to left, and Muddy scampered home.

ALL PITCHERS LOOK ALIKE TO SKEETERS

Donovan's Men Pound Toronto Boxmen for Thirteen Hits and Win Game, 11-2.

Hughey Duffy's Maple Leafs made their first appearance for the season in Jersey City yesterday afternoon and suffered defeat at the hands of the Skeeters by a score of 11 to 2. Bill Donovan's players excelled the Canadians at all points and broke the game up in the first frame when they jumped on Peterson's curves for an accumulation of four runs garnered from three passes, a pair of hits and an error by Shortstop O'Rourke.

Ganse, a pitcher obtained by Duffy from Brooklyn, made his bow in a Toronto uniform in the fifth inning, but proved an easy mark for the Skeeters in the two innings that he performed, Donovan's boys finding him for seven hits, five of these coming in the sixth and netting the locals four additional tallies. Heck tried his hand in the seventh and eighth, but proved unable to stop the Jerseymen's run making.

Gill, the former Holy Cross College boy, occupied the mound for the home team and emerged with colors flying. He was steady all the way and kept the Toronto bingles scattered in every inning except the sixth, when a pair of doubles by O'Rourke and Spencer, together with a single by Onslow, earned the Leafs the two runs which sidestepped a shutout.

Manager Donovan shook up his team, shifting Bauman to third and introduced Dolly Stark, formerly with the Minneapolis Club, at second. The shift proved beneficial. Stark broke into the game in fine style for the Skeeters with a single and double in his three chances and scored three of the Jersey City runs. Bill Zitman excelled at bat for the locals and Onslow for the visitors. There will be a double-header tomorrow.

Curves and Bingles

Some day Ruth will try to bunt and the opposing players will be frozen stiff in their tracks with surprise.

If Ruth would only do that some time he might be able to get all the way around before the opposition recovered from the shock.

They call that little Yank catcher Muddy Ruel, but if he plays much as he did yesterday his new nickname will be Golden.

Ward has blossomed into a third baser of emience. He is skillfully fast as a fielder and he is smacking the ball a lot better than the talen with a big reputation.

If Umpire Bill Dinneen robbed Pipp of a home run he made the score all square in that respect when he jimmied Menosky of his slam to the grand stand.

When Dinneen was dusting off the plate, one of the fans yelled, "Sweep out your eyes, too, while you're about it."

Baseball makes a big hit with the Japanese fans, who go to the Polo Grounds in large numbers this season. One Nipponese got up on his toes yesterday and wanted to jui-jitsu Umpire Dinneen.

Ruth's trouble is just the same as that of so many golfers when they try to "press" every time they drive off the tee.

With Hendryx and Walters of the Yanks, the Red Sox seem to have the edge on the Yanks with Ruth, Mays and Lewis of the Red Sox.

The Red Sox got so gabby on the bench that Dinneen threatened to take all their money away from them if they didn't shut up. They still have their money.

GIANTS ARE ROUTED BY QUAKERS' RALLY

Phillies Forge Ahead in Fifth Inning and Rain Halts Contest in the Sixth.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—Aeolus, the winds, conspired today with old man J. Pluvius to rob the Giants of a ball game. These two third rate gods were capably assisted in their malevolent plot by a local baseball nine, quite favorably regarded hereabouts and sometimes referred to as the Phillies. The culpable parties have not yet been apprehended, although their whereabouts is known. The statistics of the affair were 4 to 2.

The scheme as hatched between the rowdy denizens of the upper world and the Philadelphia team appears to have been as follows:

The Giants, innocent and guileless New Yorkers, were to be petted with a little genuine Philadelphia sunshine in the early stages of the encounter, and encouraged to go ahead and put forth their best efforts. Then in the middle of the game the Phillies were to slam in with all their strength for a furious rally and forge ahead. At this stage of the proceedings, with five or six innings passed into history, the two roistering deities were to descend upon the scene in full force and deluge the park.

Anyway, that's what happened. McGraw's men got a cute little 2 to 1 lead in the third and were breezing along quite comfortably when the Philadelphians surged into their collars for a fifth-inning outburst that netted three tallies. In the course of the ensuing period the heavens opened and the wind, being no respecter of persons, thrashed the downpour into the faces of the players as well as the fans. Hank O'Day, having no diving bell at hand, put a stop to the festivities, and 3,500 moistened fans went away from there happy in the knowledge that the afternoon's affray would go on the books as a Philadelphia victory and that the Giants had been dropped into last place.

Pitchers Have Bad Inning Each.

Rube Benton was McGraw's choice for the post on the slab today and Cecil Algernon Causey—it's a privilege and a pleasure to write that name out in full—was the rival twirler. They pitched on fairly even terms. Although Cecil Algernon Causey got his bumps in the third inning, the Rube came right back at him and took a mauling in the fifth that would have broken the heart of a less stoical man.

After that fatal fifth the Giants still had a kick left and they produced it in the sixth in the form of a double by Benny Kauff and a single by Kelly. Lew McCarty bobbed up with a quick trip to fame in plain sight, but Jack Miller nailed his nobly intended line drive and snuffed him out.

At the outset of the first inning Tommy Burns smashed one right through the box for what looked like a single. It looked that way for an instant only, for Jack Miller made a dive and a great stop almost simultaneously and got his man at first. Young laid down a single to centre, but Art Fletcher hit into a double play, Causey fielding his grounder and nailing Young at second, whence Miller shot to Paulette at first for the final out.

Sicking retired Bancroft in the Phillies' half with a heave to Kelly. The latter muffed Williams's sharp liner and that worthy reached first in safety. His journey ended there, for Stengel forced him, Fletcher to Doyle. Sicking threw out Meusel.

Cecil Algernon Causey—it's melody, that's what it is—got into quite a snug dilemma in the second inning, but emerged without damage. He issued free transportation for Larry Doyle at the beginning. Meusel took excellent care of Kauff's fly, but Jack Miller flubbed Sicking's grounder. Kelly profited also by four shoots, which didn't suit Hank O'Day, and the bases were full. Paulette nailed Snyder's drive down the first base line and threw to Wheat, getting Doyle at the plate. C. A. Causey—one must be brief at times, trampling upon one's love of poetry—sped three fast ones over, at which Rube Benton whiffed in vain.

Miller's Ambition Too Great.

Jack Miller cracked out a long double to left centre to start the home team's portion of the second. He thought it was a triple and perished at third in the effort to prove it. Doyle threw out Paulette. Fletcher's fumble gave Ralph Miller a life, but Doyle threw out Wheat for the final out.

The next inning was the Giants' lone harvest time. Burns singled, but was, unhappily, caught stealing a moment later. Young doubled to left centre and Fletcher kept up the good work with a single to left, on which Young crossed the home plate. The Giants' shortstop got down to second on a wild pitch. Larry Doyle flied to Williams. Kauff scored Fletcher with a single to centre, but suffered the fate of Tommy Burns when he tried to filch second.

The Phillies got one in their half without a sign of a hit. Benton tossed out his rival twirler, one Causey—first two names unknown. Bancroft got a pass, and then Benton nailed Williams at first. Stengel thrashed out a grounder, which Sicking got and threw half way to Omaha. Bancroft scored with ease and alacrity on the wild heave. Fletcher disposed of Meusel.

The fourth inning passed speedily and fruitlessly, as did the Giants' half of the fifth. Then came the catastrophe. After Philadelphia's most melodiously named twirler had been fanned Bancroft singled to left. Williams flied to Burns. Then came Stengel with a single and Meusel with a triple which scored Bancroft and Stengel. Jack Miller produced a one-base blow on which Meusel completed his trip. Paulette forced Miller, Sicking to Doyle.

The sixth inning, despite a brace of hits on both sides, produced no further tallies. There were two out in the Phillies' half when the downpour ended hostilities.

Papin, Lightweight Champion of France, to Box Tendler

Georges Papin, lightweight champion of France, and Lew Tendler of Philadelphia were matched in this city last night to box twelve rounds at the Arena in Jersey City on Wednesday, May 12. Articles were signed by Francois Deschamps, manager of Papin, and Phil Glassman, Tendler's manager. Papin will begin training at once, boxing with Carpentier, who is one of his training mates.

DODGERS TUMBLE INTO SECOND PLACE

Pitchers' Battle Goes to Braves, 3 to 0, as Result of a Busy Fourth Inning.

BOSTON, April 30.—One fruitful inning was all Boston needed to take the measure of Brooklyn at Braves Field this afternoon in the opening game of their series. Boston produced three hits in the fourth inning, which were combined with an error and a wild pitch in the manufacture of three runs. That was the extent of the scoring throughout the entire matinée, the final count remaining: Braves, 3; Dodgers, 0. The result sent the Dodgers down to second place in the standing; the Reds now lead the procession.

Both McQuillan, for the Braves, and Pfeffer, for the Dodgers, pitched excellent ball, but the Bostonian had the better of the argument. McQuillan limited Robbie's crew to four safe blows, and kept them widely separated. Myers was the only Brooklynite to get as far as second base, which happened in the second inning, and Myers hardly had a chance to pass the time of day with Pick before his side was retired.

Pfeffer, too, was at his best most of the way and, barring his one unfortunate inning, the game was as pretty a pitching duel as one could wish to see. Excepting for a couple of miscalculations by Ward, both twirlers received the best of support. The day was not the most perfect possible for baseball and only a few more than 2,000 fans answered the roll call.

Ward Makes Two Errors.

An error by Ward and a wild pitch by Pfeffer aided the Braves materially in their fourth inning compilation of three runs. Powell started off with a grounder to second and Ward let it trickle past him. It should have been an easy out. Pick struck out, but Mann found one of Pfeffer's shoots to his liking and pasted it to centre for a base, sending Powell to third. The latter scored and Mann went to second on a wild pitch.

Pfeffer accommodated Cruise with a pass and Holke followed with a single to left, which scored Mann, and sent Cruise to second. Boeckel also placed a safety in left and Cruise counted. After Maranville had fouled out, Ward contributed his second error of the inning by fumbling O'Neill's grounder, and the bases were filled. McQuillan, fanned, however, and there was no more scoring.

Pfeffer held the Braves safely for the remainder of the fray, but the damage had been done and, with McQuillan's airtight twirling, the Robins had no chance to get the three runs back. In the second inning, Myers reached second on his own single and Pick's out to Ward, after Konetchy had skied out. Elliott made the third out on a long fly to Mann. In the fourth, Wheat singled, but there was one down at the time and Myers hit into a double play. Pfeffer started the Dodgers' sixth with a safe hit, but Olson forced him and was doubled off first when Neis struck out.

Konetchy was the only other Brooklynite to reach first in safety. This was in the eighth. Koney singled to Powell's territory, but was forced out by Ward. Elliott sent a pop fly to Boeckel and Pfeffer forced Ward out to Maranville. In the other innings the Robins went out with monotonous regularity.

Maranville played a snappy game in the field for Boston. He made three put-outs and eight assists without a misplay, and some of his chances were far from easy. Boeckel and Pick also played a good defensive game for the Braves.

Robins on Road Until May 28.

The game was the first of a long road trip for the Robins, who will not return to Ebbets Field until May 28. The team started on its travels in first place, and though it was toppled from that position in today's game, Manager Robbie is confident that it will remain in the vicinity of the head of the standing through its month's tour. He believes he has one of the best road teams that have appeared in Brooklyn uniforms in several years.

SYRACUSE DEFEATS COLUMBIA IN RAIN

Coakley Uses 15 Players in Futile Effort to Stem Orange Tide—Score Is 8 to 4.

Andy Coakley, Columbia baseball coach, who is of a mathematical turn of mind, figured out a neat scheme for winning a rain-soaked game from Syracuse on South Field yesterday afternoon. Going on the assumption that fifteen heads are better than nine, Coakley combed his entire bench for reserve players. Freshman pitchers and catchers, recruit pinch-hitters and substitute base runners were hurled into the breach. The only flaw in the scheme was that Syracuse's nine players made eight runs and eleven hits while Columbia's fifteen were scoring only four runs and six bingles.

Syracuse made its eight tallies in three innings of hectic baseball, in which solid hits, wild heaves, passed balls and fielding misplays were merged. Tommy Farrell, who started on the mound for the home team, sailed along swimmingly for two innings, while his mates were giving him a one-run advantage by shoving a score across the plate in the initial frame. In the third, however, Tommy blew up and before he had finished soaring the Orange nine had tallied three times. In the next chapter the visitors duplicated their feat at the expense of the veteran twirler, who then sought the peace and security of the bench, while Bob Pulleyn, a freshman slabster, assumed the reins.

The yearling started the task with a smile that was not erased even when Syracuse added two more to its total in the fifth, making the count at that juncture 8 to 1 in favor of the up-State aggregation. In the eighth canto Saxe, former City College pitcher, mounted the mound and twirled two hitless and runless innings.

The game was played in an almost constant drizzle, the downpour resulting in some loose fielding on the part of both teams. Each aggregation was guilty of four errors, although they did not affect the final result as far as Columbia's downfall was concerned. Syracuse made enough solid slams to capture any ball game.

The third inning opened with a single to left by Ackley. Tedford made a wonderful play on Brown's attempted sacrifice, grabbing the ball with his bare hand near the home bench. Fallon advanced Ackley to second with a single to left, and Farrell uncorked a wild pitch that moved both runners another base. Ingalls then filled the sacks with a Texas Leaguer to right, and Ackley was forced over the platter when Coughlin walked. Allen grounded to Tedford, who threw past the catcher in an attempt to stop Felton at home. Both Felton and Ingalls tallied on the heave, but a minute later Coughlin was cut down at the plate when he attempted to score on Robertson's grass cutter to Wechsler.

Malone inaugurated the fourth round by looping a home run into the distant right-field bleachers. Ackley added to the gloom by doubling past Houlahan in left. Brown lined to Wechsler, who heaved into right field in an endeavor to double Ackley at the keystone sack, the Syracuse man moving up to third. When Goodman returned the ball to the plate to hold Ackley at third Ackermann let the pellet roll under his glove to the stands, Ackley scoring. Fallon singled, went clear to third on an out and crossed the plate on Ackermann's passed ball.

The Orange team finished its run-getting in the fifth.

CRYSTAL FORD PAYS BACKERS 106 TO 1

Plater Gives Havre de Grace Racegoers a Sensation on Closing Day of Meet.

LEADS STRONG FIELD HOME

Defeats Star Master, Billy Kelly and Sir Barton in Philadelphia Handicap—King Thrush Wins.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 30.—The Spring meeting at Havre de Grace came to a close today with a surprise that will linger long in turf annals to make this session memorable. It came in the running of the $5,000 Philadelphia Handicap at a mile and a sixteenth, when Crystal Ford, a plater, which was quoted at 106 to 1, got up in the last few strides to lead home such stars as Star Master, Billy Kelly and Sir Barton, among others, in a field of ten starters. The mutuels paid $214.40 to holders of $2 tickets on the winner.

This is the longest price that any horse has won on an American track this year, and the victory was a contradiction of all the form on the race. Crystal Ford is more at home in much cheaper company, and only a few days ago finished third to some ordinary performers, ten lengths back of the second horse.

The entry of Commander J. K. L. Ross, Sir Barton and Billy Kelly, was made an odds-on choice, as it appeared that the race was between this entry and A. K. Macomber's Star Master. Crystal Ford had only to carry 100 pounds against 132 for Sir Barton, 126 for Billy Kelly and 127 for Star Master, and it was undoubtedly this light impost that made his victory possible.

The crowd, which had been dividing its cheers between the Ross horses and Star Master, had expected one of its favorites to outgame Crystal Ford, but when in the last few strides the latter held his advantage the cheering died out to a whisper. Crystal Ford won by only a neck and Star Master was the same distance in front of Billy Kelly, while Sir Barton was a full length back of his stablemate. None of the other horses in the race, with the exception of War Mask, was a factor. So little attention had been paid to Crystal Ford that few knew the odds against him. There was a big surprise for the crowd when the figures were posted on the board and it was found that better than a 100 to 1 shot had scored.

There was a large crowd out for the closing day and it witnessed some good racing in addition to the feature event. Commander Ross found some consolation for the defeat of his great handicap performers in the victory of his Kentucky Derby candidate, King Thrush, in the Princeton Purse at six furlongs.

Thousand-Guinea Stakes in England Is Won by Cinna

NEWMARKET, England, April 30.—The classic 1,000-guinea stakes was won here today by Sir R. V. B. Jardine's Cinna. Lord Rosebery's Valescure was second and Baron Rothschild's Cicerole third. Twenty-one horses ran.

Cinna was quoted at 4 to 1 in the betting, Valescure at 25 to 1 and Cicerole at 100 to 8.

Durland's Foxhunters Win Final Match at Spring Horse Show by Half a Point.

In the final session of the annual New York Spring Horse Show at Durland's Riding Academy last night the greatest attraction proved to be the final indoor polo match, which brought together the teams of the Park Riding School of Boston and Durland's Foxhunters, the local trio winning by only half a goal, the score being 6 to 5½.

Both teams had gone through the previous sessions without defeat and, aside from the usual incentives for winning, there was quite some intercity feeling at stake. Boston's trio started with a lead of two goals by handicap and then managed to hold it through the first period, at the conclusion of which King and Winn had each scored a goal for the local team, while Sherman and East did the same for the visitors. During the second period both of the New York players who scored in the first period made two goals each, while Sherman added another to the Boston score, and one of the ponies from the Hub tallied the additional goal, but Sherman was penalized one-half goal, which made the gross score for the Foxhunters 6 and the Bostonians 5½.

FOXHUNTERS.	BOSTON PARKS.
1—Max Phillips.	1—G. C. Sherman.
2—Archie Kinny.	2—Harry East.
3—H. M. Winn.	3—Gerald Dempsey.

First period—Foxhunters: Kinny 1, Winn 1. Boston: Sherman 1, East 1. Second period—Foxhunters: Kinny 2, Winn 2. Boston: Sherman 1, pony 1. Total—Foxhunters 6, Boston 4. Sherman penalized ½. Gross score—Foxhunters 6, Boston 3½. Net score—Foxhunters 6, Boston 5½.

Referee—Earl W. Hoppy. Timekeeper—Solon L. Frank. Scorer—William Loeb.

Nine regular classes were decided, and a large gallery of enthusiasts enjoyed the evening's contests for supremacy, which brought together an excellent array of equine stars. The first class of the evening demonstrated that Charles D. Lanier's bay mare, Dixie, is destined to give her stablemates a hard tussle in future trials if they are to hold their own. She was awarded the blue in her first appearance of the evening, with Down East, her stablemate, a good second out of a class of a dozen contenders.

Mrs. Garvan Adds More Values.

Mrs. F. P. Garvan added another to her long string of victories won during the week when her saddle pony, Chestnut Blossom, defeated Miss Corinne Poth's Bounce, a brilliant performing little brown mare. The class for the trophy presented by the New York Equestrian Association brought together seventeen contenders, and it did not take the judges long to decide upon Richard Aldrich's Black Prince as worthy of the blue ribbon, although there were many who liked the performance of Harvey S. Ladew's Leading Lady.

Mrs. Garvan had two of the three entries in the pony tandem class and took both blue and red ribbons, while the Regan entry took what was left. Hamilton Flame and Hamilton Dianthus made up the winning tandem pair and they are getting better at every performance.

Ladew's Gaylight Wins.

The women's hunters' class, for the New York Riding Club's prize, had sixteen entries, including enough good ones to make the winning an honor worth while. Harvey S. Ladew added another to his string of victories by taking the blue with his bay gelding Gaylight.

Herman C. Huffer, Jr.'s, bay gelding, Bendale, proved to be the choice of the judges in a large class of ladies' saddle horses over 14.2 hands, to be ridden by women, while in the class for high-stepping ponies, that unbeatable pair, Hamilton Flame and Hamilton Dianthus, performing even more creditably than in any of the previous events in which they have appeared, took the blue and red ribbons respectively.

Those in charge of this the twenty-fifth annual New York Spring Horse Show, said that the showing as regards horses and the attendance was better than it has been for several years, which, they contend, proves that the horse, though largely displaced by the automobile, still has a strong grip on the public.

The summaries:

Class 40, for qualified or green lightweight Hunters up to carrying 165 pounds to hounds, manners, quality and way of going to count 40 per cent.—conformation and performance 60 per cent.—Charles D. INJURIES MAR BOUTS.

One Amateur Breaks Hand, Another Hurts His, at Paulist A. C.

Injuries to two of the finalists in the 135-pound class marred the concluding bouts of the boxing tournament at the Paulist A. C. last night, and prevented the holding of the final match in that class. In his semi-final engagement James McGlyon of the Paulist A. C. broke his hand while winning the judges' decision from J. Reed of the St. Anthony A. C. Another amateur fighter at the same weight, Joe Florio of the Paulist organization, reported that he had hurt his hand in a preliminary bout on Wednesday evening and was unable to appear. James Sullivan of the Paulist A. C. thereupon won the final bout by default.

The summaries were:

110-Pound Class, Semi-finals—L. Powell, St. Christopher's A. C., defeated J. Rafferty, Rutgers Gymnasium, three rounds, judges' decision; H. Fanning, Hudson Guild, defeated E. Bollinger, Central A. C., three rounds, judges' decision. Final—Fanning defeated Powell, three rounds, judges' decision.

118-Pound Class, Semi-finals—S. Vogel, Pastime A. C., defeated L. Verranti, Greenwich House, three rounds, judges' decision; S. Cohen, Clark House A. A., stopped G. Hughes, Central A. C., in one round. Final—S. Vogel, Pastime A. C., defeated S. Cohen, Clark House A. A., four rounds, judges' decision.

135-Pound Class, Semi-finals—J. McGlyon, Greenwich House, defeated J. Reed, St. Antony A. C., three rounds, judges' decision; Nick Florio, Paulist A. C., defeated C. Sanders, Brooklyn A. C., three rounds, judges' decision.

MASON IS KNOCKED OUT.

Tremaine Requires Only 75 Seconds to Put Frankie to Sleep.

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 30.—Carl Tremaine of Cleveland knocked out Frankie Mason of Fort Wayne, Ind., in the first round of their scheduled twelve-round bout here tonight. Mason was knocked down three times before taking the final count. The knockout came after 1 minute and 15 seconds and was a right to the jaw. Tremaine weighed 116 pounds, Mason 111.

WIDE DIVERGENCE OF IDEAS ON GOLF

Many Different Opinions Expressed at Meeting to Consider Playing Code Changes.

Railroad Presidents, heads of great corporations, bankers, brokers and just plain ordinary folk devoted more than three hours yesterday afternoon to an interchange of opinions on the proposed new rules in golf at the special conference called for the purpose at Delmonico's between the committee of the U. S. G. A., which will sail for England on May 22, and delegates from every important golf association throughout the country. Every known angle and a few brand new ones on the standard ball, the stymie, the lost and out-of-bound ball were probed. But instead of finding sentiment solidly for or against any one proposal, there was such a medley of ideas that the committee will have to study diligently the scores of pages of the stenographic report which was transcribed yesterday.

No action was taken, because it was the purpose of the session merely to fortify the U. S. G. A. Committee with the views of American golfers. But whereas a solid front opposing a standard ball was anticipated, the meeting developed the interesting discovery that even this proposed restriction on golf was much a matter of individual or sectional choice. Neither was there a firm alignment against the stymie, and the nearest thing of unanimity was the fairly universal opinion that the penalty for a lost ball should be the same as for a ball out of bounds.

President George H. Walker, the St. Louis sportsman who heads the U. S. G. A., was in the chair, and flanking him at the round table were the other members of the committee which will go abroad—Howard F. Whitney of this city, Vice President of the U. S. G. A.; J. F. Byers of Pittsburgh, another Vice President, and Frederick S. Wheeler of this city, a former President. The fifth committeeman, Robert A. Gardner of Chicago, was not present.

Support Divided.

Applause was lacking except in one instance, for the support on the proposals was so divided that in the case of some suggestions the golfers were separated into several small groups. Robert W. Lesley, donor of the famous Lesley Cup and representing the Golf Association of Philadelphia, made a strong appeal at the close of the meeting which found favor immediately. Pointing out the difference between a sport such as fishing and hunting and a game played under fixed conditions and rules, such as tennis and baseball, Mr. Lesley exclaimed: "Our committee should know that the American golfer stands for the sport of golf and not for the game of golf. He doesn't want to be surrounded by elements and rules which would remove nature from the game." Mr. Lesley was attacking the scheme of a few who would try to codify in briefer and simpler rules the game on the links, and it was his idea that rain, sunshine, mud, sand and other natural elements should not be combated.

Along similar lines was the thoroughly significant plea for unrestricted golf made by Leighton Calkins of this city, who introduced in 1905 and revised in 1910 the system of handicapping players which is in general use on this side of the Atlantic. Mr. Calkins, speaking as an individual, recalled that in 1908 at St. Andrews it was found impossible to condense the rules, and he declared it a mistake to attempt it at this time. He advanced two arguments against a standardized ball. The first, a practical one, he based on the fact that such a rule would prove futile because men play golf for enjoyment; they will play with the ball they like best, and if necessary will donate funds for reconstructing courses. The second, a mental reason, is that the freedom of choice of playing implements distinguishes golf from other games. The basic definition of golf is "playing a ball (any kind) from a tee to a hole," and the only restriction is that the hole be four and one-quarter inches in diameter, and that the ball therefore cannot be larger than this. Mr. Calkins believes it distinctly revolutionary to attempt a standardization of the implements of golf.

Oppose Standardization.

Those who flatly opposed standardization included A. L. Walker, Jr., of the Intercollegiate Golf Association; A. H. Pogson, of the M. G. A.; James E. Nugent, of the Trans-Mississippi Association; Wilbur H. Brooks, President of the Western Golf Association, and H. V. Neuhaus, of the Texas Golf Association. At least one delegate, E. P. Holden, Jr., of the New Jersey State Golf Association, believed some curb ought to be imposed. President Walker, of the U. S. G. A., expressed the opinion of several when he said the ball at present was satisfactory to all courses, but the future outlook must be considered primarily. Barton K. Stephenson, President of the Massachusetts Golf Association, held this view, for, as he declared, no golfer wanted to face the possibility of courses being lengthened to seven or eight thousand yards.

The discussion of the elimination of the stymie called forth an even greater variance of views. President Stephenson of the Massachusetts body would abolish the stymie altogether, a view shared by President Brooks of the Western Golf Association and Mr. Lesley, but others, such as Mr. Walker of the college association and Julian W. Curtis of Connecticut, favored the optional plan of conceding the putt where the distance to the hole was so short that the nearer player could scarcely miss. President Nugent of the Trans-Mississippi group of golf clubs cited the rule in force there which he urged for consideration by the U. S. G. A. It is that if a player lays himself a stymie it must be played, otherwise the ball nearer the hole must be lifted.

Mr. Burke said there were four alternatives: (1) Abolition of stymie; (2) playing it when self-laid; (3) option of conceding putt, and (4) abolished unless the distance between the nearer player and the hole be two feet or more.

YALE BEATEN AT HANDBALL.

Whitehall Club Wins, 6 to 1, Wigfall Gaining Only Eli Victory.

The Yale University handball team was defeated yesterday afternoon in its annual match with the Whitehall Club of New York on the latter's courts by a score of 6 matches to 1. The Whitehall players won all but one of the singles matches and both of the doubles, Wigfall accounting for the only Eli victory, when he defeated Walter Kidde in the singles, 21—19, 21—9.

The summaries:

Singles—Otto N. Stanfield, Whitehall Club, defeated C. W. Schwartz, Yale, 21—19, 21—15; J. I. Merritt, Whitehall Club, defeated S. L. Read, Yale, 21—8, 21—14; S. F. Resolute on the Ways, Ready For Launching This Morning

BRISTOL, R. I., April 30.—The sloop Resolute, candidate for America's Cup defender, was removed today from the storage shed where it had been housed for four years to the incline point of the marine railway preparatory to being launched tomorrow morning. It is expected that the tide will be high enough to permit the launching early.

FORDHAM DEFEATS DARTMOUTH, 4 TO 3

Wallace's Wildness Causes the Downfall of Hanover Baseball Team in Game Here.

The Fordham University baseball team defeated the Dartmouth nine in a close game at Fordham Field yesterday afternoon by the score of 4 to 3. It was the first contest of the season for the Hanoverians. Waters, Fordham's young twirler, pitched well and held his opponents to five safeties. Wallace, who started on the mound for Jeff Tesreau's aggregation, gave seven bases on balls in less than three innings. Tracy, who succeeded him, limited the home players to four bingles.

The visitors got off to a good start and tallied in the second frame on a base on balls, a passed ball, and Brown's two-base hit to centre field. The Maroon nine took the lead by scoring three runs in its half of the same round on four bases on balls, a stolen base and singles by Donovan and McLoughlin. The Bronx collegians registered another tally in the followship stanza when Keough walked and completed the circuit on a brace of hits by Donovan and Waters.

Game with Haverford Halted by Rain After Six Innings.

Special to The New York Times.

HAVERFORD, Pa., April 30.—A sudden downpour of rain at the end of the sixth inning put an end to the Haverford-Stevens baseball game on the Haverford field this afternoon. The visitors were leading by the count of 7—2 when play ended. Stevens annexed a four-run lead in the opening session which the Quakers were unable to overcome. Kearney settled down to pitching good ball.

HALL EXCELS WITH FOILS AND SABRE

DUTCHER WINS WITH EPEE

Defeats Breckinridge in Fence-off for Title—Nunes Is Runner-up in Two Final Events.

Sherman Hall, of the New York A. C., present national foils titleholder, scored a double victory in the fencing championships of the Amateur Fencers' League of America at the Hotel Astor last night. The agile Mercury Foot swordsman not only defended his present title with success but regained the sabre championship which he lost to Arthur S. Lyon in last year's titular contests. In both weapons Hall received the most spirited kind of opposition from Leo Nunes, a clubmate. The Italian tied the champion twice in number of bouts but lost the premier honors because of having had more touches scored against him.

The titleholders who were unseated were Lyon in the sabre and William H. Russell of the Boston A. A. in the epee. The latter was eliminated in the preliminary round and did not take part in the final matches. Lyon made a plucky struggle with his favorite weapon, but Hall and Nunes had amassed a lead that could not be overcome. Lyon took third honors with the sabre and fourth with the epee.

The two leading contenders for the foils title entered the evening events deadlocked for first place. Hall then proceeded to defeat Henry Breckinridge of the Army Officers' Fencing Club of Washington in a close bout. Nunes moved abreast of the titleholder by vanquishing William H. Russell of the Boston A. A., again creating a tie for premier honors.

The situation was solved by recourse to the Olympic fencing rules, which specify that the number of touches scored against each of the two contestants shall determine the winner. On this basis Hall retained his title, he having received only twenty-eight touches to Nunes's thirty-one.

Dutcher Wins Fence-Off.

A fence-off between Ray W. Dutcher of the New York A. C. and Henry Breckinridge was necessary before the epée title was won by the New York contestant. When the regular strip had been completed both Dutcher and Breckinridge had each won two bouts out of three, Dutcher having beaten Breckinridge himself and Leo Nunes while the Washington fencer was vanquishing Nunes and George H. Breed of the Fencers' Club of New York.

A more dramatic situation would be hard to conceive. On the issue of one successful touch rested the national championship in the dueling sword, and there was a deep silence in the hall when the two leading contenders faced each other on the narrow strip. Dutcher took the aggressive at the beginning and forced the issue, Breckinridge, however, holding him at arm's length with an impregnable defense. For several minutes the fencers felt their way cautiously, with arm outstretched and the weapon making wary and careful circles in the air.

Dutcher continued to lead, Breckinridge contenting himself with slashing occasionally at his opponent's sword but never taking the initiative himself. When the bout was nearly ten minutes old, the effort of holding the heavy weapon at arm's length proved too fatiguing for both men, and time was called while the exhausted muscles were rested. When the fencing was resumed Breckinridge made several unsuccessful thrusts at the New York man and landed one near-touch on his opponent's glove. The judges disallowed the touch, and shortly after Dutcher, with a lightning-like lunge at the Washington lawyer, landed a clean touch on Breckinridge's right sleeve. The time of the bout was about twelve minutes.

A Remarkable Finish.

Dutcher's triumph was the more remarkable because of the uphill fight that te Mercury Foot fencer made in the semi-final round on Thursday afternoon. His preliminary bouts had nearly proved his undoing, and he was barely within the select circle of those who qualified for the second stage of the tournament. By remarkable work in the semi-final stages, he advanced swiftly into the leading quartet and continued his successful efforts last night.

Nunes, the runner-up in the foils struggle, was followed closely by Captain H. M. Rayner, of the Army Officers' Fencing Club, who took third place with eight victories and three defeats. Three contestants, Breckinridge, Russell and Arthur S. Lyon, were tied for fourth place, each winning seven times and losing four bouts.

Hall had rather a more difficult time with his final match than did Nunes. The Italian, pitted against Russell, turned the Bostonian back with a decisive defeat, 9 touches to 2. Hall, on the other hand, had as an opponent the dangerous Breckinridge.

The contestants with each weapon were:

Foils—Sherman Hall, Leo Nunes and Steddiford Pitt, New York A. C.; Henry Breckinridge, Lieut. Col. Robert Sears, and Captain H. M. Rayner, Army Officers' Fencing Club, Washington, D. C.; Arthur S. Lyon, George H. Breed and R. Van Nardroff, Fencers' Club of New York; William H. Russell and E. R. Gay, Boston A. A.

Sabre—Sherman Hall, Leo Nunes and Steddiford Pitt, New York A. C.; Arthur S. Lyon, Fencers' Club of New York; J. B. B. Parker and L. M. Fleisher, Fencers' Club of Philadelphia; Captain H. M. Rayner, Sergeant Dimond, Colonel George Patton, and Colonel George Vidmer, Army Officers' Fencing Club, Washington, D. C.; A. Strauss, New York Turn Verein.

Epee—Leo Nunes and Ray W. Dutcher, New York A. C.; George H. Breed, Fencers' Club of New York; Henry Breckinridge, Army Officers' Fencing Club of Washington, D. C.

The summaries:

Foils Competition.

FINAL ROUND.

Hall defeated Breckinridge, 3—2.
Pitt defeated Van Nardroff, 5—2.
Nunes defeated Russell, 9—2.
Sears defeated Lyon, 5—2.

Totals—Hall won 9 bouts and lost 2; Nunes won 9 and lost 2; Rayner won 8 and lost 3; Breckinridge won 7 and lost 4; Lyon won 7 and lost 4; Russell won 7 and lost 4; Breed won 6 and lost 4; Pitt won 5 and lost 6; Sears won 4 and lost 7; Van Nardroff won 2 and lost 9.

The tie in number of bouts between Hall and Nunes was decided by counting touches against, on this basis Hall winning with only 28 touches to Nunes's 31.

Haines Opposes Shortening Harvard-Yale Crew Course

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 30.—Coach William Haines of the Harvard 'Varsity crew is opposed to changing the distance of the Harvard-Yale boat race from four miles to three. "I do not believe there is any valid reason for a change," writes Mr. Haines in a letter to The Yale Daily News. "At both universities the crew squads are large, and there is never any question as to the physique of the men who make up the crews. It is conceivable that if the crews regularly averaged about 150 pounds it might be advisable to cut the distance, basing the change on the assumption that small men are not as well able to do heavy work as larger men. But we do not face this situation at either Harvard or Yale. The history of half a century of boat racing is pretty conclusive in its proof that there is no physical harm in the four-mile distance.

"The nervous strain of a shorter race is no less great than that of a four-mile race. I have seen men just as well 'done out' in the Henley distance as in the four-mile event. Twenty minutes is not an excessive time for well-trained men to be under physical strain."

HARVARD, TIGERS AND PENN READY

Triangular Regatta to be Rowed Today on the Charles—Crimson 'Varsity Heaviest.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 30.—The Harvard, Pennsylvania and Princeton 'Varsity crews this afternoon finished preparations for tomorrow's triangular regatta by covering the mile and seven-eighths course over which the race will be held.

Pennsylvania rowed morning and afternoon, during the latter session paddling from 22 to 24 strokes a minute, with a two-minute sprint, when the stroke registered 34 and 36. Princeton reached Boston at noon and didn't attempt to row until 5 o'clock, when Dr. Spaeth took his three crews over the course.

Coach Haines took the Harvard 'Varsity and second crews over the basin at the same time the Princeton shells were operating. In the morning he was Coach Joe Wright's guest when the Red and Blue shells were working.

Damon, No. 7 in the Harvard 'Varsity, reported with a sore hand today, but will be able to row tomorrow by wearing a rubber glove. Haines made two shifts in his second crew, dropping Morris, No. 6, and Borland, No. 5, their positions being filled by George Batchelder and Kane. The latter was replaced by Borland during the week of the Naval Academy regatta.

The Princeton men average 171 pounds, about four pounds a man lighter than Penn, while Harvard averages 181 pounds.

Coaches Haines, Spaeth and Wright were willing to have it put down in black and white that they expected to win. The Princeton coach considered it a good omen when Congleton, his coxswain in two previous victories over Harvard, in one race of which Penn also took part, visited the boathouse today.

Brother against brother was noted again in 'Varsity athletes, Arthur Terry, No. 2 on Princeton, being of the same family as Lawrence Terry, Harvard's No. 6.

Captain Lamont, the Princeton stroke, will not row, having been unable to practice all season because of an injury received while playing basket ball. Page, the Tiger bow, will row, however, despite a recent injury.

Coach Guy Nickalls and Captain Peters of Yale are to witness the race, according to a telegram for reservations received this afternoon.

The main race will start after dual brushes between the Harvard and Princeton freshman and second crews. Referee C. J. D. Golde, of the London Rowing Club will send the first crews away at five o'clock if conditions permit.

NAVY EXPECTS TO WIN.

Annapolis Crew Thinks Union B. C. Will Trail Today.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 30.—The ease with which the Naval Academy eight defeated Harvard's University crew on Monday has imbued the Navy camp with confidence on the eve of its race with the pick of Harvard's veterans, representing the Union Boat Club of Boston.

The graduate crew, which is aiming toward the Henley Regatta in England, shows a boatful of some of the best of the Crimson oarsmen in recent years, all tried men with several years of racing experience. But to the fast Navy eight this is just another Harvard crew, and the midshipmen are prophesying another decisive Navy victory.

Staged for the benefit of the 850 delegates to the annual convention of the Associated Harvard Clubs, the race will start promptly at 2 o'clock tomorrow, with Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harvard, 1904, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, as referee. Instead of the special trains which are the rule at New London when Harvard meets Yale, the Harvard alumni will follow the race in submarine chasers, provided by the Navy Department through Secretary Roosevelt.

SALTUS IS WINNER OVER FOSS AT POOL

Gains Victory by Score of 100 to 76 in Tourney for Metropolitan Title.

Harry Saltus gained a firmer hold upon third place and a more commanding position generally in the race for metropolitan honors in the pocket billiard tournament of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players by defeating Humboldt Foss by a score of 100 to 76 last night at the Broadway Billiard Academy.

Saltus started off in the lead by making his high run of the evening, a cluster of twelve buttons, and clung to his advantage thereafter until the finish, although Foss was always within hailing distance and always a dangerous contender. In fact, the play was even all the way.

Both indulged in a great deal of safety play, preferring to keep an eye on what the other fellow might accomplish rather than to go out after the shots. The result was to slow up the game greatly. Two hours were consumed before Saltus ran out his hundred points and there was little in the progress of the event to electrify the gallery. However, in view of the sort of game the two elected to play, their work was steady and consistent.

The result of the match gives Saltus, with four games won and one lost, a position close upon the heels of the two leaders, Gardner and Hurd, both of whom have yet to lose a game. Foss is now in a tie with Jenkins for fourth place, with two won and three lost.

The score by frames of last night's encounter follows:

H. Saltus—12 9 5 10 9 5 9 7 5 6 8 6 6 4. Total—100. High run, 12; scratch, 1.

H. Foss—2 5 9 4 5 9 5 3 9 8 6 8 8. Total—76. High run, 8; scratches, 5.

TIGERS WIN AT TENNIS.

Williams Net Team Is No Match for Princeton Players.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 30.—Princeton defeated Williams in tennis here today with comparative ease, winning by the score of six matches to none. The visitors were unable to win a single set, and took only 32 games against the Tigers' 74. Both teams showed up well for so early in the season. A light rain during the first few sets slowed the play perceptibly.

The summaries:

Singles—Captain Werner, Princeton, defeated Captain Pollard, Williams, 6—2, 6—2; Hyson, Princeton, defeated Fraker, Williams, 6—2, 6—4; Shipway, Princeton, defeated Bullock, Williams, 6—2, 6—4; Herndon, Princeton, defeated Rowse, Williams, 6—3, 6—3.

Doubles—Werner and Herndon, Princeton, defeated Pollard and Rowse, Williams, 6—1, 6—1; Hyson and Shipwan, Princeton, defeated Bullock and Fraker, Williams, 6—2, 8—6.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Recover Slightly, with Activity Decreased—Liberty Bonds Weak.

Trading in stocks slackened appreciably yesterday, as compared with preceding days of the week, and sufficient short covering occurred in advance of the holiday to impart a generally firm tone to industrial shares. Dealings were of the hesitant order and accompanied by much irregularity. It was a matter of favorable comment, however, that the bears were not moved to push their success of Wednesday and Thursday further, and little was said of the liquidation of long stock. What might have seemed provocative of additional selling for the short account was a rise of call money to 15 per cent., equaling the maximum of two weeks ago. The market ignored this fresh demonstration of restricted credit, and apparently was not affected by a resumption of the decline of Liberty bonds. Cotton was unsteady but the grain markets recorded higher prices under fairly large buying centred in the Chicago district.

The trading week ended yesterday was a harvest time for operations aimed at the downward side of prices, some of the industrial shares being carried lower than in the break of last November. That a great deal of the pressure was of the artificial order was shown in the prevalance of familiar bear influences in the rumor market. In destructive gossip the shortage of credit in many directions was amplified to a degree which aroused suspicion of effort to make the situation as unpleasant as possible for holders of stocks, thus hastening liquidation. The question might well be raised in the light of yesterday's stability of quotations whether this sort of thing had not been much overdone, carrying short selling to a point where a recovery was in order. Basic facts of industry and transportation have not been altered by the fall of stocks. From all sides continue to come reports of goods shortages which will require active production for a long time to come, even though the feverish consumption of the last twelve months has lost some of its edge through the medium of extraordinary prices. The railroads have suffered, and are still suffering, from the recent strike, but current congestion of terminals is being cleared away, and when conditions become normal again there is no reason why the interrupted improvement of railroad facilities should not be renewed. The news from Washington indicates that punitive taxation to raise soldier bonuses is being sidetracked, and from the highest office of organized labor has come in the last few days the prediction that genuine labor unrest will shortly be on the wane. These observations alter not at all the fact that credit is scarce and costly, with the probability that it will continue so for a long time, which impels business to move conservatively, and warns speculation to go slow, but does not warrant a gloomy outlook for the balance of the year.

Sterling exchange was free of the sharp swings of Thursday, but developed a weak tone at the opening, which continued to the close of business. The demand rate at 3.82 recorded a net decline of 2½ cents. Belgian, French, and Italian rates sold off. In none of the markets were there developments out of the ordinary.

EXECUTIVES CALLED TO AID RAILROADS

New Request from Commerce Commission for Solution of Equipment Problem.

TO COVER WIDE SCOPE

Report on the Best Way to Spend $300,000,000 Revolving Fund Is Delayed.

The report which is being prepared by a Special Committee of the Association of Railway Executives on the best way in which the $300,000,000 revolving fund provided in the Transportation act may be expended, has been delayed, according to information obtained in the financial district yesterday, by a further request from the Interstate Commerce Commission that the association draw up a plan for the solution of the equipment, additions and betterments problem now before the commission.

In conservative quarters this was interpreted yesterday to mean that the Interstate Commerce Commission desires the full co-operation of the best railroad minds in meeting the problems, and that it will pay heed to the suggestions by the transportation heads of the country for untangling the railroad snarl.

Such a report as the one suggested will necessarily involve the gathering of an enormous volume of details from the individual railroad corporations. These details, it is understood, will cover the maximum and minimum financial requirements of the carriers. The report will also necessitate decisions by the Association's Special Committee and Standing Committee as to which of the roads should receive aid from the Interstate Commerce Commission and which should not.

Some weeks ago the commission sent a request to the association that it query member roads as to their minimum and maximum equipment requirements and the questionnaire was immediately sent out. While no verification has been obtainable at the offices of the association in New York, it has been understood for some days that a large number of replies had been received and that the report would probably be forwarded to the commission this week or next.

BANK HAS WOMAN OFFICER.

Guaranty Trust Co. Makes Miss Porter an Assistant Secretary.

Miss Clara F. Porter, a member of the Guaranty Trust Company's bond department, has been appointed an assistant secretary of the company, thereby becoming the first woman to attain membership in the institution's official staff. Miss Porter is connected with the Fifth Avenue office of the Guaranty Trust Company.

She is a graduate of Smith College, and before entering the trust company's service was the editor of a magazine pulished in the interests of a number of public service corporations.

Studebaker Profits $5,272,092.

The net profits of the Studebaker Corporation for the first quarter of this year were $5,272,092, according to the statement of President A. R. Erskine. After allowing for Federal taxes amounting to $800,000 the surplus was $4,472,092, which exceeds by 15 per cent. the best quarterly earnings of the corporation heretofore. Last year the first quarter earnings before deducting tax reserves were $1,145,709. Sales for the first quarter of 1920 were $23,301,242, compared with $10,890,348 in the corresponding period of 1919. The regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. was declared by the Directors.

STUTZ SHORTS PAY $27,500 EXTRA LEVY

MAY BE SMALL REFUND

Stock Exchange Continues Inquiry Into Stutz—Ryan Holds He Is No Longer a Member.

Aside from the settlement price of $550 a share which Stutz shorts paid to Allan A. Ryan, an additional 5 points, or $5 a share, was demanded of them to cover the fees of lawyers engaged by the Protective Committee, it was learned yesterday. As the short interest was something like 5,500 shares, the amount assessed for the lawyers is about $27,500. Charles A. Morse, Chairman of the Protective Committee, explained that the committee acted entirely without compensation. He said there might be a small dividend for the shorts from the lawyers' fund after fees were paid. The assessment of $5 a share was levied, it was said, just as soon as the Protective Committee took over the reins in the interest of the shorts.

The New York Stock Exchange is still carrying on its investigation of the trading in Stutz Motor stock. It is not believed any action will be taken on the sale of Allan A. Ryan's seat until this has been completed. Mr. Ryan, however, refuses to consider himself a member of the Exchange, although the Stock Exchange ticker still remains in his office.

Rumors.

Wall Street has been flooded recently with all sorts of rumors of impending financial disaster. It is hard to determine whether they were the cause or the effect of the bear drive against prices, but at any rate the reports were of a nature to seriously affect confidence. How pernicious were the stories is shown by recounting one that was heard yesterday for the first time. This was that the Stock Exchange was about to close for a month. The Stock Exchange will be closed today for a very good reason, namely, that many of the firms on the Exchange will have their offices disrupted because of moving day. Talk of closing for a month is too ridiculous to warrant even a denial. However, it is rumors of this sort which are designed to prey upon the fears of investors, and whether or not the bears have a direct part in it, the rumors tend to strengthen positions on the short side. The Stock Exchange lays a heavy penalty against those who circulate false rumors and it is unbelievable that Stock Exchange firms themselves have any part in the highly colored rumor mart.

Bear Drives Checked.

The attacks on prices which have been rolling up paper profits for the bears failed to bring the desired result yesterday. Prices refused to recede and doubtless some of the short sellers turned about face and proceeded to cover, which would naturally tend to make the market firm. At any rate, the slaughter of quotations which has been unchallenged by heavy buying power during most of this week suddenly ceased, and there were not a few who predicted that the decline had been carried past all reason—in other words, that the proverbial pendulum had swung too far past the centre on the downward dip and that a recovery was in order. This is not to say that prices generally held above their closing levels of the preceding day, but rather that the precipitate selling seemed to have spent itself and there was enough of a recovery here and there to permit of writing the market down as irregular rather than weak.

American Woolen's Plans.

The proposal of the American Woolen Company to increase its capital by $40,000,000 was a distinct shock to Wall Street. Of the increase $20,000,000 will be in preferred and a like amount in common. It is reported that only the common stock increase will be sold at the present time. However, that American Woolen has need of new financing is surprising. It was only about a year ago that the company began handing out large extra dividends, and it was supposed that the prosperous business of the war years had been such as to leave a big working capital, ample for all needs, even after dividend payments. It would seem now that the dividend policy of the company had been a bit too liberal, in view of the stringent credit conditions which obtain. Those companies which adopted a conservative policy, knowing well that the reign of plenty would not last forever, have been able to pass the present situation without increasing capital. The surprise over the new financing of American Woolen was manifest in the stock market, the shares being weak throughout the day and closing with a loss of more than 3 points.

The Interior's Demands.

According to reports in banking circles the interior has been drawing rather heavily upon New York during the week. There is the usual demand for funds to finance the planting of the crops, and to this has been added a demand for funds to help finance the burden which has been thrust upon the interior because of the railroad strike and the consequent inability of the railroads to move goods with the usual dispatch. The result has been that while New York has less burden of its own to carry, it has had to come to the assistance of many other sections. This demand, in all probability, has had something to do with the peculiar action of the call money market during the week. Since Tuesday there have been mild flurries, with the rate going up to 10 per cent. on that day, Wednesday and Thursday. Yesterday, after it had renewed at 8 per cent., it mounted to 15 per cent., later reacting slightly to 12 per cent., where it closed.

Commercial Contraction.

Rumors keep going the rounds that the mercantile people are being urged to "contract" and to "deflate," and that they are being warned that at some given date, not far distant, they are to have their credit lines severely cut. Bankers, however, deny that there is any concerted plan for curtailing commercial loans, although they freely admit that the present credit situation is such that contraction will have to be made. But they say so far as cutting all credit lines arbitrarily is concerned, it simply isn't being done.

Bond Selling.

Some of the mercantile houses are turning up as sellers of bonds, both Liberties and others of general description. These houses, it is said, include many which a few years ago were buying bonds on the theory that in times of credit stringency they would always find the bonds favored collateral. As it happens, with rates for bank loans as high as they now are, some of the mercantile bondholders feel that they can better afford to sell their bonds than to attempt to borrow on them.

Canadian Exchange.

The premium on American funds at Montreal, which was up as high as $113.25 per $1,000 on Monday and down to $92.50 on Tuesday, went to an even 10 per cent., or $100 per $1,000, yesterday. The movement of Canadian rates has been extremely irregular for several weeks, but on the general trend, if, in fact, a general trend may be noted, there appears to be a drift toward improvement of the Canadian position. However, bankers do not look for any decided betterment in quotations for some months, or until the crops are moving, unless, of course, Canada is able to market a considerable amount of securities here without offsetting the credits by purchases of our goods.

Freight Congestion in the West.

While the movement of freight in the East has been resumed in large part, according to reports made by local railroad managers, railroad men who are in daily touch with the conditions in and about the Pittsburgh district say that the situation is still acute there. One executive said yesterday that more than one line has freight standing on spurs and sidings that has not moved for days, and that there is little prospect of its being moved for some time. In a word, he characterized the situation as bad. The report that switchmen and yard employes in Buffalo had gone out on strike again because of dissatisfaction with settlements effected some days ago did not tend to improve the situation.

Some Rail Shares Rally.

Reading, Southern Pacific and Texas & Pacific were among the railroad shares to participate in the rally yesterday. The first is and will probably continue to be a favorite with the speculative element until final plans for the segregation of the constituent companies and the distribution of holding company assets are announced. When the second moves forward the movement is usually accompanied by rumor regarding the big equity held by the company in valuable California oil properties, and the last when advancing is surrounded with rumors covering its prospective increased earnings because of additional business originating in the Texas oil fields.

The New I. C. C. Members.

Among local railroad men the two new appointees to the Interstate Commerce Commission have not been approved particularly. In fact, it was asserted yesterday that the appointments have the effect of adding two new men to the commission who have no particular grasp of the transportation system and certainly are not transportation experts. Little was known of either Harry Jones Ford, Professor of Politics at Princeton University, or James Duncan, Vice President of the American Federation of Labor. At the same time, however, some solace was found in the fact that Mr. Duncan is reputed to be one of the more conservative officers of the federation.

SHOW INFLATION IS STILL GOING ON

REAL CAPITAL IS SCARCE

Credit Situation All Over World Reveals Increasing Pressure, Says National City Bank.

Inflation is still in progress, according to the monthly circular of the National City Bank, and the recent advances of official discount rates by the leading European State banks is a frank admission of this and an attempt to check it. To the list of advances noted in the bank's circular might be added the Bank of Belgium, which this week increased its rate from 4½ per cent. to 5½ per cent. Discussing the situation, the City Bank says:

"The credit situation all over the world has shown the signs of increasing pressure during the past month. The Bank of England discount rate was raised from 6 to 7 per cent., the Bank of France rate from 5 to 6, the Bank of Sweden rate from 6 to 7, the Bank of Finland rate from 7 to 8, the Bombay rate from 7 to 9. The Bank of Japan rate has been at 8 per cent. since last November.

"These advances have been made for the purpose of holding the demands for credit in check, and, of course, the demands for credit are due to the scarcity of real capital. There is a demand for goods of every kind in excess of the supply, and there is great need of increased capacity in production. The world has not gotten back to normal production and it is behind with development work and construction. Moreover, it is not even using the existing productive equipment to the former extent, for the hours of labor have been reduced. With production thus limited, and with the people trying to buy more goods than there are in existence, and seeking in desperation to make credit take the place of capital in production, there is great pressure on the banks for accommodations.

"In short, the same process of inflation which was carried on during the war is still going on, and the rise of bank rates represents an effort to check it.

"The same tendency is manifest in the United States. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, a corporation of the highest credit, if any railroad corporation can be said to be entitled in these days to that classification, has borrowed $50,000,000 during the past month for ten years at 7 per cent. interest. That, and the declining market values of Government bonds, tell the story of the scarcity of capital."

QUESTIONS FOR BANKERS.

Reserve Board Seeks Information on Workings of the Bill Market.

The Federal Reserve authorities have sent to bankers and dealers in bankers' acceptances an elaborate questionnaire designed to supply the Reserve Board with exhaustive information concerning the workings of the acceptance market, the volume of bills in existence, what proportion of them is lodged with the several Reserve banks and what held by private or corporate investors. The questionnaire, it is said, contains about forty questions, and it may be two or three weeks before the returns to the Reserve Board are made.

The information which the board will receive, it is expected, will be used for its guidance in whatever action it may take looking to a contraction of the bill market. The board has been exercised on this subject for some time. On March 31 Governor W. P. G. Harding came to New York to confer with leading dealers and officers of banks which are prominent in the acceptance market, and on April 20 a number of New York and Boston bankers and acceptance dealers went to Washington to confer on the subject with members of the Federal Reserve Board.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The stockholders of Independent Warehouses, Inc., yesterday voted to increase the capitalization from $500,000 to $1,000,000. Stockholders of record today have the right to subscribe to the new stock, share for share, up to May 31.

Guy E. Tripp has been elected a Director of the American Water Works and Electric Company, Inc., and W. S. Finlay, Jr., has been elected Vice President.

Hornblower & Weeks, B. J. Van Ingen & Co., A. B. Leach & Co. and G. B. Gibbons & Co. of New York and J. S. Rippel & Co. of Newark are offering $1,200,000 City of Perth Amboy 6 per cent. water bonds on a basis to yield 5½ per cent.

Edwin Blumenthal, Morton Blumenthal and I. B. Pollard have formed a copartnership under the name of Blumenthal Bros. & Co., for the transaction of a general business in stocks and bonds.

MIDWEST SURPLUS GROWS.

Refining Company's Balance Sheet Shows $30,594,480 on Dec. 31, 1919

The Midwest Refining Company, in its balance sheet for the year ended Dec. 31, 1919, shows a surplus of $30,594,480, as compared with a surplus of $23,532,613 at the close of the preceding year. The company does not issue a detailed statement of income, but a comparison of the balance sheets for the two years mentioned above indicates that the balance available for the stock after depletion, depreciation and Federal taxes was $10,440,778, or 33.53 per cent. on the capital outstanding at the close of the year, or $16.76 a share.

In the preceding year the company earned at the rate of $14.77 a share on the capital then outstanding. The indicated net earnings for last year were $20,095,809, as compared with $16,051,944 in 1918. The reserve for taxes in the current balance sheet is $4,518,887, or $1,200,000 less than in the previous year. The charge for depreciation and depletion is, however, heavier by nearly $2,000,000 than the 1918 figures. The company's net quick assets at the close of last year amounted to $40 a share.

TO DEAL IN FOREIGN BONDS.

Perry B. Strassburger Heads American Express Co.'s New Department.

The American Express Company, it was announced yesterday, has organized a department for dealing in foreign securities, which will be under the direction of Perry B. Strassburger, formerly with Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co. and the National City Company. The company, it was stated, will import selected bonds and well secured investments of foreign Governments and commercial enterprises and offer them to American investment houses and banks.

The express company recently has added to its foreign facilities by opening additional offices in Belgium, Spain, France and other European countries, and its representatives have been keeping in touch with the securities markets of all the European nations. The new securities department plans to issue news bulletins and digests of financial conditions abroad.

MANITOBA

WINNIPEG BRANCH

FROM the days of 1821, when Nicholas Garry founded the village on the Red River which bore his name—now the city of Winnipeg — down through the years to the present time, Manitoba has been a prominent factor in the life of Canada.

ALL the produce from the vast agricultural west passes through Winnipeg, its capital, which is one of the great wheat centers of the world. In recent years the annual average wheat yield of the province has exceeded 50,000,000 bushels.

REALIZING the commercial importance of Manitoba and its possibilities for future growth, The Canadian Bank of Commerce has established 33 branch offices throughout the province, each one of which offers complete banking facilities. The New York agency will gladly discuss your Canadian banking problems with you.

5,000,000 Kronen
City of Carlsbad
Bohemia
Czecho-Slovakia
4% Bonds

Issued: October, 1919, and subsequent years Due February 28, 1979
Denominations: 500; 1,000; 2,000
Authorized and Outstanding: Kronen 10,000,000

Redeemable either by annual drawings amounting to ½% of the entire issue, beginning 1924, or by purchase at par and accrued interest. The amount to be drawn may be increased or reduced at the discretion of the City Administration.

The bonds are a direct obligation of the municipality of Carlsbad, which guarantees the payment of both principal and interest with its entire present and future property and its full tax-levying power.

The proceeds of the issue are to be employed for the betterment of the tourist trade and to make planned additions and improvements on the city bath houses, a remunerative source of income to the city.

These bonds are exceptionally attractive as they afford an excellent opportunity for large profits with the rise in value of the Czecho-Slovakia krone, which now represents only about 7.5% of its pre-war value.

Carlsbad is the most celebrated watering place in the interior of Europe. It is one of the leading health resorts of the World.

Carlsbad's medicinal mineral springs annually attract tens of thousands of fashionable visitors. These, until interruption by the war, have steadily increased in number (over 150,000 in 1914, more than 15% of whom were Americans).

Carlsbad is noted for the splendid establishments connected with the springs and baths. It is the center of porcelain and iron industries, is situated in one of the most fertile parts of Europe and exports on a large scale water and salts from its springs.

We recommend the Bonds of this famous health resort—certain to grow in popularity under peace conditions—as an attractive investment that should materially increase in value upon the return of exchange rates to normal.

BARNES SENDS CALL FOR WHEAT PARLEY

Grain Director Wants Dealers to Discuss End of Government Control.

EXPORTS KEEP PRICE HIGH

Asserts Foreign Demand Handicaps American Mills and Causes Shortage of Mill Feed.

Plans for a national conference to discuss methods of re-establishing a free and open market for wheat through the grain exchanges after the termination of the authority of the United States Grain Corporation on June 1 were outlined yesterday in a letter sent out by Julius H. Barnes, United States Wheat Director.

Representatives of wheat and flour trade organizations are invited to send representatives to a meeting at the La Salle Hotel in Chicago on May 7 to confer on measures to be taken "to provide for and to permit the establishment of a free and open market for the purchase, sale and handling of wheat and wheat products" upon the expiration of the Wheat Guaranty act.

Problems of great national importance make the meeting imperative in the public interest, Mr. Barnes said yesterday. One is the present level of wheat prices, kept far above that of the United States guaranteed price by export buying, which, in addition to being artificial and liable to stop at any moment, handicaps our own mills and results in underproduction of mill-feed for dairy industries. Another is the apparent reluctance of the exchanges to return to the pre-war conditions of open trading and re-establish the hedging facilities which have been suspended during three years of Government wheat control.

"This attitude of the exchanges is due largely to the extraordinary trade hazards resulting from world disorganization," he said. "Exchange hedging facilities upon which wheat marketing depended for years prior to the war must be restored by individual initiative before the underlying security provided by the Grain Corporation is withdrawn. Otherwise the country faces the risk of wider margins between the producer price and the consumer price and consequent hardship to both."

Foreign buying of wheat, now largely concentrated in the hands of Governments, Mr. Barnes said, was forced by bread subsidies abroad and by the inability of their war-crippled private agencies to "carry at high values sufficient stock and sufficient flow for assurance of the bread requirements of their people." He added that "the decision of purchase and prices paid rests in a few officials, and it is measurably true that these officials, with or without concerted action, can influence the price level for America."

BROKERAGE FIRM CHANGES.

ASPHALT BUSINESS IS GOOD.

General Asphalt Co.'s Gross Profits $2,311,370, with $1,166,315 Net.

The General Asphalt Company, in its annual report for last year, shows a gross business of $14,755,610, from which the gross profits were $2,311,370. After all deductions the net earnings available for dividends were $1,166,315, or the equivalent of $3.05 a share on the common stock after providing for preferred disbursements. The net for dividends is practically the same as in the preceding year, when the amount available for this purpose was $1,163,207.

The report does not go extensively into oil operations, but deals at great length with road building conditions. Lack of improved roads, it is asserted, is causing an annual wastage of over $500,000,000 yearly on 2,000,000 miles of surveyed public highways, outside of the corporate limits of cities, of which approximately 90 per cent. are dirt. In some instances it is asserted that road building plans are being held in abeyance pending a more propitious time for the sale of bonds from which public improvements are to be paid. A vast amount of road building is, nevertheless, said to be in progress at the present time.

CHICAGO BANK RATE UP.

Loans on Liberty Bonds, Beginning Today, to be 6 Per Cent.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Further measures for the hastening of deflation were adopted today by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, which advanced the rediscount rate on paper secured by Liberty Bonds or Victory Notes from 5½ to 6 per cent. The new rate is effective tomorrow.

For some time the loans to member banks secured by Government obligations have shown a decreasing tendency, while those on commercial paper have been rising. The Reserve officials do not wish to impose any unnecessary restriction on legitimate commercial transactions, and today's action was said to be aimed at borrowing which dos not come under that head.

The rediscount rate on bankers' acceptances was recently advanced from 5 to 5½ per cent. and since that time the volume of paper of this kind in the market has decreased by about 25 per cent.

OWEN HITS RESERVE BOARD.

Says Advance in Loan Interest Caused Liberty Bonds to Drop.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Federal Reserve Board's action in advancing interest rates on loans is chiefly responsible for the present low prices of liberty bonds, Senator Owen, Democrat, of Oklahoma, declared today in the Senate. He said $26,000,000,000 worth of the bonds already have depreciated $3,000,000,000.

"I do not think it wise," said Senator Owen, "I do not think it just, I do not think it decent or ethical, for the Government agencies to pursue a policy which causes a loss of three billion dollars to these patriotic bond holders, and more especially when the policy is otherwise injurious and harmful in the most serious way."

FAR MONTHS GAIN IN COTTON MARKET

New Crop Options in Demand While May and July Prices Drop.

SPOTS BREAK AT LIVERPOOL

Procedure There Otherwise Similar to Local Trading—Small Acreage Increases.

The new crop months yesterday did considerably better than the old crop options, thanks mainly to the injection of some rather bullish factors into the former, while the latter were being neglected, and the consequence was a notable narrowing of the spreads between near and distant month quotations. On the day, May lost 15 and July lost 8 points, while from October on there were net gains ranging from 13 to 43 points. Further, all through the session the distant months were in much the better demand and the maximum gains in that end of the list ranged up to 60 points, for January and March, against only 10 points in May and 24 points in July.

In this respect the local cotton market was following the example of Liverpool, where the market opened steady, 10 to 16 points from the previous day, and then turned irregular, until at the close some of the near months were down as much as 25 points, while in the far months gains of this much were reported. Liverpool spots broke 56 points to the basis of 25.83d, which is the second time this year the market there has gone under 26d for spots. On last Monday it sold as low as 25.45, after having been to 31.16 in the middle of February. After touching the low of Monday it rallied to 26.40 on the following day, but has been tending downward ever since.

Acreage advices on the new crop are beginning to make their appearance. Earlier in the week the Jay report indicated an increase in planted acreage of 5 per cent., but the Norden report of yesterday made the increase only 1.3 per cent. This was an undoubted bullish factor on the distant months, for until very recently it was expected that acreage this year would show a substantial gain. Taken in conjunction with the backwardness of the season—the Norden report stated that the details of weather and the general outlook on April 26 were the worst in many years—these acreage reports work in well with the plans of the bulls.

Four and three quarters per centum (4¾%) per annum or four and one-half per centum (4½%) per annum as may be determined by the Board of Public Education of the School District of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, after bids for said loan have been received.

Free of All Tax, Including the Federal Income Tax

The bonds will be registered in form.

The denominations will be $1,000 and $5,000.

$100,000 of Loan will mature each year from December 1, 1930, to December 1, 1949.

Interest payable June 1 and December 1 of each year.

SEALED PROPOSALS

Will be received by William Dick, Secretary, in the office of The Board of Public Education, Keystone Building, 19th Street above Chestnut, Philadelphia, until 12 o'clock noon.

MONDAY, MAY 10, 1920

for two million dollars ($2,000,000) school loan on conditions as follows:

TWO MILLION DOLLARS ($2,000,000) SCHOOL LOAN for the purpose of raising the necessary funds for procuring sites and erecting buildings and additions for elementary and high schools in the School District of Philadelphia, authorized by resolution of The Board of Public Education, School District of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, approved April 13, 1920.

Bonds will be issued in registered form, in denominations of $1,000 and $5,000.

The said sum of two million dollars ($2,000,000) will bear interest at the rate of four and three quarters per centum (4¾) per annum or four and one-half per centum (4½%) per annum as may be determined by the Board of Public Education of the School District of Philadelpia, Pennsylvania, after bids for said loan have been received, payable semi-annually on the first day of June and December, the first payment of interest to be made on the first day of December, 1920, said loan and interest thereon to be payable free from all taxes.

The principal and interest of said loan will be payable at The Philadelphia National Bank of Philadelphia, in lawful money of the United States, in gold coin of the present standard of weight and fineness.

All taxable real estate in the City of Philadelphia is subject to taxation for school purposes. The resolution authorizing this loan provided that an annual tax of one-fifteenth (1-15) of a mill upon each dollar of the assessed valuation of the property in the School District be levied, for the payment of principal and interest and taxes on such obligations, in each and every year until the loan is paid in full.

Proposals must be submitted upon blanks to be obtained from the undersigned.

No bid will be considered unless accompanied by a certified check drawn to the order of the School District of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, for two (2) per centum of the par value of the bonds bid for.

Checks or certificates accompanying bids not accepted will be returned to the bidders within forty-eight hours after the opening of the bids. Deposits of successful bidders will be applied in partial payment of the amount of the loan awarded them. No allowance for interest will be made on advance payments.

Settlement in full for the loan awarded must be made with the Secretary on Tuesday, June 1st, 1920.

Bids at less than par will not be considered.

The Board of Public Education reserves the right to reject any or all proposals, or to award any portion of the loan for which bids shall be received, as it may deem best for the interest of the School District of Philadelphia.

Being municipal bonds, certificates of the School District of Philadelphia constitute legal investments for trust funds and estates.

Bids may be made for "all or none" or for any portion of the issue.

PLAN RAIL AND COAL MERGER

Pittsburgh Companies Not Conflicting with Law, Counsel Say.

W. H. Coverdale, Chairman of the Board of the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway Company, denied yesterday reports that plans were being considered for the segregation of the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad & Coal Company and a distribution of its assets. He said that after the annual stockholders' meeting in Pittsburgh on Monday next a special meeting will be called at which a plan will be presented for a merger of the railroad company, the coal company and the West Side Belt Railroad Company of Pittsburgh. He explained that the present intercompany relations involve complex accounting and that the combination will make the railway company the operating concern. He said that no new financing was involved.

The Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway Co. of West Virginia was formed to succeed the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Railway Company following the Terminal Company's reorganization. The company owns the entire capital stock of the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad & Coal Company and the latter controls the West Side Belt Railway Company.

The reports which have been circulated that the coal properties were to be segregated were predicated on the recent Supreme Court decision in the Reading case. Counsel for the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway Co. are understood to have informed company officials that the company does not come under the Sherman Anti-Trust law now nor will it offer grounds for a Government suit after the new plan has been placed in operation.

THE CONDITION OF TRADE.

Doubt as to the course of price movements is causing hesitation in commercial activities, according to the trade reviews, which also call attention to the stringent credit condition and the turmoil resulting from transportation delays. In commenting on the situation Dun's review says in part:

> Impediments to seasonal business development are both varied in character and far reaching in their influence, and the recent slowing down of conditions has been progressive and practically general. Relief from the railroad congestion has permitted resumption of work at some plants where suspensions had been forced through lack of essential materials, but freight movements are still retarded and production more or less disorganized, and not a few transactions that might otherwise be consummated are of necessity being held in abeyance.
> Of the different obstacles to commercial expansion the price question is of outstanding prominence, becoming more so with each week's passing, and chiefly explains the conservative sentiment that has latterly extended from the East to other parts of the country. With multiplying evidences of consumers' increasing resistance to the high prices, and of abatement of extravagance in personal expenditures, the policy of most dealers is now one of reducing stocks of merchandise where possible, and of proceeding cautiously in anticipating forward requirements.

Bradstreet's says:

> While trade is still better than or fully on a par with last year, and manufacture and industry are certainly more active than at that period, the feeling of conservatism in trade, financial and industrial lines seems to have become more marked this week. Higher money rates and daring, if not actually unscrupulous, bear attacks have made for further weakness in the stock and bond markets, and acutely bad transportation conditions have hampered deliveries of fuel, raw materials and finished products by manufacturers.

FINANCIAL NOTICES.

WEIGHING AND SALES COMPANY. PROPOSAL FOR SALE OF BONDS.

Pursuant to the terms of the deed of trust dated May 12, 1911, made by Weighing and Sales Company to Empire Trust Company as Trustee, all persons interested are hereby notified that there has been this day paid to the Empire Trust Company as such Trustee, the sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000) to create a sinking fund for the purchase and redemption of bonds, secured by said deed of trust. All persons interested are further hereby notified that pursuant to said deed of trust sealed proposals will be received by the Empire Trust Company at its office, No. 120 Broadway, New York City, within six (6) days from the date of the last publication of this notice, offering for sale bonds of the Weighing and Sales Company secured by said deed of trust, with all unpaid coupons thereto attached.

All such offerings shall state the name and address of the person offering the same for sale, the numbers and par value of the bonds so offered for sale, and the price at which the bonds, with all unpaid coupons thereto attached, are offered for sale, which price must be less than par value thereof and accrued interest. Such offer shall be contained in a sealed envelope indorsed "Proposal for sale to sinking fund of bonds of Weighing and Sales Company," and must be received by said Empire Trust Company at its office, No. 120 Broadway, New York City, on or before May 12, 1920.

The money so paid to the Trust Company will be used in the purchase of bonds under said offers at the best price obtainable. No proposals will be considered except such as strictly comply with this notice.

Dated New York, April 30, 1920.

JERSEY CITY POLICE AID TUBE FARE FIGHT

Superiors Use Them in Taking Unofficial Referendum Among Car Riders.

ASSERTS 50,000 PROTEST

City Commissioner Says Passengers Oppose the Increase on Hudson and Manhattan Lines.

Protests against fare increases in the Hudson tubes, which now charge 6 cents for a trip from the New Jersey side to downtown Manhattan and 10 cents from New Jersey to uptown stations in Manhattan, have been signed by 50,000 persons, according to Finance Commissioner James F. Gannon, Jr., of Jersey City. Protest blanks were printed at the expense of Jersey City and distributed by the police at all the stations of the tubes on Thursday and yesterday.

More than 25,000 signatures were obtained by the police and turned in to the office of Commissioner Gannon, and as many more were returned through the mails. The Jersey City authorities, who are fighting the increase before the Interstate Commerce Commission, had 100,000 blanks printed and thousands of additional signatures are expected.

Speaking of the reports that protests were being gathered by the Jersey City officials, Oren Root, President of the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad Company, said that not a single protest, oral or written, had been received by the company officials. He said that the increased fares were necessary to add to equipment, which at present was inadequate to handle the traffic. He asserted that the citizens of New Jersey, whose property had been increased in value by the building of the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad, should be interested in seeing the property maintained at the highest degree of efficiency and even further developed.

Wood's Daughter Going to Help France.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Major Gen. Leonard Wood's daughter, Louise Barbara, applied for a passport to France today. She is to drive a truck in the work of reconstruction and expects to sail in June. Miss Wood is 20 years old, the youngest of the General's children. The oldest, Leonard Jr., is a captain on his father's staff.

SAY MARGOLIS IS DISLOYAL.

Two Testify at Disbarment Trial That He Favored Kaiser's Rule.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, April 30.—Testimony that Jacob Margolis, before the United States entered the war, said that he would "just as lief" serve under the Kaiser as the United States Government, was given today when the disbarment proceedings against Margolis were continued before Judges John T. Shafer, T. J. Ford, and Joseph M. Swearingen.

Dr. J. A. Buka and Dr. Charles Brinkman testified that at a meeting of the University Circle Margolis, in a speech, said Germany would bring a fleet into New York Harbor and easily conquer the United States. It was then, according to the witnesses, that Margolis expressed his readiness to serve under the Kaiser.

E. Lowry Humes, United States District Attorney, said that shortly after the passage of the draft law Margolis appeared in the Federal Building and said he represented certain persons who were trying, it is thought, to evade the law.

"He was not permitted to practice in the United States Court," Mr. Humes added.

Asks Fund to Rush Gold Coinage.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The stock of gold coin in the Treasury has been depleted to such an extent that immediate resumption of gold coinage has become imperative, Congress was informed today by Raymond T. Baker, Director of the Mint. He asked for an immediate appropriation of $800,000 so the Philadelphia Mint might operate twenty-four hours a day instead of eight.

Indict 4 Chicago Dealers as Profiteers

CHICAGO, April 30—Four Chicago produce dealers were indicted today on charges of violating the Lever act. Orin K. Earl of the firm of Earl Brothers and L. Starks & Co. were charged with profiteering in potatoes. Syme, Eagle & Co. and See, Moon & Co. were alleged to have charged excessive prices for sugar. Profits made by the dealers ranged from 50 to 125 per cent., according to the indictments.

Another Strike Looming Up?

With labor kicking over the traces almost every day, and with capital also going on strike—as is witnessed in part by the rising rates on commercial paper—it was said here yesterday not to be wholly unlikely that the next outburst would be on the part of the so-called industrials. This outburst, it was said, would take the form of a general lockout, the manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers simply closing their doors and letting come what may. Part of this action, if it is taken, would be in protest against what are termed the unreasonable demands of many classes of labor, but more largely it would be a protest against further nagging and taxation on the part of Congress. The proposal to put a retroactive tax on the so-called war profits, to help raise soldier bonus money, seems to be an especially sore point.

THE BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday—7 per cent. for the best names.
Thursday—7 per cent. for the best names.
The quotations are for six months' paper.

Plush Coats Are Favorites.

In the Fall buying of garment retailers plush coats are proving prime favorites. The orders being placed on them are so heavy that the large makers are trying to restrict such business where possible. The main difficulty, they see, is that of getting sufficient yardage to cover the orders for garments. High prices for furs have driven a lot of the popular trade to pile fabrics, which can be converted into garments so much cheaper and, unless fur values come down considerably, the demand for plush is expected to keep very active.

Gray Goods Very Dull.

Dullness was again the keynote of the gray goods market yesterday. A few spot lots of Southern 38½-inch 64-60s were let out at 25½ cents, and 38½-inch 60-48s were sold at 23¼ cents for similar delivery. Sellers were offering spot 39-inch 68-72s rather freely at 26 cents, but the best information was to the effect that not many sales were made. In the sheetings a further slight softening was indicated by the selling of May 5.50s at 18¼ cents. Heretofore that price would buy only June and July goods. The rest of the market contained little of interest.

Defining Luxuries.

The questionnaire issued by the National Garment Retailers' Association to find out the dividing line in prices between luxuries and necessities has brought in a flood of answers. John Hahn, Secretary of the organization, stated yesterday that the returns have not yet been compiled. The figures submitted, however, show that the merchants of the country, he said, have very definite ideas concerning what constitute the two classes of merchandise and, when the compilation is made, the difference between a luxury and a necessity for different parts of the country should be well fixed. The Department of Justice will use the figures submitted as a guide in investigating profiteering.

The Weather Argument.

Wholesalers who blame the weather for the dull condition of trade point to the South as proof of their contention. The situation in that section, they explain, has been good right along because the weather has been fair, while other parts of the country have been suffering from bad weather and an inactive demand. In the opinion of a wholesale representative whose territory lies in the South, the character of the trade also has something to do with the normal conditions found there. Most of the businesses are of a very staple sort and of long standing. This absence of the speculative trader, he holds, is an important reason why conditions in that territory are better than in other places.

Some Coal Relief Supplied.

Resumption of loading at the ports which were closed down during the railroad strike has brought some slight relief to the local coal trade this week, Saward's Journal will say today. Anthracite dumpings have increased gradually since Monday, the greatest gains being recorded at the upper ports, as they had only the switchmen's strike to contend with. Port Reading, Perth Amboy and South Amboy, on the other hand, have been seriously hampered by the strike of the tugboat workers. Abnormal conditions still prevail in the local bituminous trade because of the partial transportation tieup in the harbor. All the ports are loading some coal, but nothing like the normal amount except, possibly, at Pier 18.

Medium Priced Clothing.

In its present conditions the local clothing market seems able to offer a surplus amount of the cheaper grades, but not a sufficient amount of the better quality goods. Medium-priced or in-between values, it is said, seem to be conspicuous by their absence. Since the opening of Fall heavyweight lines by the mills, however, other grades have been brought out that represent the long-missing middle-priced fabrics. When these are taken up by the manufacturers it is felt the gap in clothing values will be filled to the satisfaction of retailers who find high prices "too high" and the cheap merchandise "too cheap." It is believed that labor, through a spell of inactivity, may be disposed either to produce more or accept less money, which will help to get manufacturing costs down to a point where something besides hundred-dollar suits can be made.

They Differ About Fur Prices.

Not all of the opinions heard in the local fur trade coincide with the one expressed in this column yesterday by a well-known manufacturing furrier to the effect that prices on manufactured furs had not yet reached their peak. While admitting most of the points made by this manufacturer, it was asserted that many of the retailers, discouraged by the slow movement of the Spring and Summer furs they have in stock, and at the same time probably hoping to bear the market on Fall goods, are canceling early orders placed on coats and sets for the coming Autumn's business. This is said to be truer of the fancy articles than of the staples, although many buyers expect to see a general decline. Whether they can force one by holding off long enough to scare the manufacturers, however, is a much mooted question.

Expect Further Recessions.

Although it is possible for retailers of women's apparel to purchase merchandise at more favorable prices than a short time ago, nevertheless those in close touch with the situation expect further recessions. For this reason there appears to be a general holding back on orders that almost amounts to an agreement by the stores not to buy. Even staple lines, usually bought day in and day out, are suffering, and the only spots of activity are those where novelties are offered. The fancy goods are being purchased sparingly in order to freshen up stocks. Not for two or three weeks is any change of moment expected in the present policy of the stores.

COMMODITIES PRICES.

Moderate Declines in Foodstuffs a Feature of the Week.

Commodities prices took a downward turn this week, Dun's list showing 38 declines and 26 advances, against 30 declines and 39 advances last week. The foodstuffs list showed an excess of declines as well, though the margin between the "ups" and "downs" was not large. One of the features was the sharp declines which took place in Asiatic raw silks, the basic grade of Japanese silk, Sinshiu No. 1 showing a break of $2 a pound.

The following list gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on selected standard commodities this week. They are corrected to yesterday, and with them are given comparative prices for last week and the corresponding week a year ago:

*Government maximums. †Nominal.

Spring patent flour did not change in the local provisions market this week, but a rise of 50 cents a barrel took place in Winter straights. Despite the rise this grade is only 25 cents a barrel higher than at this time in 1919. Bacon declined here, but there was a further rise in the price of hams. The provisions at Chicago were less unsettled than for some time, the only changes being a rise in Middle Western lard and a decline in mess pork.

A break of 9 cents a pound in the best creamery butter featured the local market for dairy products. The under grade did not change. Slight increases in price took place in the best cheese and the best Western eggs, but the fancy nearby eggs were unchanged. Both varieties of eggs are now practically at the same levels as at this time last year.

Fresh fruits quoted in the list showed no revisions, and in the dried ones the only fluctuations were a drop in choice evaporated apples and a rise in muscatel raisins. Vegetables changes again were few, the chief one being an advance of 50 cents a barrel in potatoes. This brought them to $13.50 a barrel, against $5 at this time in 1919. Choice pea beans also went up, but choice white kidney beans declined. Teas continued bare of changes, and in the coffees the only revisions was a decline in the price of No. 7 Rio. In the sugars, the refined stuff did not change, but the best raw sugar was quoted lower at $19.54 a hundred pounds. All of the spices which showed a change were lower in price, including cloves, nutmegs and black and white peppers.

The only drop in the grains was in malting barley. The advances were supplied by corn, oats and rye. Hemp was lower, and jute also declined. The metals listed quoted electrolytic copper, lead and tin lower, with spelter and No. 2 pig iron, South Cincinnati, higher. The hide list was more unsettled than for some time, only one grade in the list escaping a change one way or the other. The advances took place in No. 1 native packer, No. 1 Texas, Colorado, and branded cow stock, with the declines contributed by No. 1 heavy cows, heavy native cows, No. 1 buffs, No. 1 kips and No. 1 calfskins. The leathers showed but one revision, which was a decline in union backs, tannery run.

In the combined list for drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs and oils 9 of the 17 changes were downward. Among the features were breaks in camphor and menthol, growing out of the Japanese financial upset, and a further rise in bleaching powder. Resin was higher in the naval stores. Miscellaneous changes included declines in straw boards, Brazilian and Eastern crude rubbers, and Asiatic raw silks. Unfinished cottons were quiet and weaker in tone. Burlaps closed the week at practically the same levels as they opened it.

BUSINESS RECORDS

FAILURES OF THE WEEK—Bradstreet's reports 135 failures in the United States for the week against 145 for the previous week and 93, 171, 239, 257 for the corresponding weeks 1919 to 1916. The Middle States had 38; New England, 27; Western, 25; Southern, 27; Far Western, 11; North Western, 7. Canada had six against fourteen for the previous week. In the United States about 86.6 per cent. of the total number of concerns failing had $5,000 capital or less and 8.1 per cent. had from $5,000 to $20,000 capital.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The disturbance that was over Northwestern Missouri Thursday night advanced rapidly eastward and Friday night its centre was over Western Pennsylvania. Another disturbance has formed west of the Rocky Mountains and had its centre Friday night over Nevada and Utah. During the last 24 hours rains fell in the Middle Atlantic States, the Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi valleys and the south portions of the region of the Great Lakes. Fair weather was the rule elsewhere.

Temperatures remain relatively high over the southern and low over the northern part of the country.

The outlook is for generally fair weather Saturday and Sunday in the states east of the Mississippi River.

The temperature will fall Saturday in South, Northeast, the Middle Atlantic States, North Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky. It will rise Saturday in the upper lake region and Sunday in the lower lake region, the Ohio Valley and the Middle Atlantic and Northeast States.

FORECAST.

Northern New England—Cloudy Saturday, probably preceded by rain in the early morning; Sunday fair, rising temperature.

Southern New England — Clearing and cooler Saturday; Sunday fair, rising temperature.

Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey—Clearing and cooler Saturday; Sunday fair, rising temperature.

Western New York—Fair Saturday and Sunday, rising temperature Sunday.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

OPERATORS BUY WEST SIDE HOUSE

The Navarre, Held at $500,000, Will Be Remodeled by the Buyers.

COLUMBIA BUYS SOPHOMORE

New Company Plans to Erect $250,000 Apartment on West Seventy-fifth Street.

Speculation in apartment houses, one of the strong features of the market, which showed signs of a slump early in the week, was revived somewhat yesterday when several big deals were closed.

The most important deal of the day involved the Navarre, a seven-story store and apartment house, on the southwest corner of Broadway and Ninety-ninth Street, which was purchased by Irving Judis and Joseph Silverson from Louis N. Kramer. The building, which occupies a plot 100 by 100 feet, contains seven stores and thirty-three apartments in suites of six, seven and eight rooms. The purchasers intend to alter the building into small suites. The seller has owned the property since its erection, and held it at $500,000. Bauer, Milbank & Molloy were the brokers.

To arrange for the construction of a six-story elevator apartment house at 134 to 138 West Seventy-fifth Street, E. Beechel and G. R. Coughlan and F. Del Brown have formed the West Seventy-fifth Street Corporation, Inc., and will acquire title to that property from the Hanover Mortgage Company. The site, 63 by 102.2, is improved with three four-story houses. The construction contract has been awarded to the Bethlehem Engineering Corporation, and the cost of the improvement is estimated at $250,000.

Columbia University is the buyer of the ten-story Sophomore apartment house at 21 Claremont Avenue, sold recently by Spotts & Starr for J. W. Mengel. Last Spring Columbia bought the adjoining buildings at 23 to 41 Claremont Avenue and now controls a frontage of 375 feet. These buildings, and others in the same vicinity purchased recently by Columbia, will be used as residence halls for students.

The John P. Peel Company sold for Mrs. Clara Fisher the four-story tenement, with stores, at 1,655 First Avenue, 25 by 75, to Herman Kramer, who will occupy the building for his business. This is the first sale of this property since 1895. The same broker also sold for the Gramont Construction Company 446 and 448 West Nineteenth Street, two four-story flats, on a plot 50 by 100, to Hyman Brown, who will alter and occupy the same for his business.

Dwight, Archibald & Perry sold for an out-of-town client the four-story tenement 856 Tenth Avenue, near Fifty-seventh Street. The purchaser will hold for investment.

Samuel Cowen sold 232 Cherry Street, on a lot 25 by 100, a six-story tenement, to an investor, who is to make extensive improvements.

Alexander S. Henschel and James Atwater sold for the Raub estate of Pittsburgh, represented by M. S. Guiterman, 18 West 116th Street, a five-story double flat, 25 by 100.

Pease & Elliman sold for B. B. Chace of Rochester to Ella Winternitz the two five-story apartment houses, each 50 by 106 feet, at 37-39 Vermilyea Avenue, between Dyckman and Academy Streets, having fifty apartments and renting for about $18,000 a year.

The Week in the Dry Goods Trade.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Marshall Field & Co., in their weekly review of the dry goods trade, say:

"Current wholesale distribution of dry goods has been considerably larger in volume than during the corresponding week a year ago. Road sales also exceed those of the same period last year. The number of customers in the house was slightly less. Collections continue very satisfactory."

EGGS—The receipts yesterday were 29,158 cases. Arrivals continued moderate for the season. Much selected stock is going to the warehouses. The range of prices for medium and lower grades showed no material change. Dirties and checks were more plentiful and tending to buyers' favor. A very large part of the nearby whites has no value above a range of 48@50c, only a small proportion bringing the higher quotations. Fresh-gathered, extras, dozen, 48½@49c; storage packed, extra firsts, 47½@48c; firsts, 40@47c; fresh-gathered, extra firsts, 46½@47c; firsts, 43@46c; seconds and poorer, 37@42½c; dirties, No. 1, 40½@41c; No. 2, 37@40c; checks, good to choice, dry, 35@38½c; State, Pennsylvania and nearby Western, hennery whites, extras, 53c; firsts to extra firsts, 48@52c; gathered whites, firsts to extra firsts, 48@52c; under grades, 46@47c; Pacific Coast whites, extra firsts, 50@52c; firsts, 48@49c; other Western and Southern, gathered whites, 46@51c; State, Pennsylvania and nearby Western, hennery browns, extras, 49@50c; gathered brown and mixed colors, extras, 48½@49c; firsts to extra firsts, 46@48c; goose eggs, prime, 90c; duck eggs, Baltimore, 65@67c; Western and prime Southern, 60@63c.

LOFT BUILDING DEALS.

Operator Resells Midtown Property to Manufacturers.

I. Portman, operator, has resold the eight-story store and loft building at 36 and 38 East Twentieth Street, on a plot 40 by 100, between Broadway and Fourth Avenue, held at $175,000. The buyers are Friedlander & Sammath, manufacturers of women's wear, who have formed a new company to acquire the property, and at the expiration of the present leases will occupy the store and a portion of the upper part of the building. They are now located at 114 Fifth Avenue. M. Cohn & Co. and Henry Cooper were the brokers in the deal.

Mr. Portman also resold through Arthur Cutler & Co. to Abraham H. Steinberg the seven-story loft building at the southeast corner of Prince Street and West Broadway, on a plot 40 by 70. The property was held at $125,000.

The Broadway-Thirtieth Street Corporation, Louis B. Brodsky, President, bought from a client of Parsons, Clausen & McIlvaine, attorneys, the five-story building at 326 Fifth Avenue, on a lot 18 by 103.3, valued at $175,000.

The Broadway-Thirtieth Street Corporation also sold to Samuel Fybush the vacant site at 132 West Thirty-second Street, 25 by 98.9, opposite the Pennsylvania Hotel, through Horace S. Ely & Co. The purchaser holds a sixty-three-year lease on the adjoining property, at 134, leased from the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, and plans to improve the combined site with a business structure.

The John P. Peel Company sold for the Milden Realty Company to Michael Menaker the five-story office and showroom building at 121 East Twenty-third Street, purchased through the same brokers in January; also, for Katie E. Meisner, the two four-story buildings at 210 and 212 West Twenty-eighth Street, on a plot 33.4 by 98.9, to an investor, who will improve the property.

Charles G. Keller and Walter C. Wyckoff have sold for the Star Holding Company, Potter Brothers, the buildings 417 and 419 Sixth Avenue to Samuel Fischer and P. Cohen, who will occupy.

Leon S. Altmayer sold the three-story business building 206 and 208 East Fifty-sixth Street, on a plot about 35 by 100. He has also negotiated a mortgage of $26,500 on the property.

Bronx Market Is Weak.

The I. Lincoln Seide Company sold for the Creston Realty Company 2,676 Creston Avenue to a client, who will remodel for occupancy. This is the third house sold for this company by the same brokers.

Armstrong & Carpenter sold 237 East 234th Street, a two-family dwelling, 25 by 100, to Miss Alice M. Caulkins and to E. F. J. Carpenter, 2,019 Morris Avenue, a similar dwelling, 25 by 100.

Vision—and the Greatest Center

From out of the lower city, with its thousands of executive offices cramped into inefficiency, harassed by the impossibility of securing newer and larger quarters, looks the Man of Vision.

His eyes are turned north to the broad, open spaces so close at hand. He sees so intimately linked with every part of the metropolis by ten direct transit systems.

Columbus Circle, permanently freed from all danger of overcongestion by Central Park and the broad, beautiful Circle itself;

Columbus Circle, where more vehicles pass each day than at any other point in the world.

It is here, at Fifty-ninth Street and Broadway, that there is being erected a twenty-four-story executive office building of a quality unsurpassed in the world.

AMATEUR PLAYERS BUY CLUBHOUSE SITE

Modern Building Will Replace Old Flats on East Fifty-first Street.

NEAR ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S

Caledonian Club Is Considering Offers for Its Property on Seventh Avenue.

The Amateur Comedy Club, of which Oswald C. Hering is President, purchased yesterday the two four-story old-fashioned flats at 122 and 124 East Fifty-first Street, on a plot 50 by 100, adjoining the new St. Bartholomew's Church, which occupies the Park Avenue frontage between Fiftieth and Fifty-first Streets.

It is understood that a modern clubhouse will replace the present buildings on the site, the new structure being specially designed to meet the requirements of the organization, which now has a small theatre in a remodeled stable in Sniffen Court, just off East Thirty-sixth Street. A large auditorium for the staging of its own productions is planned for the new building.

The sellers in the transaction were Mrs. Anna H. Braillard and Mrs. Harriett H. Smith, who were represented by Joseph F. Seitz. Douglas L. Elliman & Co. negotiated the deal.

Calendonians May Sell Their Clubhouse.

Members of the New York Caledonian Club, one of the oldest Scottish societies in the United States, at a special meeting on Tuesday night voted to consider the possible sale of their clubhouse at 846 Seventh Avenue, near Fifty-fourth Street.

No final action regarding the sale was taken, although considerable discussion centred upon an offer of $100,000 made by an automobile company, now located on West Fifty-ninth Street.

The clubhouse has been occupied by the Caledonians since 1898. It is three stories in height and covers a lot 25 by 100 feet.

COMMERCIAL LEASES.

Insurance Firm Takes New Fifth Avenue Location.

I. Tanenbaum, Son & Co., insurance, after sixty years in the Broadway and Maiden Lane section, have leased for a long term of years, through the E. Tanenbaum Corporation, the entire fifth floor at 516 Fifth Avenue, northwest corner of Forty-third Street, for their offices.

Tankoos, Smith & Co. have leased for twenty-one years for the Partola Manufacturing Company the entire building at 127 West Twentieth Street to a client who will make extensive alterations. The transaction involves approximately $70,000.

John P. Peel Company leased for the William S. Dempsey Realty Company to Michael J. Gilligan, for a term of years, the factory at 542 West Fifty-fifth Street.

William A. White & Sons leased for forty-two years the entire basement of the proposed new building at 75 Maiden Lane to the Exchange Buffet Corporation, which will occupy the space with one of its restaurants.

Big Building Projected.

Warren & Wetmore, architects, filed with the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings the plans for the construction of an eight and seventeen story office building, with stores, on the north side of Rector Street, taking in the whole front between West and Washington Streets. It will have a frontage of 177.4 feet on Rector Street, 151 feet on West Street and 93/10 feet on Washington Street. The Barrett Building Company, Incorporated, William H. Childs, President, is the owner of record. The cost has been estimated at $2,000,000.

Plans have also been filed for providing for a living apartment on the roof of the eleven-story office building on the east side of State Street, whole front between Pearl and Bridge Streets, thereby making it a twelve-story building. H. L. Doherty is the owner of record. W. B. Chambers is the architect, and has estimated the cost at $15,000.

Queens Borough Transactions.

J. Clarence Davies sold in conjunction with the Halleran Agency the residence of F. T. Murray at 38 North Thirty-sixth Street, Broadway-Flushing, L. I., to William Gardner of New York City.

William D. Bloodgood & Co., Inc., sold the northwest corner of Freeman Avenue and Hamilton Street, Long Island City, to William Klein, who will immediately start to erect a factory building. It is within one block of the eight-story steel structure now being erected by the Loft Candy Company.

THE DWELLING MARKET.

Private House Buyers Active in Borough of Manhattan.

John J. & Theodore A. Kavanagh sold for Josephine Stollmeyer to a client for occupancy 11 East Seventy-seventh Street, a four-story dwelling on lot 16.8 by 102.2.

Albert H. Stout sold for Marie E. L. Von Bernuth 130 West Sixty-fourth Street, a four-story dwelling on plot 23 by 100. The purchaser now controls a plot 69 by 100.

Harris, Vought & Co. sold for William Armour to Archibald B. Roosevelt the three-story dwelling, 61 East Ninety-third Street, 16.4 by 100.8½.

Gustave Britt sold 78 Horatio Street for Antoinette C. Simonson to Rocco Lossasso.

The Brown-Wheelock Company sold for Mrs. Mary E. Sloane the four-story residence 163 East Seventy-fouth Street, lot 20 by 100. The purchaser, a well-known physician, will occupy. The house was held at $50,000.

ADVOCATES CHANGES IN LUNACY LAWS

Grand Jury Urges That Persons Committed Elsewhere Be Adjudged Insane Here.

FAVORS MEDICAL BOARD

In Event Offender Is Guilty, It Thinks Verdict Should Be "Guilty, but Insane."

While a commission in lunacy yesterday was examining Thomas W. Simpkin, who shot and killed Dr. James Wright Markoe April 18, at St. George's Church, Stuyvesant Square and Rutherford Place, the April Grand Jury submitted recommendations to Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions advising changes in the laws relating to the trial and imprisonment of the criminally insane. Part of the jury's statement to the court reads:

"The record in this case discloses the fact that Thomas W. Simpkin, who shot and killed Dr. Markoe, escaped from an institution for the insane at Fergus Falls, Minn., in the Summer of 1919. So far as is known no attempt was made to apprehend him or inform the country of his escape and ask for his detention if found in a sister State. This may be due to the fact that a prisoner adjudged insane in one State is not insane in any of the other States of the Union.

"The Grand Jury, therefore, recommends to the Legislature of the State of New York that the law be so amended that an escaped lunatic, who has been lawfully committed by the laws of a sister State to an institution for the criminally insane or an institution for the insane, be adjudged presumptively insane, if apprehended in the State, until the escaped lunatic can show by competent and legal testimony that he is sane.

"In this connection the Grand Jury also urges such institutions to make a careful and extended search for any of their escaped inmates and do everything within their power toward their capture."

One of the changes in the law recommended by the jury would provide that "a petty jury at a trial may find the defendant, if a lunatic, is guilty of the crime and is also insane, and that its verdict should be guilty but insane," instead of the present legal form of "not guilty, but insane."

In place of the present commission in lunacy, as legally defined, consisting usually of an attorney, a physician and a layman, the Grand Jury further recommends that this law be changed to provide for the establishment of a body of medical insanity experts, whose sole duty it would be to pass upon questions that are now within the province of a lunacy commission. A more drastic and uniform law by the States with reference to the purchase of revolvers and other weapons was also advised.

The April Grand Jury was not concerned officially in any way with the case of Simpkin. The commission examining Simpkin, which will continue its work today, is composed of William Travers Jerome, Dr. Marcus R. Hayman and William F. Cox.

G. T. KIRBY GIVES DINNER.

President of Olympic Committee Entertains Belgian Ambassador.

Gustavus T. Kirby, President of the American Olympic Committee, and Mrs. Kirby, entertained at dinner last evening at their home, 7 East Ninth Street, for the Belgian Ambassador and Baroness de Cartier.

Mr. Kirby, who will leave in June to attend the Olympian games at Antwerp, gave the dinner to afford an opportunity for the members of the International and American Olympic Committees to meet the Ambassador and informally discuss matters incidental to the trip of the American Olympic team; also to give the Ambassador additional evidence of the very cordial relations existing between his country and the United States.

Among the guests, who numbered fifty, were Lieut. Gen. and Mrs. Robert Lee Bullard, U. S. A.; Miss Bullard, Commander Claude B. Mayo, U. S. N., and Mrs. Mayo, the Belgian Consul, Pierre Mali and Mrs. Mali, Professor and Mrs. William H. Sloane, Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. Bartow S. Weeks, Allison V. Armour, Dr. Reginald H. Sayre, Mrs. John Cladlin, Mr. and Mrs. Graeme M. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Julian H. Barnes of Duluth, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Rubien.

Bride's Granddaughter Attends Her.

Mrs. Marie Snyder of 61 Main Street, Flushing, was married last evening to George Buchanan of 31 Pine Street, Corona. The 17-year-old granddaughter of the bride was her attendant, Miss Marie Parish, a daughter of Frank Parish, who was the best man. The bride's three children and five grandchildren and the bridegroom's four children and three grandchildren attended the wedding, which was performed by the Rev. C. A. Belden of St. George's Episcopal Church, Flushing. The couple will live in Corona. Each is 52 years of age.

Barrett-Harned Engagement Broken

The engagement between Miss F. Vincent Telfer Barrett, daughter of the late Walter S. G. Barrett, of Cheltenham, England ,and Lieut. Pomeroy Harned, which was announced several months ago in these columns, has been broken by mutual consent. Lieut. Harned is still in Colorado, where he went for his health. The announcement is made by Mrs. Walter S. G. Barrett, of 368 West 117th Street.

AGITATION IN INDIA GROWS MORE VIOLENT

Marked Disloyalty Evidenced About Delhi and in Sindh—Moslems Talk of Emigrating.

LONDON, April 30.—Agitation by the Khalifate extremists is increasing in violence, says a dispatch to The Times, London, from Simla, dated last Wednesday.

Delhi is the focus of the movement, and during the last few days speeches of marked disloyalty have been delivered there.

Some disquieting reports also have been received from the Sindh region, in the extreme western part of British India. Shaukrat Ali and other leaders are advocating the migration of Indian Moslems to Afghanistan and Asia Minor.

LONDON ART ECHOES PEACE.

Orpen's "Signing of the Treaty" in Royal Academy Show.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 30.—The "private view" at the Royal Academy, which before the war was regarded as opening the London season, attracted a crowd of celebrities today to Burlington House. Considerable numbers of the men sported top hats, and some of the women "inaugurated" new toilettes, but on the whole there was little attempt to return to the fashionable elegancies of pre-war times.

From the point of view of the pictures shown the exhibition is not sensational. There are a few war paintings—ghosts of grim days—but chief interest centred in the commissioned studies of artists who painted the beginnings of peace.

Most noticeable among these was Sir William Orpen's picture of the signing of the Peace Treaty in the Hall of Mirrors at Versailles.

NAME 72 FOR HALL OF FAME.

All Deceased Members of American Academy Are Proposed.

Nominations of famous Americans for the Hall of Fame closed last night, in accordance with the rules, which provide for an election every five years. Mrs. William Vanamee, Acting Director and Secretary, said last night that seventy-two new names were to be considered, with those of 111 men and twenty-three women which were held over five years ago.

Among the new nominations are all the names of the deceased members of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, and many others who were known in public life. New nominations receiving general support were Thomas Paine, Thomas Clark Durant, Frederick Douglass, Jefferson Davis, Grover Cleveland, Robert Mills and Susan B. Anthony.

For the NEW HOUSE

MOVING? A light, gay English print for the windows of the new guest-room, perhaps a McHUGH willow armchair for the hearth-side and a rag rug at its feet. An old English hutch for the hall, with a hospitable lamp on it.

Then new French cretonne covers to keep the dust off the overstuffed furniture for the summer. A pair of Canton cane chairs and a willow tea-stand for the sun-porch.

It is so much easier to choose from McHUGH's wares the things you know you want to live with that you'll save much more than money by depending on us to help you solve the myriad little problems that the new house presents.

Some McHUGHWILLOW Chairs are as low as $15, which is a springlike thought for any home.

Which Auto-Owner Are YOU?

Care-worn-or-Care-free?

Care-worn if you always have the lurking fear of what may happen because your car is not insured. If you have not been wise in time you bear the risk of accident, of disaster, of crippling damages that may take your whole year's income, of trials in court, of endless regrets.

But you can drive care-free—insured in the American Mutual—sure of protection whenever and wherever you need it—sure of safety and satisfaction. Read the details of the American Mutual plan carefully. It means not only your protection but an actual return to you of part of your premium—a return which for the past 33 years has never been less than 30% each year. That means money in your pocket.

Save Money—Get Automobile Insurance by Mail

When you insure your car in the American Mutual every dollar you spend pays for protection alone, and so it is possible to return to you each year a considerable portion of this dollar.

What do you get when you insure your car in the American Mutual, the oldest, largest, and strongest Mutual Liability Insurance Company in America?

You get immediate and personal service from our nearest claim office, plus the protection of the greatest company of its kind in existence. All over the country American Mutual physicians, lawyers, and adjusters are ready to come to your help immediately.

You do not have to worry about damages or lawsuits. We take charge of all that for you. We settle the vast majority of accidents reported without litigation. Ask the man who has had a smash-up what this means.

No Agent Will Call

Fill out and send us the coupon. It obligates you in no way. It simply enables us to tell you exactly, in dollars and cents, what your automobile insurance will cost. Then you can prove to yourself just how much the American Mutual will save you.

With these figures on the proper insurance cost on your own car we will send you also our book "Less 30%," which explains the whole matter clearly and simply.

If you are already insured the American Mutual can save you money. If you are not insured remember that the American Mutual can not only save you money, but can protect you with the service of the greatest company of its kind in America—give you peace of mind and freedom from all worries connected with liability on your car.

The accident may come when you expect it least. But you can protect yourself in time—if you send the coupon today.
